Students Ejected By Police in N.Y.

70 Hurt As Sit-In Broken Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Police moved in force onto the Columbia University's campus at the administration's request today and routed student demonstrators from five barricaded campus buildings to end a week-long sit-in.

Starting around 2:45 a.m., police systematically removed the students—sometimes violently—in about 75 minutes. More than a hundred of the youths were injured, most suffering cuts and bruises about the head and face.

An emergency infirmary set up on campus reported treating about 40 students. A reporter who was injured said 62 youths were treated while he was at St. Luke's Hospital.

Police reported 638 persons arrested, approximately 100 of them women.

During the police sweep, a crowd of nearly 2,000 persons gathered on the campus overlooking Harlem. The bystanders clashed with police after the last of the demonstrators had been taken away.

CLUB CROWD

Police used nightsticks freely in breaking up the large crowd and moving it off campus as mounted police rode into the surging mass.

Dan Pellegrin, president of the student council, announced to a crowd near the library that he was calling a student strike starting today.

In a statement, the university announced cancellation of classes this morning but added: "It is hoped that a number of the afternoon classes can be held."

University President Grayson Kirk told a 6 a.m. news conference that he called police because the university "has been paralysed by the illegal acts of a minority of its students, aided and abetted by an unknown number of outsiders."

Kirk declared that granting the protesters' key demand of amnesty from punishment "would have dealt a near-fatal blow not only to this institution but to the whole of American higher education."

Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary told reporters the university had asked police to mobilize about midnight. He said he had witnessed the eviction operation and added the police had done "an excellent job."

By 5:30 a.m., the large crowd had broken up and students stood around in small clusters discussing the night's activities.

'KIRK MUST GO'

At one point, many on the campus chanted: "Kirk must go, Kirk must go."

Earlier Kirk had offered a four-point proposal to resolve the deadlock, saying he would accept a student-faculty-administration committee to act as a court of appeals for any punishment meted out to the protesters.

The sit-in by 500 to 600 demonstrators began in protest over construction of a controversial gymnasium which they said would take up park space in a nearby Harlem park and over the university's ties with the government-related Institute for Defence Analysis.

At each building Monday, a school or police official served notice on the demonstrators that they would be subject to arrest for trespassing if they remained inside.

BREAK BARRICADES

Special units used crowbars and hacksaws to break the barricades the demonstrators had erected at several buildings.

Once they went inside, police pushed, shoved, carried or simply escorted the students outside where they were handcuffed to await transportation to one of several booking centres.

Not all were arrested. Demonstrators leaving Fayerweather Hall were offered the alternative of going free.

Heart Patient Dies in France

PARIS (AP) — Europe's first heart transplant patient, a 66-year-old retired French truck driver, died today 51½ hours after he was given the heart of a young man. The new organ functioned well, doctors said, but the patient could not overcome an insufficiency of blood to the brain.

Clovis Roblain, died at 10:30 a.m., never having regained consciousness after the transplant. He had undergone a nine-hour operation Saturday night.

Dr. Maurice Mercadier, the head of the surgical team at La Pitie Hospital, hinted that Roblain may have been too old to weather the transplant.

"We have learned from this first attempt that technically a transplant is perfectly possible, but that we must have a patient sufficiently resistant to have a chance of success," the physician said.

He said his team—which had conducted experiments in a hospital basement for lack of space—will go ahead with another heart transplant "if the conditions of a patient who would undergo a transplant are more favorable."

ONE STILL ALIVE

Roblan's death leaves only one survivor from the seven human heart transplants which have been reported. He is Dr. Philip Blaiberg, a 58-year-old retired South African dentist, who was given a new heart on Jan. 2.

At a news conference, Mercadier told reporters:

"What we feared has come about. . . .

"We are sorry to have lost a patient. We are not sorry that we went ahead with the transplant."

In his first health bulletin Monday, Mercadier said that the transplant was done without difficulty, but that "neurological complications . . . made a pronosis very reserved."

He said Roblain had suffered a circulatory failure during the surgery. This temporarily reduced the blood flow to the brain, resulting in death.

Roblain also encountered urinary problems, Mercadier said.

Earlier the doctors reported that Roblain, who received the

Ear Thrives On His Abdomen

PERTH (Reuters) — Australian doctors here have sewn a man's ear onto his abdomen — and the body has accepted and is "nourishing" it, a hospital spokesman said today.

Sulky driver Bon Sangalli, 31, lost the ear in an accident at Gloucester Park horse race course Easter Monday.

The ear was found on the track by a steward and rushed to Royal Perth Hospital where it was stitched onto Sangalli's abdomen.

The spokesman said doctors hope to preserve the ear in its new location and later graft it back to its original place. It could not be sewn straight back to Sangalli's head because of the risk of infection.

More Support Seen for UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said today he expects a general review being made of Canadian foreign policy will reinforce the country's support for the United Nations and international aid.

"I don't expect there will be a new orientation of Canadian foreign policy but I expect changes to accomplish our objectives more effectively." Sharp's remarks were made at a press conference for Canadian correspondents.

The minister also addressed the General Assembly's political committee this morning, urging speedy and strong endorsement of the draft treaty on nuclear non-proliferation.

He said he believes the treaty has "a fair chance of success at the UN.

Sharp referred several times to the review of Canadian policy promised by Prime Minister Trudeau, who took office this month.

CONSIDERING CHINA

Canada's attitude on China's representation at the UN "is bound to be considered," Sharp said. Canada for two years has supported the proposition that Peking should be represented in the UN Security Council but has abstained on resolutions to that affect because they would also have expelled Nationalist China from the UN, contrary to Canada's wishes.

Asked for his views on the co-operation agreement between Quebec province and Gabon Sharp said: "I am approaching the subject with a great deal of care." He also said:

"We have been giving serious study to the matter for several days . . . How to conduct Canada's relations with other countries in fields that come under provincial jurisdiction is a complex matter."

BLAIBERG SURVIVES CAPE TOWN TRAFFIC

CAPE TOWN (AP) — Retired dentist Philip Blaiberg, 58, the only survivor of the world's first six human heart transplants, now drives his car in city traffic.

His condition has been excellent since his discharge from hospital more than six weeks ago. He was operated on Jan. 2.

He goes for daily walks and looks healthy and suntanned, although he cannot yet walk up or down steps unaided.

In Johannesburg, Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard, who performed the transplant, said Monday that although no heart transplant can at this stage be termed a complete cure, Blaiberg's recovery proves that it can improve a patient's condition considerably.

"He was short of breath before and was living in misery and today he is enjoying the normal things in life," Barnard said.

Rockefeller In Race Again

Times News Services

ALBANY, N.Y. — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller challenged former vice-president Richard Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination today "to give the voters the choice they deserve."

Flanked by five former Republican national chairmen, Rockefeller told a nation-wide television and radio audience he would "fight to the last vote on the convention floor" for the nomination.

The announcement of the 59-year-old governor's third bid for the nomination was made in his ornate red room office, the same place he announced in 1964 he would enter the New Hampshire primary as an active candidate.

Today's announcement came five weeks after his statement that he "could not see any foreseeable circumstances" under which he would become a candidate, shortly after he announced he was available.

In Harrisburg, Pa., Nixon said the Rockefeller's entry into the race would make for a more exciting national convention and "provide a good discussion of the issues."

VIETNAM SPEECH

Rockefeller kicks off his campaign with a speech in New York Tuesday night and will go to Philadelphia Wednesday for his first foreign policy speech on Vietnam in four years. He will make three speeches in Iowa Thursday.

Nearly 100 friends, campaign workers and aides jammed the office as Rockefeller made the announcement. Most were wearing bright blue and white "Rockefeller" buttons. Looking down on the hubbub were the governors, many of whom made bids for the presidential nomination.

Rockefeller gave four reasons in his announcement of candidacy:

● "The dramatic and unprecedented events of the past weeks have revealed in most serious terms the gravity of the crises that face us as a people."

He did not elaborate on the point, but Rockefeller associates said he had been deeply disturbed by the assassination of Negro civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Rockefeller also believed that President Johnson's decision not to seek the Democratic renomination had so changed the political picture that he was compelled to enter the race.

● He found, he said, that he could not offer alternatives effectively from the sidelines "in the new circumstances that confront the nation."

● Numerous people, within and outside the Republican party, "have urged me to take this step—to foster as an active candidate the discussions and debate that sustains our democracy."

● He is "deeply disturbed by the course of events—growing unrest and anxiety at home, and the signs of disintegration abroad." He underscored the word "disintegration" in the text of his official announcement.

N. Viets Contacted In Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials voice confidence that agreement will be reached with North Vietnam on where to talk peace but Hanoi says Washington dreamed up a story about preliminary contacts in Laos.

The state department press officer, Robert J. McCloskey, said Monday there were two diplomatic exchanges in three days last weekend between U.S. and North Vietnamese representatives in Vientiane, Laos. He added no agreement was reached on a peace-talk site.

But the North Vietnamese foreign ministry said the United States "cooked up the story about 'private discussions' being continued in Vientiane" and renewed its charge the Johnson administration is delying preliminary contacts with "artful manoeuvres."

A BIT ENCOURAGED

But despite that reaction from Hanoi, diplomatic sources here said they are encouraged by what they called the quickening pace of exchanges in Vientiane between U.S. Ambassador William Sullivan and North Vietnam's charge d'affaires, Nguyen Chan.

These sources said the Sullivan-Chan meetings would continue, adding that Vientiane now is the main contact point for Washington and Hanoi.

The two sides have rejected numerous suggestions for where to hold the peace talks with diplomatic speculation centred on Paris as the eventual site.

Patience Needed Says U.S. Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—George W. Ball, newly named to be U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, cautioned today against one-sided concessions or a show of weakness as a way of trying to negotiate an end to the Vietnam war.

"All we need at the moment is patience and a sense of perspective," he told the annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

It was his first public speech since President Johnson picked him last week to succeed Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg in the UN post.

Thompson Studies Switch to Tories

RED DEER (CP)—Robert Thompson, former national Social Credit leader, said today he has considered running as a Progressive Conservative in the June 25 federal election but no decision will be made until he confers with Social Credit riding officers here Wednesday night.

Mr. Thompson said his consideration of the Conservative banner was prompted by a realignment he said is taking place in the Liberal and New Democratic Party ranks.

"Whether we like to admit it or not, we can expect to see the NDP support Liberal policies. It's high time something positive is done."

Mr. Thompson said the NDP support would come because of Prime Minister Trudeau's former NDP affiliation and a likelihood his policies would have left-wing influence.

Mr. Thompson said he would announce his decision before meeting his Social Credit constituency association Friday.

Mr. Thompson met privately Monday with Premier E. C. Manning and Orvis Kennedy of Edmonton, president of the Alberta Social Credit League.

He announced at a press conference Monday he will seek the nomination May 8 in Winnipeg South Centre, left open with the retirement from politics of veteran MP Gordon Churchill.

Mr. Roblin, 50, said he expects an "intensively-fought" election campaign and will make appearances on the national scene—probably in Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia.

His announcement ends speculation about his political future which has continued since his resignation last fall as premier, two months after running second to Robert Stanfield at the leadership convention.

Mr. Gorst said he had not decided whether he would seek the association's nomination again. His nomination at a stormy meeting last week was voided after a constitutional protest.

Returning offices on Vancouver Island are busy preparing a whirlwind enumeration of federal voters next week.

Both David Wilson, deputy returning officer for Victoria riding, and Mrs. E. T. Lea, DRO for Esquimalt-Saanich, today were completing lists of the hundreds of enumerators nominated by the parties for the job.

The enumeration begins Monday, May 6, and ends the following Saturday night.

Both its preparation and execution are complicated this time because the June 25 federal election also involves redistribution of boundaries.

One of the complications eliminated the NDP from the right to nominate enumerators in Esquimalt-Saanich riding, Mrs. Lea indicated.

The NDP was runner-up in the old riding and as such normally would have the right reserved to the winning and second party in a constituency to nominate the enumerators for a succeeding election.

But a poll-by-poll scrutiny of the voting results in the last election on the basis of the new boundaries for Esquimalt-Saanich showed the Liberals had the second-highest vote, so federal party leaders in Ottawa agreed the Conservatives and Liberals would select the enumerators this time, she said.

Sooke Loses As Province Shuffles Tax

Under the old education financing formula the Sooke school district would have had a tax increase of not more than 1½ mills, school board chairman John Bartanus said Monday night.

"They changed the rules of the game and we lost," he said, commenting on the 4.26-mill increase this year following a hike of over four mills last year.

Trustees have been receiving numerous calls over the tax increase and the school board was very concerned over spiralling education costs, too, he said.

He predicted the rising costs would lead to curtailed education service next year, possibly through reducing the number of teachers handling special classes, librarians and relieving teachers.

Some transportation services where the government is not sharing costs would likely have to be chopped as well.

The Sooke school district's budget this ysar was $2,664,744, up 24 per cent over last year.

But the board chairman said non-sharable items were trimmed close to 50 per cent, from $417,420 in 1567 to $237,023 this year.

The district was getting the maximum benefit under the old education grant formulas and trustees got no warning of the effect the new formula would have.

One of the district's problems, he said, is that assessment has failed to increase at a rate to meet increasing education costs.

Assessment is up only $600,000 over the past two years, said Mr. Bartanus.

"My feeling as a man is one of chagrin," Mercadier said.

"My feeling as a surgeon is that one must overcome this chagrin and work hard to renew what we have done."

Mercadier said the reaction of Roblain's family "was very simple."

"They considered him as lost. They considered that we were giving him a little hope. They accepted this very well."

Asked if the operation was difficult, Mercadier said:

"It was not an easy operation, but neither was it a particularly difficult operation. The heart is a muscle which lends itself better than other organs to surgery."

Falklanders Fear U.K. Giveaway

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — The 2,200 inhabitants of the Falkland Islands, some 375 miles northeast of Cape Horn, are petitioning a few individual Canadians as well as British MPs in their campaign to stay British.

The petition says the British government at any moment may hand over the Falklands to Argentina without so much as asking the islanders their opinion.

Some residents here have recevied copies of the petition and one was made available to The Canadian Press.

The islanders do not want to become Argentines, says the petition, and it demands:

"What can you do to prevent it? What are you doing? We need your help!"

Foreign Minister Ortiz of Argentina has declared that the Falklands are "an integral part of our national soil" and that this country must have them back.

The Falklands were Spanish when Argentina won its independence in 1816 and became Argentine territory at that time. The British expelled an Argentine garrison in 1833 and the islands were settled by the British in 1842.

BECAME SILENT

In 1966, the British government stated that the island's sovereignty was British and not negotiable. Lately, however, it has kept silence on their future.

The only town in the Falklands, where the main industry is sheep farming, is Port Stanley. There is no airfield and an international air service uses two Canadian Beaver seaplanes.

The main supply ship runs about once a month between Port Stanley and Montevideo, Uruguay. Smaller boats ply among the islands, delivering passengers, mail and goods. The seaplanes provide a flying doctor and teacher service and also air-drop mail.

The rural areas are known as "camps." In the camps, lamb for meat is free, in Port Stanley seven cents a pound. Penguin eggs are a popular feature of the islanders' diet.

The islands are mainly treeless and the inhabitants rely on peat for fuel. The wind blows almost constantly. Islanders use tin cans, with tops and bottoms cut out, to prevent young vegetable plants from being blown out of the ground.

"The people of these islands do not wish to submit to a foreign language, law, customs and culture," the petition says.

"They have happily pursued their own peaceful way of life, a very British way of life."

Perfection of every detail is a tradition which we honor as a sacred trust.

DATA LEAK WORTH $6 MILLION

LONDON (Reuters) — A BOAC spokesman said Saturday night the airline's security chiefs were investigating a suspected leak of computer programming secrets worth £2,500,000 ($6,500,000).

He said he could make no further statements because of possible legal action.

The secrets cover a computerized seat-booking plan for world-wide use.

U.S. Lists Communist Atrocities

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces executed more than 1,000 persons during the February offensive in Hue, the U.S. embassy reported today.

The embassy made its atrocity charge as the U.S. command reported hard fighting around Hue, the former imperial capital, and U.S. B-52 bombers extended their raids into Laos to protect American troops sweeping the A Shau Valley gateway to the northern city.

The embassy said its report was based on information from U.S. and South Vietnamese sources. It said the victims were found in 19 separate mass graves.

"Many had been shot, some beheaded," the report said. "A number of bodies showed signs of mutilation. Most were found with hands bound behind their backs.

"Evidence also was discovered of victims having been clubbed unconscious prior to being buried alive."

SOME BURIED ALIVE

The report said one South Vietnamese political warfare officer who helped investigate the executions estimated that almost half the victims had been buried alive.

"Many were found bound together in groups of 10 to 15, eyes open, with dirt or cloth in their mouths," the embassy said.

One of the larger mass graves was uncovered near the imperial tombs. The report said 201 bodies were found there.

"Victims included Father Urbain, 52, and Father Guy, 48; French priests from the nearby Benedictine mission at Thien An," the report said. "Father Urbain was bound hand and foot and buried alive with 10 others. Father Guy was forced to kneel and shot through the head."

One Buddhist monk told investigators there had been nightly executions during the Communist occupation of the city, which U.S. and South Vietnamese forces retook after weeks of hard fighting.

Humans Err In Crashes, Say Probers

Two Vancouver Island air crashes in 1966 were probably caused by human error, the department of transport reported Monday.

The two crashes, in which no one was killed, were Sept. 14 at Catface Mountain near Tofino and Dec. 22 at Shawnigan Lake.

Continued flight into unfavorable conditions was descrived as probably cause of the crash into Catface Mountain by Campbell River pilot Milton Wood in his Beaver float plane.

Incorrect technique probably caused the stall and dive of a light float plane into Shawnigan Lake during glassy-water practice landings by instructor Ron Taylor and student Dale Simpson, both of Victoria, the report said.

PROTEST VOTES KIESINGER SAYS

BONN (Reuters) — Chancellor Kurt George Kiesinger appealed to West Germans today not to destroy the country's hard-won credit abroad by supporting the extreme-right wing National Democrats in next year's general elections.

He told Parliament the party's unprecedented success in gaining 9.8 per cent of the poll in Baden-Wurttemberg state election Sunday was widely misinterpreted abroad.

"I don't want to play down the danger," he said. But the foreign view that the party's success meant a Nazi revival was not true.

Most of its support came from protest votes, he said.

The government and the main parties must convince the voters of the damage they would do West Germany if they give the National Democrats a similar success in 1969, he said.

RECONNAISSANCE MISSION

U.S. Planes Over Hanoi?

MOSCOW (CP-AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass said in a dispatch from Hanoi today that U.S. planes flew over the North Vietnamese capital earlier in the day and were met by anti-aircraft fire.

Tass described the flights as an "American air raid," but since the report did not mention bombing or strafing, it was assumed the planes sighted were on reconnaissance missions.

Such flights have continued all over North Vietnam despite President Johnson's order restricting bombing attacks to territory south of the 19th Parallel.

The U.S. command in Saigon refuses to comment on the reconnaissance activity.

Agence France-Presse reported from Hanoi that air raid sirens were wailing in the North Vietnamese capital for the first time in a month. It said eyewitnesses sighted three different planes converging on the city from different directions and said the craft flew over the city for seven or eight minutes.

More Dorms for UBC

VANCOUVER (CP)—Plans to build an $8,000,000 student housing complex on the University of British Columbia campus have been approved, the university's board of governors announced Monday. The large complex will accommodate 1,200 students in three low-rise buildings and two 15-storey towers.

BY U.K. GOVERNMENT

Blacks Offered Free Ride Home

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's current racial dispute was given a new twist Monday night when Home Secretary James Callaghan said Britain is willing to pay the fare home of non-white immigrants wishing to leave the country.

The surprise statement on a BBC television program is likely to rekindle the dispute, with the opposition Conservative party claiming it vindicates their immigration policy.

The quarrel flared after Enoch Powell, a Conservative MP, said in a speech nine days ago that Britain is "mad" to maintain immigration of non-whites and called for a system of government grants to aid colored immigrants to return to their countries of origin.

Conservative party leader Edward Heath dismissed Powell from the shadow cabinet

Callaghan stressed Monday night the government would not compel immigrants to return home.

Government officials, later clarifying the minister's statement, said the scheme applied to destitute families who appeared to have no prospects of becoming self-supporting and who wanted to return home.

They said that since 1965, about £28,000 ($72,800) has been spent helping immigrants return home.

Sensible Way to Relieve Diarrhea

Many people hope a sudden attack of Diarrhea will quickly subside. So they do nothing. Family-proven for over 115 years.

For those sudden attacks that can strike at home, on trips or vacation, keep Dr. FOWLER'S Extract of Wild Strawberry on hand.

Charlie MacLellan has interesting views on life insurance and his London Life policies.

Halifax businessman has special reasons for London Life policies

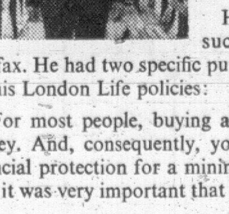
(Is it because he gets a good return on his money?)



Charlie MacLellan was born in Pictou, N.S. During the war he was an artillery officer teaching maths and gunnery theory in Halifax. He grew to love the city and eventually returned there to live.

He now owns one of the most successful car dealerships in Halifax. He had two specific purposes in mind when acquiring his London Life policies:

"For most people, buying a business means borrowing money. And, consequently, you need a lot of temporary financial protection for a minimum cost. For instance, if I died it was very important that my estate should have sufficient cash to repay the outstanding part of my loan.

"So my two $25,000 term insurance policies with London Life cover part of that particular and temporary risk.

"On the other hand, I look upon my two Jubilee policies as both protection for my family and as forced savings. I'm afraid I'm a good spender! Probably the only money I save, other than the equity I'm building up in my business, is through my insurance policies."

Here are the facts. Charlie has two types of Jubilee policies. A $10,000 whole life, purchased when he was 36. And a $5,000 life premiums to 65, purchased when he was 41. His monthly premiums amount to $34.24. By age 65 he will have paid in $11,069. But, if he leaves his dividends to accumulate, he can take out $16,893*.

"Like any businessman, I'm looking for a good return on my money and with London Life it's very good." Charlie has great respect for his London Life representative, too.

"Dave calls me once a year. We get together in the afternoon or evening to review my needs. I appreciate the time he spends bringing me up to date on my program."

A London Life representative doesn't consider his job finished when you've bought a policy. He knows people's needs are constantly changing and he will offer advice whenever you require it.

To learn how much return on your money you could get with London Life, talk to a Company representative. And send for your free copy of the handbook "Plain talk about life insurance". Write to Department A, London Life Insurance Company, London, Ontario.

This figure is made up of $8,820 in guaranteed cash value and the balance in accumulated dividends based on the current scale. While dividends are not guaranteed, London Life for years has had one of the most outstanding records of dividend payments in North America.*

'My Friends . . . . .'

THE MAJOR POLITICAL party leaders are now planning their campaigns and it is obvious that television will play an ever greater part in their approaches to the voting public. It may not be too early to predict that this election campaign could be among the last of its kind, in so far as it will include personal visits by the leaders to all parts of the country. The personal contact is a valuable one for any political aspirant, but the trend of the last few years has been away from the old-style meeting. The constantly wider use of the electronic medium will inevitably change the whole style of electioneering in this and other countries.

This will be particularly so as improvements in reception bring the political speaker more realistically into the home. When the present type of television presentation is replaced by a lifesize colored reproduction on the living room wall with three-dimensional effects, then the golden age of election campaigning will have been reached. The only problem will be to ensure that householders watch the program, and that, as always, will be up to the candidate.

There is a definite danger, however, in the concept of television screening, for it could seriously depreciate the criteria by which a candidate would be judged. In the lecture hall, the personal appearance of a speaker counts for much, but he has an immediate platform-to audience connection through which to make his remarks. The tendency with TV electioneering will be to throw much more accent on the looks of the "performer," since television viewers have been conditioned to expect the best in actors' appearance. The famous Kennedy-Nixon debates ran into this problem, and there was considerable belief afterwards that errors by Mr. Nixon's make-up man had contributed to his defeat.

It will be a sad day for politics, and for the fortunes of the country, if facial appearance becomes a major factor in the voter's choice of candidate. But since the medium will be increasingly used regardless of its effects, the antidote obviously must lie in the education of voters to apply the hard tests of intelligence, logic, goodwill and administrative ability to what they see on the screen. It will be expensive to learn to discriminate the hard way—by trial and error.

The Balance in Bonn

IT WOULD BE SIMPLE TO TAKE a superficial view of the strong resurgence of right-wing political strength in West Germany, as exemplified by the winning of 12 seats in the Baden-Wuertemburg legislature by Mr. Adolf von Thadden's National Democratic Party and the sharp loss suffered by Mr. Willy Brandt's Social Democratic Party. The move to the right could be explained as a reaction to the excesses of militant student groups and the wild demonstrations they staged following the shooting of Mr. Rudi Dutsche in West Berlin three weeks ago.

The difficulty with this analysis may be that it confuses cause and effect; student militancy which has grown in the past two or three years to alarming proportions may be a reaction to the right-wing resurgence in Germany rather than the reason behind it. Certainly, at least, the two have gone hand in hand and both have been strengthened by the "Grand Coalition" of the Social Democrats and the Christian Democrats into an amorphous and politically sterile governing group.

Since their formation three years ago as an amalgamation of far-right groups, the National Democrats have won seats in seven state legislatures and have provoked an attempt by the coalition central government to find some legal, parliamentary means of checking their growth. The Christian Democrats for their part are mostly to the right of centre, in the tradition of the late Chancellor Adenauer, while even the nominally socialist Social Democrats have been edging towards the right for a number of years.

The vacuum on the left of the political spectrum has been most keenly felt by a relative handful of students who claim they do not want their country to slip back into old authoritarian ways. Their activities and demonstrations have been rigorously—in some cases brutally—held in check by the police and by the Bonn government. There is certainly no basis for Mr. von Thadden's claim that the young dissenters have been coddled by the authorities and Chancellor Kiesinger can claim quite properly that his party stands for "law and order."

In the swirling confusion of current German politics, allusions to the downfall of the Weimar Republic are inevitable and the parallel that is drawn is of the revolutionaries undermining the democratic process and opening the way to the Hitler take-over. However, as Dr. Golo Mann, historian son of the great German novelist, has pointed out in his recent "History of Germany Since 1789," it was the ruling groups, the businessmen, the army, the bureaucracy and the bourgeoisie which had no faith in democracy and were willing to turn over power to a strong leader. Suppression of the revolutionaries by the Weimar government didn't halt the move to the right; if anything it hastened it.

Another Fire Season Opens

AGAINST THE BACKGROUND of uncertain weather in this region during the last two or three weeks, announcement of the opening of the forest fire season May 1 seems climatically incongruous. The appearance is superficial. A succession of warm days could begin to dry the woods and set the stage for the annual summer hazard which last year cost British Columbia more for suppression than at any previous time in the province's history.

The legal requirements for those wishing to have fires outdoors have been set by the chief forester, Mr. Lorne Swannell. The rules are simple. Permits must be acquired before fires can be lighted and common-sense practices must be followed.

It is already time to stop throwing matches and cigarette stubs from travelling cars, to make sure that campfires are properly contained and safely extinguished.

In a laborious educational program over the years, the forest service and allied agencies have made a significant impression on the public at large in the development of safety consciousness. But it is a campaign that can never stop. Those who know the need for care must be reminded regularly; those who are young must be taught.

Modern fire-fighting techniques in this province have advanced to a point where fires in the hot, dry period last year were largely kept in check before they could cause tremendous loss in timber. But the suppression efforts were expensive —and will continue to be expensive. For the sake of the timber—the base for half of British Columbia's income—now is the time to start observing safety measures.

" . . . . suppose we accept Warsaw for 1968 provided they agree to Paris for 1969 if we in turn will settle for Phnom Penh in 1970 so long as they are willing to come to Geneva in 1971, in return, of course, for us agreeing to go to Moscow in 1972 if they, in 1973, will . . . "

FROM WASHINGTON

By RICHARD PURSER

'Too Much Good News Is Bad News'

CONGRESS is back in full action after its Easter recess, and is in considerable torment over the state of the economy and what to do about it. On the face of it, the world's most powerful economy is progressing brilliantly. Figures published last week showed an increase of $20 billion in the gross national product and of $16 billion in personal income during the first quarter of 1968. But as Arthur Okun, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, put it, at a time like this "too much good news is bad news."

Purser

The heavy consumer-buying behind the figures is officially taken to represent an inflationary threat to the purchasing power of the dollar. That threat, if realized, will cause another onslaught against the dollar by foreign holders. According to Mr. Okun, the threat must be headed off by higher taxes to lower consumer demand.

This, of course, has been the administration line for nearly a year. Mr. Okun's remarks were part of a final, all-out drive to push President Johnson's long-stalled ten per cent income tax surcharge through the House of Representatives. Mr. Okun had barely spoken before the Federal Reserve Board further restricted credit by raising the discount rate from five to five-and-a-half per cent. The White House then got directly into the act with a statement that in the absence of a tax boost, tighter money was "our only present defence against inflation."

Plea for Action

Finally, one of the great economic doom prophets of our time, William McChesney Martin Jr., added his considerable voice to the chorus. Mr. Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, scrapped the prepared text of a speech to a convention of newspaper editors here, instead launching into an emotional tirade and a plea for urgent action.

He declared without qualification that the U.S. was in its worst financial crisis since 1931, and said that "to avoid disaster" there must be a reduced federal budget deficit, a tax increase, and action to correct the adverse balance of international payments. Otherwise price rises will continue to outpace production gains (they do so now by a factor of nearly 100 per cent), and foreign depositors in the bank that is the United States will start a run on the bank.

(Mr. Martin did not and could not say so, but there is word going around in the background here that in the event of another gold crisis such as occurred earlier this year, the U.S. might refuse to sell gold to foreign central banks, or otherwise pull gold out of the international monetary system, which would be incalculably affected.)

Menace Observed

Mr. Martin has been crying alarm for years. His latest outburst led the Wall Street Journal to call him a premature anti-inflationist, reminiscent of the premature anti-fascists who "perceived the menace so far in advance that nobody remembered their warnings when the danger became generally obvious." Now that the menace is generally observed, the paper asks what the Federal Reserve Board has itself been doing all these years. Excessively expanding the money supply, that's what.

(The Journal isn't quite right. The "Fed," as the board is colloquially known, has tended to over-reactive lurches, excessively slowing the growth of the money supply in response to inflationary pressures and then letting it grow again at an excessive rate.)

There is enough blame for the present situation for it to be widely shared. The Fed's latest discount rate increase could have a devastating effect on new housing, at a time when the need for decent housing for the poor on a mass scale is becoming urgent. But what can the Fed do while Congress stalls on taxes, and both Congress and the administration stall on reducing the budget deficit, which is heading for $20 billion this year, and the balance of payments program falters?

At immediate issue in the House of Representatives is whether to approve the tax surcharge, accompanied by the budget spending cuts without which Ways and Means Committee Chairman Wilbur Mills (Democrat-Arkansas) will never let it reach the House floor. The Senate, before recess, sent to the House a package deal combining the tax surcharge with spending cuts totalling $6 billion. But many — including Mr. Mills — feel that this is not a sufficiently significant figure in a budget of $186 billion.

The House faces two political difficulties. One is that it is easier to advocate spending cuts in general than in particular. Individual congressmen howl when specific budget cuts affect their own special interests. The other is the natural reluctance to raise taxes in an election year. Why should the people be penalized for Washington's financial mismanagement, congressmen were asked by their constituents during recess.

It would be tempting to sweep the whole issue under the rug until after the elections, but time will not wait. The U.S. can only borrow so much time before European dollar holders decide to stop lending it. Domestic discipline is being demanded as evidence that the dollar will be defended by deeds rather than words. And it's all up to the 435 ladies and gentlemen now sitting out their last few months in the current House.

Memorial Note

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Victoria Symphony Society I was instructed to make a public acknowledgement of the great generosity of the late Miss Ethel M. M. Bruce to the Victoria Symphony Society. I do so personally and on behalf of all members of the Society and those in our community who have enjoyed our recent season of symphony concerts.

Miss Bruce was a very loyal supporter of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra during her lifetime. Her thoughtfulness in arranging that this support should continue is very deeply appreciated, not only by the Board of Directors but by the many thousands of persons attending the concerts during the past year.

It may be of interest to know that this bequest has been transferred to the Symphony Foundation, a permanent and continuing fund, the interest from which forms part of the continuing revenue for the support of the symphony orchestra. —J. R. Meredith, Chairman of the Board.

Inadequate Piano

May I say that I am 100 per cent in accord with Grace Timp's letter on "that piano" used at the Musical Festival in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Church.

For many years now we have not had good pianos for the vocal classes, and it is hardly an incentive to any competitor to enter the festival under such conditions. We have many excellent accompanists and it seems most unfair that they are obliged to play on such instruments. As an example, for the Lieder class on Tuesday evening, both competitors and audience were requested to move to another hall so that the pianists might have a suitable piano on which to perform. At the conclusion of this class the audience had to move back to the original hall for the remainder of the program.

Since the Musical Festival is considered to be one of the most important musical events of the year, surely we should be able to use a good piano, namely the Norma Macdonald "Steinway."

As all Victoria musicians know, Mrs. Timp is one of our most excellent accompanists and has contributed much to the musical life of our city over the years, and I would just like to reiterate that I feel her remarks are entirely justified.—Vera Barclay, 1780 North Dairy.

A Cultural Trend Amid Formosa's Decay

TO both the Chinese Communist and Nationalist regimes this island, fallen like a tear from the cheek of China, is still only a province of the same indivisible republic to which each lays claim. This is mainland China in miniature. The exquisite food is inspired by the cuisines of the entire country from Mongolia to Canton. The house-doors in narrow blind-walled lanes are bright red, as in Peking. Outside Taipei the unlikely mountains begin, notched here and there for a solitary pagoda or aerial temple of upcurling eaves wreathed in thin Chinese cloud.

In the splendid Palace Museum the displays of a fabulous 4,000-year accumulation of bronzes, jade paintings and porcelain change every few months, for they are drawn from an almost inexhaustible stock. But one item of China's cultural heritage is permanently on show — the writings of Chiang Kai-shek, inevitably bound in red.

'Thoughts of Gimo'

The 600,000-strong army assiduously studies these "thoughts" of the "Gimo" at special political sessions, but a saving sense of proportion may sometimes destroy the parallel with Peking. Faced with an ideological test-paper, one general scrawls across his sheet the single phrase, "I will fight and die for Chiang Kai-shek, but I am no scribbler." Shortly afterwards the president names him commander of the Taiwan garrison. In Peking, presumably, he would have been attacked by a swarm of angry Red Guards.

Taiwan, too, has its militant youth corps, its thought-reform camps, its one-party system. The Communists cannot subvert the island's 14,000,000 hearts and minds simply because the ruling Kuomintang defends the province with the same close weave of police and party networks that lines the other side of the bamboo curtain.

The excuse for this is that China is at war and democracy must also share the austerity war imposes. "Or would you rather have a Viet Cong Tet offensive here, too?" one official asked sarcastically.

Atrophying Administration

Chiang Kai-shek rules the island with an atrophying national administration brought across from the continent nearly 20 years ago, weighed down by a host of aging bureaucrats and served by legislative bodies whose sexagenarian deputies, elected in long-lost mainland provinces and therefore irreplaceable, are dying off like autumn leaves.

The 12,000,000 local Taiwanese hold virtually no political power, never rise above the rank of captain in an army for which they provide 90 per cent of the cannon fodder. But they own all the land and most of the business in this booming little island, and while man may not live by bread alone, they have never had it so good.

The president, hale at 80 but balked of a triumphal return to China for which newer generations already show little interest, has set out to confound the Communists by making Taiwan an exhibition province and a repository of traditional civilization of China.

The government is challenging the "cultural revolution" on the mainland with a "Chinese cultural renaissance" here. As in China, textbooks are to be revised and local "cultural committees" set up in cities and schools. Unlike the Communist movement, however, one of the objects is to "build a bridge between Chinese and Western cutures."

Western Culture

This is already being achieved by the gentlemen who publish pirate editions of Western works in Taipei and sell them for about a fifth of their original price. The choice is often bizarre. I found the thoughts of neither Mao nor Chiang in English, but sitting on one shelf were the thoughts of A. A. Milne in Latin: "Winnie Ille Pu," for 30 cents.

The dictum that there is no China but China and Formosa is its province has prompted the fear that Mao may some day be tempted to "take out" Taiwan with an atomic missile attack as part of a "civil war" which he considered no one else's business. However, at present the adversaries play by tacitly agreed ground rules. Nationalist "milk-run" flights serving the off-shore fortress of Quemoy run strictly according to schedule, so as not to alarm the Communists, who themselves only shell the island at set hours on alternate days.

The contract is unwritten — but no one cheats. Both sides are Chinese.

The parks board is determined that the regulations of that body against the running at large of dogs in Beacon Hill Park must be observed or action will be taken against the owners of canines found running around loose.

The reason for putting into force this ruling is that dogs have in the past done a lot of damage in the park by chasing wild fowl and tearing up the flower beds.

Better Late

Ottawa Citizen

Now that the federal government has decided to sponsor a satellite communications system, it might as well settle for the larger size. This may mean a year's delay. But satellite communication by 1972 rather than 1971 won't matter if it makes a greatly expanded system possible.

Although several private corporations will share the cost — and the commercial benefits — with the government, the government itself will retain control. This is a sensible arrangement in an enterprise where the national interest is so closely involved, and the cost, at more than $100 million, is so high.

Apart from making it possible to transmit signals from many parts of the world, the satellite will enable television broadcasters to reach every corner of Canada. It will become relatively simple to bring television programs not only to remote areas, but also to small groups in the more settled parts.

Canada will probably buy launching facilities from the United States, but everything else will be under Canadian control. To ensure national control of the country's communications system is to strengthen Canada's independence.

Dockers from the Port of London marched to Parliament in support of Conservative MP Enoch Powell, who roused a storm with his protests over the government's handling of race relations problems in Britain.

British Racists Roused By a 'Romantic Tory'

By KARL E. MEYER
The Washington Post

LONDON — Not since the high-born Duke of Wellington led a ragged multi-national army in the Peninsular Campaign has there been so startling an outer difference between the leader and the led as in Enoch Powell's campaign for a whiter Britain.

If this seems a slight overstatement, it is perhaps because the 56-year-old Powell creates an aura of hyperbole about everything he does, and in this sense his abrupt emergence as a working-class hero is consistent with his past.

On the surface, there is nothing in common between Powell, a romantic Tory and classical scholar, and the thousands of London dockers and meat-cutters who have marched on Parliament waving placards like "Back Britain—Not Black Britain."

Powell is almost hyper-articulate and claims a reading knowledge of 12 languages, whereas many of his working-class supporters seem barely able to explain just what it is that angers them about Britain's one million colored citizens.

Obstacles

Moreover, the non-smoking and abstemious high church Conservative tends to regard Labor unions as an awkward irrelevance, as intruding obstacles in the pure laisser faire system that he passionately wishes Britain would adopt.

But with his speech warning of possible future violence — "Like the Roman, I seem to see the River Tiber foaming with much blood," was the way he put it — J. Enoch Powell has plainly incited a debate which other politicians may not like but cannot ignore.

It would be a mistake, however, to liken Powell to the British Fascists of the 1930s, as some have implied by comparing him to Sir Oswald Moseley. Powell is far too fastidious to be a convincing rabble rouser, and even his detractors acknowledge an obsession with principles, however strange, which has given his career a distinctive pattern, however wayward.

No politician in Britain today has resigned more often on matters of principle. Four times he has either resigned or refused office, the last time in 1963, when he quit as health minister in protest over the accession of Sir Alex Douglas Home as prime minister.

Less Surprised

Thus political observers were less surprised that a speech by Powell led to his dismissal from the Tory "shadow cabinet" than by the fact that he had managed somehow to remain a member of leader Edward Heath's team since 1966.

From the beginning, Powell seemed marked to walk his own way and to take the Conservative tradition more seriously than his Tory brethren. At the age of six, while visiting Caernarvon Castle in Wales, he suddenly took off his hat, explaining that the Prince of Wales had been born there.

It is consonant with this concern for tradition that Powell has been working for years on a history of the House of Lords — a 600-page volume of it was published this winter, in co-authorship with the American scholar Keith Wallis.

Young Enoch's parents were both teachers, and his father was a Methodist and a Lloyd George radical. But if he did not adopt his father's politics or religion, Powell acquired some of the gritty forthrightness of Birmingham, where he was born and educated. Mixed with this is more than a touch of the Welsh romanticism.

A scholarship student in local schools, Powell went on to Cambridge and became a prize-winning classical scholar. After graduation, he was appointed to a chair in Greek in Sydney, Australia. His first two books on the classics had already been published — he has since added a half-dozen more, including a volume of poetry.

Unpredictable

In Parliament, Powell has been difficult to categorize and impossible to predict. Right-wing on most issues, he also opposes capital punishment and in 1959 incurred the displeasure of a Tory government by attacking the treatment given African prisoners in Hola camp in Kenya.

Despite a somewhat forbidding granite-hewn face, Powell has a sense of humor — and despite a reputation for being a superb logician, his speeches contain as much passion as they do syllogisms.

A political reporter wrote of him in the London Sunday Times, in 1967:

"If there is one element common to all Mr. Powell's speeches, it is that they are heard with more hypnotic attention than is given to any other politican on the circuit. Audiences are mesmerized by the crisp beauty of his logic, the daily press entranced by the ever-widening chasm between him and any accredited political philosophy — certainly any endorsed by his own party."

Thus, as opposition spokesman on defence, Powell startled some of his colleagues when he took a line critical of Britain's East of Suez role and seemed to be inclining to a world outlook not unlike that of President de Gaulle.

Though Powell is an avowed admirer of many American economic practices, he is also, it ought to be noted, less than overwhelmed by American statecraft. He made his first and only trip to the United States in November, 1967, and wrote an article, upon returning, that coolly likened America to a colony, still insecure in dealing with Europeans.

Powell's present adventure is regarded with deep misgivings by many informed Britons. While it is true that Powell for a long time has been highly critical of immigration policies, his April 20 speech was far more blunt than anything he has said before.

Distortion

There are fears that Powell may have envenomed public discussion of racial issues with his references to "grinning pickaninnies" who allegedly terrorize white landladies and who know only one English word: "Racialist." He is rightly criticized for distorting statistics by forecasting a colored population in Britain of 3.5 million in 15 or 20 years without noting the implausible suppositions on which the forecast rests.

Many who admit to a respect for Powell as a politician who is concerned with principle were appalled by the speech. Writing in the Daily Mail, Bernard Levin said the speech had a "peculiar vileness" since it was made by an educated man who has "gone whoring after ignorance and prejudice." The Times bluntly called it "a wicked speech."

Pesticides Worst Pollution Problem Says Top Ecologist

By THOMAS O'TOOLE

NEW YORK — One of the nation's formost ecologists has called for an end to the use of DDT. He said it could destroy a large portion of the world's living things if it goes on being used in today's quantities.

"DDT and pesticides just like it are the worst pollution problem we have on earth today," said Dr. George M. Woodwell, chief ecologist at the Atomic Energy Commission Brook Haven National Laboratory. "These pesticides simply should not be used any longer."

Speaking at a symposium on pollution titled "Challenge for Survival" sponsored by Rockefeller University and the New York Botanical Gardens, Dr. Woodwell said DDT has so infested the world's air and water that it has begun to kill off entire species of fish and birds, particularly the scavenger birds who nest in oceanic islands.

•

"We now have evidence that the Bermuda petrel has disappeared from the small islands around Bermuda where he has nested for centuries," Dr. Woodwell said. "But he's not the only well-known bird we're losing to DDT. Nobody can find an osprey (fish hawk) on Eastern Long Island anymore and the peregine falcon has just about vanished from North America because of DDT."

The trouble with DDT and other chlorinated hydrocarbon pesticides, Dr. Woodwell said, is that they persist in the air, soil and water so long. "They have a half-life of at least ten years, and more likely 15 years or longer."

For the past 11 years, Dr. Woodwell said, the world's consumption of DDT has averaged 200 million pounds a year, a great deal of which has drifted into the upper atmosphere during spraying operations and been carried by tropispheric winds to every corner of the globe.

•

"Scientists have found DDT in soil and animal samples on every continent and in every ocean of the map, including the Antarctic," Dr. Woodwell said. He estimated that there is right now about one billion pounds of DDT circulating through the world's air and water ready to be ingested by animals of all kinds.

Dr. Woodwell described DDT as a fat-soluble, meaning that it settles in animal fat and stays there until it is taken out. There is no evidence that DDT has killed any bird or fish by directly poisoning him, Dr. Woodwell said. Instead, the DDT has somehow upset their metabolism of calcium which in the case of fish and birds has made their eggs so fragile that their hatchlings die stillborn.

The effect of DDT on fish and birds reveals only the tough part of the iceberg, Dr. Woodwell said. Only recently, he said, Arizona cows that ate pasture grass infected with DDT gave milk that was so contaminated it had to be diluted with other milk to be sold.

Europe the Key To U.S. Policy; Rest Peripheral

By PHILIP GEYELIN

(A review of "The Discipline of Power: Essentials of a Modern World Structure," by George Ball, Atlantic Monthly Press. Mr. Ball was named United States ambassador to the United Nations last week.)

George Ball is a hearty, hulking workhorse of a man with a lawyer's love of argument and a clear, if somewhat concentric concept of the world. At its centre stands a great and controversial Frenchman who is definitely not Charles de Gaulle.

In his career as under secretary of state, as in his new book, Ball has cast the French president as a villain—"one of the destructive elements in the larger chemistry of the West."

The hero and central figure is Jean Monnet, godfather of the Common Market and high priest of European political and economic integration. From a united Europe, Ball moves outward to embrace Britain as an integral part of a third super-power.

And from this he moves on to reshape the world, by a more meaningful Atlantic partnership of equals, with the new European super-power as a cushion between the Soviet Union and the United States. Somewhere along the line there would come on an East-West rapprochement and a new relationship between the northern and southern half of the globe.

While Ball would not shirk the necessity of a northern effort to stabilize and uplift the turbulent south, his principal criticism of current policy — of foreign aid, military intervention, the containment of Communism and all the rest — is that it is too exuberant, too undisciplined, too far-reaching, too all-encompassing.

He does not shudder at a Communist Congo-Brazzaville or Burundi; he would draw sharp distinctions between the periphery and the centre. And Vietnam in his view is, or ought to be, peripheral.

"A sense of priority dictates that we regard our vital interests — things that touch our very life and existence — as most heavily concentrated in the world's north temperate zone," he declares.

As Under Secretary of State for Presidents Kennedy and Johnson for over six years, Ball was stationed at the very centre of the power structure, privy to just about everything that went on in the field of foreign policy and, as any of his colleagues will attest, a powerful advocate of firm and fixed views about Europe, Vietnam, foreign aid, nuclear disarmament.

GEORGE BALL
. . . firm, fixed views

He foresaw brilliantly the pitfalls of our involvement in Vietnam and fought a relentless, if losing, battle against the ever widening commitment of American men and firepower to the war.

If he were a less honorable man his book would be more titillating. Unlike some other chroniclers of contemporary history. Ball betrays no secrets, bears no visible grudges, shows no malice, seeks no revenge. He merely sets down, cogently, logically, reasonably and extremely readably, the arguments he privately urged with mixed success upon the government while in office.

Guiding Rule

If Ball's grand concept goes aground on the Vietnam war, he would answer that had it been the guiding rule of American diplomacy five or perhaps ten years ago, there would have been no large involvement by the United States in the Vietnam fighting.

In one of his more revealing passages, Ball describes the "slowly accelerated process of absorption" which dragged us into the conflict, step by step, with each step thoroughly logical, each part of a "moving stairway," but with no really clear signposts along the way which told us that we were headed inevitably toward our present position.

"What is important today is that we face a situation and not a theory, and a sticky situation at that," Ball writes. Mercifully, he offers no pat answers or sure solutions. He would stop the bombing of the north, try to barricade frontiers, concentrate on the southern war, be patient, and eschew enclaves or soft settlement terms that would leave the door open to easy Communist conquest. In short, his prescription very nearly parallels what President Johnson is doing today, and his prognosis of what this would bring is even now showing faint signs of prescience.

But, the virtue of this book is not its treatment of current events, but its message for the future. Working his way backward, in conclusion, he demands as a first principle that the United States make a "crucial conceptual distinction in our foreign policy between the problems of the northern zone, on the one hand, and the peripheral southern areas on the other."

Over-Rated

He dismisses China for the moment as a somewhat over-rated menace — and an enigma — which can best be dealt with by a more forthright acceptance of its existence, in the United Nations and in the world; whatever the future Chinese peril, it can be handled best within the framework of a more relaxed attitude toward the southern half of the hemisphere and a fundamental restructuring of the north; "we come back again and again ... to the need for a better Western power structure, since it is the basis and beginning of a rational world," writes Ball as he recoils, concentrically, to a united Europe and Jean Monnet.

Ball is a compelling and engaging advocate. Even those who can't accept his grand concept will find in "The Discipline of Power" all the rewards of a lively and stimulating debate.

South Africa: Reality Behind Bright Image

THE ECONOMIST

CAPETOWN — South African apartheid is getting a facelift: friendly relations with neighboring black states, the arrival of Pretoria's first black diplomat (from Malawi), the promise of a mixed Olympic team.

But this new flexibility is strictly for foreigners. Inside South Africa the lines of apartheid are being drawn with a new rigidity and harshness.

Currently before parliament in Cape Town is a remarkable package of three bills which will outlaw all political contact between the races, abolish the parliamentary representation of the Colored — mixed blood — people and expand a dummy body called the Colored Representative Council which is supposed to advise the government of Colored opinion.

Prevent Votes

Initially, Prime Minister Vorster's aim was to prevent the 40,000 male Colored voters of the Cape Province (who vote on a separate roll) from electing members of the multi-racialist Progressive party to the four reserved seats.

In practice he found the only way he could stop them was to abolish the seats; then to justify this in terms of apartheid logic he decided to legislate against the "interference" of one race group in the politics of another.

Thus the opposition parties are being restricted to the framework of the apartheid ideology: they must get rid of their non-white members, and a white man will no longer be able to talk to a non-white group about politics.

Famed author Alan Paton has already announced that his small Liberal party, long regarded as the conscience of South Africa, will disband the day the bill becomes law; the Progressives will struggle on all-white.

So much for the Colored; they have always got the roughest deal in South Africa.

The Africans are faring no better. The "Bantustans" supposed to be set up for them are undergoing a subtle transformation. Government talk is no longer of "separate countries" but of "separate nations"; the separation is not to be territorial but cultural and political.

The Bantustans will exist more in the mind than on the map, but they will serve the purpose of making all Africans statutory foreigners in "white" South Africa.

What has happened is that the government has found it cannot consolidate the scattered tribal areas into the eight coherent Bantustans which the original scheme envisaged.

In February the minister of "Bantu" administration and development, M. C. Botha, admitted that the Bantustans still consisted of 276 fragments — a dozen more than were counted by an official commission in 1954.

And in the budget of March 27 the vote for land purchases to further consolidation was cut from R8 million to R5 million ($6.5 million).

The government has also failed to develop the Bantustans economically at anything like the required rate.

The report of the 1954 commission called for the creation of 20,000 new industrial jobs each year for 25 years to enable the Bantustans to carry 9 million people (at present 4,133,000 live in the scattered black fragments). But it has since become apparent that this was an under-estimate.

Increase

The census bureau predicts that South Africa's African population will have more than doubled to 28 million by the end of the century. An increase of 5 million in the Bantustans would barely cope with their natural increase, let alone make the white areas any whiter.

A Stellenbosch University professor calculated recently that to cope with the Africans' natural increase and reduce the black population of the white areas by 5 per cent a year, 181,000 new jobs would have to be created every year in the Bantustans.

In February, Mr. Botha revealed that just 945 industrial jobs had been created in six years in the Bantustan areas, plus another 44,600 in seven years in adjacent areas.

This year's budget allocation for Bantustan development remains almost unchanged at R39.8 million ($60.6 million).

On April 1 new labor regulations came into force, as devastating in their way as the package deal before Parliament. Not that Parliament discussed them; they have become law through proclamation by the president in his capacity as "supreme chief" of the African tribes.

In the long term, they will turn every African in the country into a migrant laborer—a statistical citizen of a Bantustan who will be compelled to register there as a "workseeker."

Labor Funnel

The tribal authority, ostensibly a fledgling government, will serve its primary function as a labor bureau. It will receive requisitions of labor from employers in white South Africa and will then draw on its lists of registered workseekers to funnel its "citizens" to where they are needed.

Each will work on a contract basis for not more than a year, after which he must return to his jobless Bantustan. He may then either volunteer for a second term with his last employer (if the latter wants him) or register again as a work-seeker and await a new requisition.

Far from becoming even semi-independent countries, the Bantustans will become labor reservoirs.

At the moment certain Africans have earned the legal right to stay permanently in "white" South Africa. They are a uniquely privileged group: those born in an urban area, those who have lived there for an unbroken period of 15 years, those who have served one employer continuously for 10 years, and the dependents of such people.

But the government has declared its intention of scrapping these people's rights, too. All must become citizens of the non-existent Bantustans, and the appropriate legislation will almost certainly be passed next year.

This is the truth behind the shining new image.

Economy, Italian style.

There was a time when imported economy cars were some of the ugliest things on four wheels. And although the money they saved you may have been something to rave about, their looks were better left unsaid.

Then the people who are famous for great shapes introduced economy, Italian style. The Fiat 850 GT.

It's not just another imported economy car. It's Gran Turismo.

That's an Italian way of saying something like a sports car in performance, like a passenger car in comfort, and something like a Ferrari in looks.

Under that beautiful exterior is a little power-house of an engine that can do zero to 60 in just 17 seconds. A smooth, all-synchromesh 4-on-the-floor transmission. Rugged front disc brakes that give you firm, safe stops with ease. And inside are features you wouldn't expect in an imported economy car. Luxurious contour bucket seats and loads of legroom. Padded dash. Racing style steering wheel. Le Mans instrumentation, including tachometer. Window washers. And a superb heavy-duty 2-speed heater.

So much for the Italian style. What about the economy of the Fiat 850 GT?

How do 38 miles to the gallon and a price tag of $2,195* grab you?

And while we've got your attention, we'll remind you that you can get sports car economy, Italian style, with the Fiat 850 Spider.

It starts, handles, and stops like a very expensive sports car. Yet it costs just $200 more than the 850 GT.

In addition to the superb features found on the GT, the Spider has a unique body with racy Italian styling. Like a lot of really expensive Italian sports cars, it was designed by Bertone.

Before you buy an economy car, test drive an 850 GT or Spider at your Fiat Dealer's. The style is exclusively Italian. But they're economy in anybody's language.

Bermuda Hit By Looting

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Despite continuing tension and a curfew, Bermuda's governor dissolved Parliament Monday and announced scheduled general elections for May 22 to bring representative government to the 284-year-old British colony.

Patrols of local police and troops continued to enforce the 7 p.m.-to-dawn curfew and seized six men Monday night who were looting a furniture store that had been set afire twice during the rioting last Thursday and Friday.

Five other persons were arrested for violting the curfew.

Store owners along Hamilton's Front Street, where generations of tourists have shopped for bargains in English china, silver, linen and woollens, boarded up their show windows for the first time in history, fearing a recurrence of disturbances.

Small groups of Negroes wandered the island Monday afternoon and with Negro demonstrators marching outside, the royal governor, Lord Martonmere, announced the dissolution of the island Parliament—a move he called historic.

Sir Arthur Galsworthy, a deputy undersecretary in the commonwealth office, flew from London for the formalities.

Bermuda, a crown colony since 1684, has operated in recent years under semi-representative government and a voting system which gave property owners two votes each.

Next month's one-man, one-vote election is expected to put into power the predominantly Negro Popular Labor party, which has independence from Britain as the first plank in its program.

The party also wants to stop British immigration, claiming that the whites get the best jobs.

SEATTLE CONFERENCE DRAWS BOTANISTS HERE

Vancouver Island will draw many botanists this summer from a major international conference in Seattle.

Dr. Adam Szczawinski, provincial botanist, said Monday he expects many of the plant scientists to make trips here during July and August. The 11th International Botanical Congress is to be held in Seattle late in July.

Some 5,000 scientists have already registered for the sessions at the University of Washington, he said.

The plant life of the province, particularly that of Vancouver Island, is of special interest to botanists in countries on the Pacific Ocean.

Canada Fights Fishboat Fine

QUITO, Ecuador (CP- — The Canadian government has stepped into the case of a Canadian fishing boat seized while allegedly fishing illegally off the Pacific coast of Ecuador, it was learned Monday.

The Atlantic Jag was seized April 20 and was fined $77,350 the following Monday for fishing without a licence required by Ecuador when operating within the 200-mile offshore territorial limit Ecuador claims.

The Atlantic Jag was given five days to pay the fine or be confiscated.

Canada's charge d'affaires here called on the foreign affairs ministry Monday but details of the visit were not disclosed.

Payment of the fine had not been made by Monday night. Spokesmen for the vessel's owners said the Canadian company believes that the tonnage of the vessel—the basis for determining the fine—had been miscalculated.

ARRIVE IN QUITO

Meanwhile, representatives of the ship's owners arrived in Quito Monday to confer with authorities.

The vessel, whose home port is St. Andrew's, N.B., was reported to have received the highest fine ever imposed on a ship fishing inside Ecuador's territorial limit.

The 200-foot vessel is valued at $2,000,000.

The Ecuadorean navy said the Atlantic Jag was sighted 12 miles off Santa Elena Point, Guayas province, with 13 tons of fish aboard. It said the vessel was seized after a pursuit of 25 miles and taken to the port of Salinas.

The navy said the ship's Portuguese captain, Fernando Gil dos Santas, could not show the required document authorizing the vessel to fish in the waters claimed by Ecuador.

Ecuador, Peru and Chile, all on South America's Pacific coast, each claim a 200-mile limit.

Hold-the-Line Budget Near After Cutback

By JIM HUME

By 9:55 p.m. Monday Victoria city council had chopped $264,180 from a record annual budget of $17,390,586.

Seventeen minutes later they had added $6,000 to annual expenditures and then, at 10:18 p.m., apparently weary of a day of cutting, they handed the axe to city manager Dennis Young and treasurer James Bramley with a directive to hold the line.

Council's orders were explicit: show us where to chop the last $59,820 to hold the general mill rate and taxes to last year's level.

Mr. Young responded promptly with a $25,900 swing which saw the long-planned Fort-Richmond intersection improvements relegated to the sidelines for at least another year.

That left council $33,920 over the magic figure of $318,000 needed in cuts if the mill rate was to hold at 67.3 mills.

It was enough to cause one alderman to complain that the cutting had gone far enough.

"I'm all in favor of holding the line but we are down to a .46 increase now and I think that's far enough," said Ald. Lloyd Clarkson. "I just can't see going any further. This is only a slight increase and I think it's now a pretty serious matter."

Only $33,920 Left to Lop Off

But council was in no mood to listen to aldermen suggesting a $2.50 increase on the average annual tax bill.

"I think if we take this last figure ($33,920) and instruct Mr. Young and Mr. Bramley to spread the cuts over the major spending departments such as police, fire, public works and parks, none of them will be hurt too much," Mayor Hugh Stephen said.

Council agreed but not before Ald. Clyde Savage had tossed in the advice to the in-charge duo to "leave parks alone. I've been sitting here saying little as you chopped and chopped, but I can't sit still for any more cuts."

In the one day session, originally scheduled to last three days, council had lopped more than $100,000 from the parks and beautification program.

"And not from the fire department," said Ald. Clarkson. "We have already seriously cut the training school program by $7,000 and I don't see how any more can be trimmed from what is already a very tight budget."

Mr. Young agreed that the fire department was down to the bone but he passed no opinions on the parks department. Earlier in the evening he had stated, however, that he though the Beacon Hill and small parks budget could be trimmed by a few more dollars.

This is little doubt that the police department with estimated expenditures of $123,545 over last year to a whopping $1,152,631 and public works will feel the worst of this morning's blow.

Officials Given Free Hand

Mr. Young and Mr. Bramley, given a relatively free hand in paring the last $33,920, were to report to council this afternoon.

Of the $6,000 added to the budget during the wobbly night session $1,000 goes to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals which last week asked council to abandon the annual grant in the form of a percentage of dog tag licence sales and pay instead a straight $15,000 a year.

Mr. Young said he had gone over the request carefully with the SPCA and had checked their books.

"I have come to the conclusion that unless we help them we shall find ourselves again saddled with the operation of the city pound and that will be an expensive item," he said. "I would suggest that we increase their revenues by $1,000 effective July 1 to get them through this year."

The other $5,000 will go to a special litter container program proposed by the mayor in his January inagural address.

The design and location of the containers will be on an experimental basis and may be expanded next year if successful.

During the afternoon session Ald. Robert Baird announced that he had dropped his opposition to the personnel department budget and the number of staff employed.

Number of Staff Approved

In the preliminary cutting sessions two weeks ago he had stated that the department was over staff by at least one personnel officer and that he did not believe it took three men to handle personnel problems.

"When I first saw these figures I though they were way out of line when compared with the Jubilee Hospital," he said. "But I have done some checking and when compared with other cities of our size we are way in line Regina for example has an annual budget of $62,000, a little higher than ours. I was mistaken."

During the evening Ald. Savage objected to an $8,250 expenditure for the city archives.

"I remember when this came up during my last year on council," he said. "at that time it was supposed to a temporary measure to get the old records straightened around. Now I notice the cost is up from $5,000 last year to $8,000 this year."

Mayor Stephen said it has never been his thoughts that the hiring of an archivist would be temporary.

"The records go on each year and if we are to keep up it has to be a continuing job," he said.

Ald. Percy Frampton wasn't too impressed.

"I think this is something we should watch," he said. "It's gone from $500 to $5,000 to $8,000 and could get out of line."

Committee to Study Council Pay Boost

Three aldermen have been appointed to study aldermanic and mayoralty stipends and report on a new pay scale for Victoria city council members.

The threesome, Aldermen Lily Wilson, Ian Stewart and Percy Frampton, will go into their study session knowing that even if they recommend an increase for Mayor Hugh Stephen he will refuse to accept it.

"I agree that a study is merited," the mayor said Monday afternoon during budget discussions. "But I would appreciate it if the committee would leave my own remuneration in abeyance. If they come in with a recommendation for an increase I shall not accept it.

"But I'm not going to be around (in office) too much longer and I think the mayor's pay shoud be considered along with the others."

The committee was appointed following a move by Ald. Frampton to trim $4,000 from a $34,000 council indemnity vote. The $4,000 was originally earmarked to give aldermen a $500-a-year raise.

Last Thursday council members rejected the raise but agreed that a study should be carried out to see whether Victoria is in line with other cities of comparable size.

Stay Out of NWT Teachers Told

HALIFAX (CP)—Tom Parker, secretary of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union, said Monday teachers throughout the province have been advised not to sign contracts to teach in the Northwest Territories.

He said the action was taken because of a dispute between the 450 teachers in the N.W.T. and government authorities as the result of failure of contract negotiations.

The Canadian Teachers' Federation said in a statement Sunday the negotiation problems result from federal red tape and "regimentation."

HEALTH BUDGET FROZEN TEMPORARILY, AT LEAST

Victoria city council Monday afternoon backed the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health into a tight financial corner.

Without a health board provisional budget to guide them council took a tough line and merely approved the budget figures of 1967 without even a slight increase.

"We haven't received a budget from Dr. (J. L. M.) Whitbread this year," said city manager Dennis Young. "I presume that he is waiting for the new cost sharing formula from the provincial government. If it doesn't come through he (Dr. Whitbread) will have to tighten up and operate within the 1967 budget."

Victoria's share of public health in 1967 came to $272,595. That sum included $67,626 for administration expenditures, $148,982 for the nursing division, $53,825 for the sanitary division and $6,200 for other services.

Asked this morning if the metro board could operate at the 1967 level of expenses Dr. Whitbread, senior medical health officer, gave a blunt "no" in answer.

"Of course we can't operate at that level," he said. "We haven't submitted a budget because we don't know as yet what our salary costs will be. A budget will be submitted to the board on May 14 and then we shall submit it to all the municipalities concerned."

BUDGET SLASH

Arena to Wait Another Year For Paint Job

Victoria city council managed to trim $46,000 from an estimated Memorial Arena loss of $89,880.

But they were told that was as far as they go on the four major loss-leaders in the city recreational complex.

The $46,000 chop came from a $49,500 vote for special building alterations and repairs — including a long delayed plan to paint the outside of the building — for the Arena.

Other estimated losses are: The Crystal Garden, $46,780; McPherson Playhouse, $34,055; Royal Athletic Park, $15,890.

Ald. Clyde Savage shuddered at the thought of spending $20,000 for building alterations and repairs at the Crystal but was told the money was essential if the pool was to remain in operation.

"I just can't see spending this money on a pool we'll be getting rid of soon," Ald. Savage said.

City manager Dennis Young said it was not the intention to spend the money.

RISK GROWING

"The Crystal, as we all know, is in bad shape," he said. "Each month it stays in operation the risk grows of a major breakdown. This $20,000 will be held in reserve in case we are faced with an emergency expenditure to keep the pool open. You can cut it by $5,000 if you wish, but you will be gambling."

None of the major risks can endanger the public using the pool.

Number one ulcer-generator is the main line carrying water throughout the building. Old and rusty enough to push a pencil through, the line could cost at least $10,000 to replace if the pool is to stay in use.

JUST IN CASE

"We can hope that this time next year we still have the $20,000," Mr. Young said. "But we must have it in the budget just in case."

Ald. Robert Baird took a run at the losses on the McPherson Theatre and asked why booking rates couldn't be increased to up revenues and why more top-line shows were not brought in to satisfy pubic demand.

"We are depriving people of top shows they should see," he said.

"Not if the public is prepared to pay the price we would have to charge to bring top shows in," city manager Dennis Young replied.

Asked what ticket prices would be for a top-liner in show business, recreation services boss Jack Morgan answered that a rule-of-thumb price would be $5 or $6 for good seats and a minimum of $3 for a seat so far back upstairs that "I can hear the complaints now."

HIGH RATES

Mr. Morgan said that far from being low, the general rates charged for shows in the arena or the McPherson were higher than most.

He did repeat an earlier suggestion for increasing revenue.

"I think this summer we shall have to take a look at the possibility of charging five per cent for handling ticket sales," he said: "It is a pretty costly item for us and I think the five per cent is a reasonable charge."

NOT VERY MUCH

Mr. Morgan was asked by Ald. Baird if the Jacee Fair was one of the big revenue producers for the Arena.

"I'm asking because we are always reluctant to give the Junior Chamber of Commerce grants and I understand their fair is a big revenue producer."

"Not really," answered Mr. Morgan. "They bring in about $2,000 for the week. We make more than that in one night when the Russian national hockey team plays here."

Kidnapper Hunted

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Authorities today sought a husky man who kidnapped a wealthy woman, held her for three days under "gruesome" threats and then released her without picking up a ransom of $250,000 in small bills. The abduction of Mrs. Margaret E. Louis, 61, from her swank home in Lafayette across the bay from San Francisco last Tuesday evening was revealed Monday by police.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Broad advances in flax highlighted trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Some of the buying represented covering orders associated with large shipments leaving the lakehead. Reports liste 735,000 bushels were cleared for Hamburg and 220,000 to Rotterdam.

Rapeseed also showed firmness at times and was aided by reports that 4,200 tons were sold to Japan in a deal which was not previously reported.

Oats and barley received most trade associated with domestic feed supply.

Rye was higher for most of the session despite irregularities in the Chicago market.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat all were unchanged.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Gold Price Takes Jump

The price of gold on the London market hit its highest peak today since free sales April 1. The price also rose sharply in both Frankfurt and Zurich.

The price at the morning fixing in London was $39.10 U.S. an ounce against Monday night's closing of $38.75. This represented a steady increase during the last week amounting to $1.45 an ounce.

In Frankfurt the price rose 47.5 cents from Monday's close of $39.10 and in Zurich the rise was 30 cents to $39.12.

Both Toronto and New York posted gains in trading today.

AT TORONTO in industrials, Falconbridge advanced 2⅛ to 107, Inco 2 to 123¾ and Canada Cement 1½ to 30½.

Fargo Oils jumped 65 cents to 7.25 and French Pete 30 cents to 5.20.

Among base metals Rio Algom dropped ⅞ to 32⅜ and Denison ½ to 71¼.

Final volume was 3,065,000 shares compared with 3,281,000 Monday.

AT NEW YORK Commercial Credit, which traded on a block of 25,000 shares in early dealings, scored an advance of more than 2 points.

Polaroid, which lost 3¼ on a block of 31,000 shares, shaved its loss to a little more than a point.

Gains of 2 points or more were posted by International Paper, Boeing and High Voltage Engineering.

AT MONTREAL prices were mainly fractional but generally higher in trading today.

Among industrials, Canada Cement climbed 2 points to 30½ and Canada-Dominion Sugar 1 point to 26. Imperial Tobacco edged up ⅝ to 13¾.

Moore Corp, retreated ½ to 37½ on sales of 800 shares and CPR ¼ to 51½ on 1,415 shares.

AT LONDON—Monday's dullness among leading industrials appeared more widespread today on the stock market although selective buying was still in evidence.

Gilt-edged stocks, however, attracted increased interest and small gains were spread throughout the list.

In a generally improved Canadian section, Hudson's Bay and Dome stood out firmly. Canadian banks were steady, with modest gains in places.

AT VANCOUVER prices were fractionally lower today in active forenoon trading.

Prices were strongest in the industrial section, but Neon Products was off $1.25 from Monday's close at $21 while Captain International was down .37 at $5.25.

However, C. P. Investments put on a dollar to $21.87 and Canadian Allied moved up a dollar to $12. White Pass and Yukon added .87 to $35.37.

There were no big fluctuations among mining issues, but prices were generally lower. Utica, Alwin, Dynasty and Highmont were all off a nickel and Coast Silver lost a penny.

Columbia Cellulose Reduces Net Loss

VANCOUVER (CP) — Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd. has reported net loss of $2,261,000 in the first three months of 1968, compared with a loss of $3,754,000 in the last quarter of 1967.

However, president George W. Scrimshaw told the company's annual meeting, projected losses will be substantially reduced if production continues uninterrupted for the remainder of the year.

He gave no projected loss figures. He said operations of Celgar Ltd. at Castlegar, B.C., made a profit in March for the first time since June, 1967. The pulp mill had been closed four months.

Domtar Sets New Paper, Pulp Complex

MONTREAL (CP) — T. N. Beaupre, chairman and president of Domtar Ltd., today announced formation of a new company bringing together the operations of six Domtar companies into one of the largest integrated pulp and paper companies in Canada.

The new company will be known as Domtar Pulp and Paper Products Ltd., and will be one of three separate products groups operating under Domtar. The others are Domtar Construction Materials Ltd. and Domtar Chemicals Ltd., both of Montreal.

Mr. Beaupre said president of the new company will be A. D. Hamilton, a native of suburban Westmount, who will leave his position as president and chief executive officer of B.C. Forest Products Ltd.

The six companies making up the new integrated company are: Domtar Fine Papers Ltd., Montreal; Domtar Newsprint Ltd., Montreal; Domtar Packaging Ltd., Toronto; Domtar Pulp and Kraft Paper Ltd., Montreal; Domtar Woodlands Ltd., Montreal; and Domtar Pulp and Paper Incorp., New York.

Mr. Beaupre also announced first-quarter net income for Domtar at $900,000 or 39 cents a share compared with $700,000 or 34 cents in the first quarter of 1967.

UAW Rejects Latest Proposal

TORONTO (CP) — Massey-Ferguson Industries Ltd. has told the United Auto Workers Union the company will move its Canadian production to the United States within 18 months if the union continues its demand for wage parity with U.S. workers.

In a statement released Monday, the farm-equipment company said it had offered the UAW a commitment that it would not move away from Canada during the life of an agreement in an effort to settle a strike by about 6,000 workers in Toronto and Brantford that began April 19.

However, the union rejected the company's settlement proposal, which included the formula of wage increases recently granted Massey-Ferguson workers in the U.S. and also additional fringe benefits.

But the union has refused to discuss the wage-and-fringe benefit proposal until the company agrees to negotiate on the matter of wage parity.

The company also offered to establish a union-management council on job security in Canada. This offer represents "an innovation in the company's basic relationship with the union," the statement said.

It said the offer provides a "guarantee of continued operations in Canada, enables the union to serve both the immediate and long-term interests of its members, and benefits the communities in which the company operates."

Union officials were not available for comment.

The average hourly rate for Canadian workers is $3.12. They are asking that this be raised to about $4.11 by 1970 to match rates received by the company's Detroit workers.

The last company offer included a 17-cent-an-hour increase for one year from the signing date, with an additional 30 cents for skilled workers retroactive to Jan. 1. No new wage proposals were mentioned in Monday's settlement.

Negroes Win Balm For Work Denial

TORONTO (CP) — Six Negro welders Monday received $28,600 from an American company and a Toronto union local because they were denied work at a Clinton, Iowa, construction project.

The company, M. W. Kellogg Co. of New York, and the union will send letters of apology to the six Toronto men.

The settlement was made shortly before opening of an inquiry by the Ontario Human Rights Commission into the welders' complaints of racial discrimination.

Prof. Harry Arthurs of Osgoode Hall law school adjourned the inquiry after the settlement was read.

The welders said earlier they tried to sign for a construction project through locals here in response to a recruitment effort by the company.

ARRANGED RECRUITING

The company had arranged with representatives of Local 46, United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Industry, to recruit members of Local 46.

The men said they were told by union officials Negroes would not be accepted for the Iowa project.

The $28,600 is the difference between what the men earned between Nov. 1, 1967, and April 30 this year and the amount they would have earned if they had worked on the construction job.

Similar charges of discrimination on basis of race and color against company representatives John P. Connelly, Robert Murray and James Kelly and union men Stanley Newmarch, Dave Clarke and Thomas Berry, were withdrawn.

A company statement said the three recruiters were acting as employees so the company accepted the consequences for charges against them.

Prof. Arthurs said the settlement reflected an honest desire by the union and the company to prevent a recurrence of such discrimination.

NOTIFIED OF JOBS

The company will notify the Negroes and the commission the next time a job they are qualified for becomes available.

The union agreed to inform the six welders of available jobs on a fair basis without regard to race, creed, color, nationality, ancestry, place of origin or age, as laid out in the Ontario Human Rights Code.

The company and union will send an account of the complaints and settlement to the New York and Iowa state commissions for human rights, the international office of the union, the Clinton local and the Jamaica-Canadian Association.

Prof. Arthurs praised Mel Thompson, president of the association for appearing with the welders.

Owen Bares received $6,156, Arnold Blair $4,022, Joseph Neblett $4,122, Herbert Telphia $6,156, Gifford Walker $4,122 and Stanley Williams $4,022.

CP Investments Net Income Up

By AB KENT
Business Editor

First quarter net income for Canadian Pacific Investments Ltd. shows improvement of more than $2 million despite some earlier uncertainty about the performance of some portfolio companies.

Cominco was one of these — although that situation has improved—and MacMillan Bloedel another, this one showing a substantial drop in earnings.

In the first quarter Cominco went up to $11.6 million or 70 cents a share, compared with a net in the first quarter of 1967 amounting to $10.4 million or 60 cents a share.

Kent

It is expected Cominco will show a lower net income for the full 12 months of this year, in comparison with 1967.

CPI net income January-March amounted to $11.49 million against $9.25 million, and the company says prospects for 1968 earnings are favorable.

★ ★ ★

Canadian silver production during February shot upward to a total of 4.23 million troy ounces, bringing the two-month total this year to 7.6 million ounces, up 2.2 million ounces from last year.

The dramatic increase from 2.5 million ounces in February 1966 is attributed by the bureau of statistics to near-full capacity at Texas Gulf Sulphur's mill near Timmins, where concentrates turned out make it Canada's largest processor.

★ ★ ★

Higher operating costs and a decline in spending by national advertisers brought a drop in last quarter earnings of Selkirk Holdings Ltd., said president J. S. MacKay.

But gross revenue for the year was higher by some $1.3 million, the 1967 report says. Total was $5.308 million against $4.063 million.

Net income was $454,597 compared with $424,142, or 60 cents per share against 65 8-10 cents a share. There were 135,344 additional "A" shares issued in the last quarter for the purchase of Calgary Television Ltd.

★ ★ ★

Pioneer of the mutuals, Canadian Investment Fund Ltd. is making its 141st quarterly dividend payment, a record difficult to beat.

Like the same period a year ago, the dividend amounts to 3 cents a share, possibly the most consistently conservative pay-out in the investment business.

In a list of 90 mutual funds, CIF stands 62nd in terms of performance, compared with 59th place last year. Its yield is equivalent to 3.92 per cent (relatively good for the general run of funds), compared with as much as 6.01 per cent by Funds Collectif "B."

In terms of performance, CIF is off 5.62 per cent from a year ago, while top mutual fund United Ventures (retaining its first place spot) shows an improvement of 63.53 per cent.

Toronto Stock Exchange industrial index was off 11.03 per cent for the same period.

Dome Petroleum hopes to have a drill rig on Melville Island to start its share of the panarctic exploration program by next April, president John R. Gallagher told the annual meeting Monday.

The panarctic program is an oil exploration program over 44,000,000 acres of the Arctic islands.

The company plans to spend about $6,000,000 on seismographic work in the Arctic islands. It plans a 15-well, threee-year drilling program.

★ ★ ★

Dome is managing the $20,000,000 exploration program with a consortium of petroleum companies and the federal government, which is supplying 45 per cent of the financing.

Mr. Gallagher said Dome has about 5,000,000 acres under farmout in the Arctic islands, and will supply about 4 per cent of the financing.

He said the company's net profit for the first three months of 1968 was $2,700,000, or 81 cents a share, up 25 per cent from the corresponding 1967 period.

Sharp Warning To Food Industry

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Canadian food industry suffers from a fear and guilt complex that cuts into profits, the Canadian Grocery Distributors Institute was told Monday.

K. B. Williams of Kelly Douglas Co. in Vancouver said the industry has self-imposed price ceilings "far more rigid than is practical for a healthy operation."

He said the ceilings appeared to be set because "of fear of consumers and fear of competition."

Mr. Williams said: "We are not letting the chips fall where they may but are absorbing a large portion of the increases because we are afraid it will offend someone."

Mr. Williams told the annual institute national convention costs will continue to rise and that a new frame of mind is needed in the industry.

"We are going to have to get rid of this guilt complex and face realities — a more realistic attitude toward margins — because of the right to free enterprise and the right to profit," he said.

He said the industry should embark on a strong public relations program "in order to dispel the grand illusion of profiteering that has been painted."

Earlier, Professor R. E. Olley of Queen's University said the present industry set up keeps prices higher than necessary.

He described the industry as midway between open competition and monopoly because it is made up of small businesses, but dominated by a few large companies.

Manoeuvres of the large companies may look like a pretty tough struggle, he said, but they are not beneficial to buyers.

Negotiates Loan in Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec-Hydro has announced it has negotiated in Canada a $50,000,000 loan with the proceeds being added to its general funds and applied towards the financing of its construction program.

The new debentures, dated May 15, 1968, will comprise $12,000,000 of 7½-per-cent debentures with maturities from one to 10 years, $13,000,000 of 7½-per-cent debentures maturing May 15, 1980, an $25,000,000 of seven-per-cent debentures maturing Oct. 1, 1994.

The 7½-per-cent debentures maturing in one to 10 years have been sold privately at $99.50 to yield approximately 7.61 per cent and will not be redeemable before maturity.

The 7½-per-cent debentures due in 1980, not redeemable before maturity, will be offered at $98.50 to yield approximately 7.694 per cent while the seven-per-cent debentures due in 1994, redeemable after Oct. 1, 1990, have been sold privately at $92.14 to yield approximately 7.70 per cent.

HUGE RAIL BARGE, with capacity of 26 railway cars, was launched in North Vancouver on Saturday. "The Haida Transporter" was built for MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. by Allied Shipbuilders, and will travel between Vancouver, MB's Harmac mill near Nanaimo, and Powell River, with carloads of newsprint, pulp and lumber. The barge is self-propelled, weighs 2,700 tons, carries rail cars four abreast, and will carry 11,000 rail cars a year.

4 Banks Set Up Credit Card Plan

TORONTO (CP) — Four of Canada's major chartered banks announced agreement Monday on a new interchangeable credit card plan to go into operation in August in Toronto and Montreal.

Involved are the Banque Canadienne Nationale, the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Royal Bank of Canada and Toronto-Dominion.

The credit-card plan, called Chargex, will enable customers to charge credit up to a stated amount—probably $300 for a start—at any one of the 12,000 stores and businesses in the two cities that the banks hope to enroll in the scheme.

The merchants agree to accept a discount of four to six per cent in order to get prompt payment of accounts from the bank. Customers will be billed monthly. If an account is paid within 25 days, there is no service charge. Time payments will probably carry a fee of one to 1½ per cent monthly.

"It is a new medium of exchange, already highly-successful in other parts of the world," said John Lofquist, assistant general manager of consumer credit at the Imperial-Commerce, at a press conference to announce the plan.

S. D. Paton, chief general manager of the Toronto-Dominion, predicted Chargex will become "the most important banking service for the public in many years."

COULD GET CASH

Credit card holders will be able to get cash at any one of the four banks in the plan.

Each bank will set its own service charges and operate its own card-processing centre.

The cards will be interchangeable with those of the Bank of America, which now gets about 10 per cent of its revenue from a similar plan. Accounts receivable for the 1,600 U.S. banks with credit card plans total an estimated $800,000,000.

Bankers say they hope to extend Chargex to other Canadian cities if it works well in Toronto and Montreal. They hope initially for about 1,000,000 customers.

One question bankers could not answer Monday was the fate of the person who loses his credit card.

"Just call the bank as soon as possible and pray that the finder doesn't go on a spending spree in the meantime," advised one banker.

Hudson's Bay Considers Moving Base

LONDON (CP) — The Hudson's Bay Company is "actively" considering moving its ancient headquarters from London to Canada but has not made up its mind yet, Governor Viscount Amory said Monday.

The head of the company, which will be 300 years old in 1970, made the statement at a press conference at which the firm announced a profit of £5,426,000 for the fiscal year ended last Jan. 31. It was an improvement over the previous year.

Amory said the company has been considering the move for a long time but many complexities involved have delayed a decision. It is expected Winnipeg will be the Canadian base if a change is made.

The governor cited a number of advantages in having a Canadian headquarters, including the fact that it would bring management in closer touch with the 95 per cent of its operations and the 14,000 employees, 97 per cent in Canada.

PERMISSION NEEDED

Also, it would tend to simplify the tax position of the company, which now has to deal with two governments. British government permission would be required for the move, and it is by no means certain this would be granted.

The "gocernor and company of adventurers of England trading into Hudson's Bay" has one of the great romantic traditions of British commerce. There is also the hard financial fact that 88 per cent of its 30,000 shareholders, holding about 85 per cent of its 13,000,000 shares, live here.

Viscount Amory said he did not know when the directors might make a decision concerning the move.

The company's annual report for 1967-68 showed sales of £163,380,000 and pre-tax profits of £9,844,000. After tax and dividends, retained profits amounted to £3,383,000. The pound is worth about $2.60 Canadian.

The 1966-67 profits were £2,595,000, when the pound was valued at about $3 Canadian.

Amory said that costs of doing business in Canada have been rising sharply but there was no reason to be pessimistic about the current year's results.

Copper Output Shows Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — Copper production in Canada during February amounted to 46,318 tons compared with 43,888 in February last year and 37,541 in the same month of 1966.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics also reported that nickel production in February amounted to 19,787 tons, compared with 17,154 tons in February, a year ago and 19,575 tons two years ago.

100% Stock Split by IBM

BOSTON (AP) — International Business Machines Corp. stockholders Monday overwhelmingly approved a 100 per cent stock split.

The vote was 50,000,000 shares in favor and 63,000 opposed.

A new share will be issued for each share held on May 9.

The directors also declared a cash dividend of $1.30 a share, payable June 10 to pre-split stock of record May 9.

IBM previously announced its 13th straight quarter of increased earnings, with gross revenue income of $1,480,000,000 and net earnings of $3.33 per share for the quarter, as compared with $2.45 per share for 1967's first quarter.

IBM stock touched a new high on the New York Stock Exchange Monday as it rose 9½ to 66⅛.

Injured Pupil Wins $183,900

OTTAWA (CP)-The Supreme Court of Canada ruled Monday that Ian McKay, a former pupil of the Derby high school in Strasbourg, Sask., is entitled to $183,900 for damages he suffered while practising for a school gymnastic show.

In a unanimous judgment, the court swept aside a Saskatchewan Court of Appeal decision calling for a new trial in the damage suit brought by the McKays against the Govan School Unit No. 29, which operated the Derby school.

Ian McKay was paralysed from the neck down after he fell between parallel bars in February, 1963, while practising for the display. He was working out under the direction of one of the teachers at the time.

A jury found lack of competent coaching, insufficient safety precautions and other failures on the part of the school board in awarding damages.

AT VANCOUVER PLANT

Steelworkers Cross Picket Line to Work

VANCOUVER (CP) — Thirteen steelworkers today crossed a picket line at the plant of Westeel-Rosco Ltd. where office workers have been on strike since Thursday.

More than 30 other steelworkers stayed outside the plant in heavy rain despite attempts by union officials to get them to go to work.

The move came on orders of International officers of the United Steelworkers of America, said Chuck Rea, president of the steelworkers local at the plant.

He spent 30 minutes trying to persuade all of the steelworkers to go to work. Police watched as 13 of the men crossed the picket line.

"Thirteen is an appropriate number for that group," said Brian James international representative for the office workers.

He said he had been ordered by his union to keep the picket line up in the face of any move by the steelworkers to return to work.

The move followed a ruling Monday by County Court Judge J. E. Hinkson that the British Columbia Labor Relations Act does not limit workers to one strike vote in a labor dispute.

He then rejected the contention of Westell-Rosco Ltd. that a strike by office workers is illegal because, in one vote held by the company, a majority of workers opposed a strike.

The judge ruled that the intention of the act is that there must be a vote in favor of a strike before a strike can be called. This came in a union vote conducted after the company's vote.

Sitting in Chambers as a local judge of British Columbia Supreme Court, Judge Hinkson rejected the steel company's bid for an injunction ordering an end to picketing at its plant.

Office workers, members of Local 5 of the Office and Technical Employees International Union, voted unanimously in favor of a strike to back wage demands in the union-run vote.

Judge Hinkson did grant Westeel-Rosco an injunction prohibiting the B.C. Federation of Labor and representative John McNiven from acts aimed at causing steelworkers to breach a contract.

He was told about 50 members of the United Steelworkers of America had agreed to cross office workers' picket lines to honor their contract but refused to do so when told by Mr. McNiven they faced recriminations from the union movement if they crossed.

Philip Shier, lawyer for the company, contended the union vote had no status. He said that when the Act spoke of "a strike vote" it meant "only one" and the company vote was the one.

The judge also rejected the company's application for an injunction barring the office workers union from encouraging or taking part in the strike, on grounds it was illegal.

Independence Eyed For British Honduras

LONDON (Reuters) — An American mediator has proposed a plan to make British Honduras independent by 1971 but with close relations with neighboring Guatemala, it was announced Monday.

Guatemala has for years laid claim to the British colony. For the last three years the dispute has been under study by American lawyer Bethuel Webster.

The mediator's proposals were disclosed to Parliament by Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart.

"These proposals envisage independence for British Honduras and a settlement of the dispute between the United Kingdom and Guatemala," Stewart said.

"We shall now study them in consultation with the government of British Honduras, who have already been given the proposals."

The proposals are in the form of a draft treaty between Britain and Guatemala.

Under the draft, Britain would grant sovereignty to British Honduras under the name of Belize by Dec. 31, 1970.

The draft also provides for close co-operation between Belize and Guatemala in foreign affairs, defence, communications and economic developments.

One-Year Sentence

A man police found carrying seven radios April 12 was sentenced Monday to one year in prison.

Fine Cuts Profit For Witch

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto mother of two was convicted of witchcraft Monday and fined $500 or three months.

Mrs. Gaetoni Graci testified that Maria F. Butch, using the pseudonym Madame Aneena, prescribed eggs wrapped in tissue paper and placed in a shoe to cure stomach pains.

Mrs. Graci testified that when the eggs-in-the-shoe remedy failed to cure her husband's pains, Mrs. Butch recommended hitting the eggs three times.

Mrs. Graci said she made about three more visits to Mrs. Butch during which a variety of potion-like medicines and two-per-cent milk were tried.

In all, Mrs. Graci said she paid $1,040 for the visits.

Master to Decide On Slave Wages

If you have fences to be painted, floors to be scrubbed, dogs to be washed or closets to be cleaned, you need a slave.

And slaves from Oak Bay senior secondary school will be at your beck and call this Saturday to toil away in a good cause.

It's the second annual slave day for students. Last year they earned over $1,000 for education facilities in developing countries overseas.

This year the money they earn will go to the Cowichan Lake Camp for handicapped children. Students plan to supply an outdoor recreation area for the children.

Boy and girl slaves can be reserved by calling the school at 385-7221 or 386-3626 after 6 p.m.

WASHING CARS

They'll take on such chores as baby-sitting, polishing silverware, washing cars, ironing, moving furniture, gardening, running errands or washing dishes.

The student slaves don't charge a set price. Whatever their masters donate is gratefully accepted.

Changing tobacco key to safer cigarette says Val Hinch

'Safer' Cigarette Developed By Teacher in Esquimalt

By PAUL MUSGROVE

An Esquimalt high school teacher claims to have developed a filterless cigarette safer than any on the current market.

Val Hinch agrees with medical people who say no cigarette is safe, but feels "the public should have a choice between those they can buy now and my own."

As yet, Mr. Hinch has been unable to find financial backing to make the cigarette available.

In developing the process, Mr. Hinch tried filters, including the charcoal type, but rejected them because "to be really effective you'd have to have more filter than cigarette."

He went straight to the tobacco from which the damaging carcinogens come.

Mr. Hinch isn't saying what he has done to the tobacco, but he claims that tests conducted by a major cigarette manufacturer prove his treatment reduces the harm in smoking by a startling degree.

TAR CONTENT

"The tests were conducted in the summer of 1964," said Mr. Hinch, "and they showed my cigarette to have a tar content of .7 milligrams per cigarette against the company's best, 11.2 milligrams.

"The nicotine content was .2 against the company's 1.3."

In refusing to produce the "health" cigarette, the company claimed it would be too mild to really taste like tobacco.

"Of course there is a reduction in flavor due to the treatments involved," said Mr. Hinch, "but it isn't a different flavor. The difference is in degree, not actual flavor."

Mr. Hinch also suggested since the conventional filter had been done away with, his cigarette would be cheaper to produce and should be cheaper on the market.

Mr. Hinch said he would go into production himself if he had the backing.

"I don't have the financial brain to do a thing like this, but I'd sure hire the brains that could. Right now I wouldn't even know where to buy the tobacco."

In a question and answer period following a talk by marine biologist Dixie Lee Ray at a recent professional day, she advised Mr. Hinch to write Senator Warren G. Magnesson in Washington with details on the health cigarette.

To date there has been no reply and North Americans havn't got a safer weed.

MONTREAL 'LOTTERY'

Not Illegal, Says Drapeau

MONTREAL (CP) — Mayor Jean Drapeau said Monday night that as far as he is concerned, his "voluntary tax" scheme to raise $28,000,000 for city coffers is not illegal as suggested by some authoritative critics.

The scheme, intended to offset an anticipated deficit in the city's 1968-69 budget, has been labelled illegal by Justice Minister Jean-Jacques Bertrand of Quebec and by the justice department in the U.S.

Persons making voluntary $2 contributions to the city treasury are eligible to win monthly cash prizes of up to $100,000.

Mayor Drapeau said in a statement to city council that "nothing to this day has arisen" to indicate the "voluntary tax" is illegal.

"Nothing in the procedures and formalities which will precede the awarding of $150,000 in prizes each month will impair the legality" of the tax, he said.

City council was "bound to reaffirm" the legality of the tax, which could only "be impugned" by a court judgment.

The matter of legality should also be settled "as soon as possible" to dispel any confusion following Mr. Bertrand's statement, which said the scheme contravened the federal Criminal Code.

"The voluntary tax of Montreal is a municipal institution, the importance of which cannot be denied," Mr. Drapeau said. Its elimination would result in a 20-per-cent increase of the three taxes determined by city council—real estate, water and business.

"Only a final court judgment to the effect that such a tax is illegal will bring us to recommend its elimination," the mayor said.

If Mr. Bertrand still believes the tax is illegal, Mr. Drapeau said, he should investigate it. Provincial authorities have not decided whether to take legal action.

Mr. Drapeau said the justice minister had been sent copies of the city's 1968-69 budget, the resolution establishing the voluntary tax, advertisements the city had sent to newspapers for publication, forms to be mailed to the public and official receipts for the public.

DOMESTIC AFFAIR

Mayor Drapeau said that for the time being he is not taking into account any opinion on the legality of the tax attributed to sources outside Canada. "The institution of the voluntary tax was never based . . . on foreign participation."

The mayor's plan also has been criticized by at least one mayor in Quebec.

"It is not for the people of this region to pay for the taxes of Montreal," said Mayor Gilles Tremblay of Chicoutimi.

In Winnipeg last week, Mayor Stephen Juba suggested a monthly draw for $20,000 among holders of a special city debenture issue.

He said the plan—he calls it a raffle—would be a means of getting around high interest rates. The words raffle or lottery, used by Montreal's critics, are taboo to Mr. Drapeau.

Name Game Delays Rezoning

A misplaced square Monday night caused deferment of an application to rezone property at 783 Claremont for an egg-grading station.

Saanich council at a public hearing agreed to the deferment after counsel for a neighbor said the published advertisement described the property as "220 square feet" when it should have read "220 feet square."

Counsel for the applicant, Claremont Poultry Ltd., said the proposed bylaw in the municipal office was correct and only the advertisement was in error.

Mayor Curtis said he recommended the postponement "regrettably" because of the time loss involved.

An application by Growers' Wine to have a portion of its property rezoned to light industrial use and to close Pump Street was approved.

Other amendments to zoning approved will permit construction of the ice arena on Tillicum and of a senior citizens' centre at Tillicum and Hampton.

EXPECTED to seek election in an Ottawa constituency is Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister John Turner, whose Quebec seat disappeared under redistribution.

FLIES IN A BOTTLE LIGHT UP THE PAGES

NUI DAT, South Vietnam (Reuters)—Australian troops have stolen an idea from the Viet Cong guerrillas for reading in the dark—bottled fireflies.

Soldiers of the 3rd Battalion Royal Australian Regiment operating in Bien Hoa province learned the trick from a Vietnamese interpreter.

Held close to the page, the fireflies—common throughout Vietnam—provide enough light by which to read, even on the blackest jungle night.

Game Law Rules Indians, Supreme Court Decides

OTTAWA (CP) — Indians in Western Canada must abide by the Migratory Bird Convention, the Supreme Court of Canada ruled in a judgment handed down Monday.

In a 5-to-4 decision the court ruled that Indians in the four western provinces, like those in Eastern Canada and the territories, must not hunt game birds during seasons specified by the convention ratified in 1917 by Canada, the United States and Mexico.

The ruling upheld a decision by the Manitoba Court of Appeal which found treaty Indian Paul Daniels of The Pas guilty of shooting two wild ducks out of season.

Mr. Justice Wilfred Judson, writing the majority opinion, said the Manitoba Natural Resources Act, an amendment to the British North America Act, "did not repeal by implication a statute of Canada giving effect to an international convention."

Mr. Justice Louis-Philippe Pegeon agreed that Parliament is not presumed to legislate in breach of a treaty or to be inconsistent with the rule of international law.

STRONGLY DISSENT

Chief Justice J. R. Cartwright and Mr. Justice Emmett Hall expressed strong dissenting opinions arguing that unfettered hunting rights for the western Indians were enshrined in amendments to the BNA Act in 1930.

The chief justice, in his judgment said rights of the western Indians were given the force of law "by the statutes of the Imperial Parliament, the Parliament of Canada and the legislature of Manitoba."

Mr. Justice Hall said: "Parliament cannot legislate in contravention of the British North America Act and that is why the BNA Act, 1930, is decisive in this case."

Seattle Band Invited

A Victoria rock and roll band is going into the promotion business — at least for Victoria Day Celebrations.

The Marquis, a group popular with teen-agers, will bring one of Seattle's top bands in for a one-night stand.

Marquis Gary Garraway said Monday his group has made arrangements with The City Zu to play for a dance at the Club Tango May 20, following the Victoria Day parade.

The dance will run from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m., closing early because the schools are open the next day. The group is also trying to get some of the city bands from Vancouver over for the day.

The City Zu have released records in the U.S. and appeared in Victoria as a backup group at the Byrds concert early in April.

They play predominantly rhythm and blues music.

Manned Flight Set

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—U.S. space agency administrator James W. Webb has given the order to begin preparing the next Saturn V super-rocket for an astronaut flight late this year.

$70 Radio Receiver 'Fixes' Space Flights

LONDON (AP) — Nine teenagers and their physics teacher, hard at work on the crossword puzzle of Soviet space flights, have scored a remarkable number of firsts.

Supervised by Geoffrey Perry, their 39-year-old physics teacher, the boys at Kettering Grammar School are spending most of their spare time monitoring Russian space flights as an adjunct to their physics classes. Kettering is a town of 25,000 in Northamptonshire, 65 miles northwest of London.

At Christmastime 1966, they announced that their observations showed the Soviets were using a new secret launching site near Archangel, in Arctic Russia, instead of their usual sites in Asian Kazathstan.

WITH 'JUNK' RADIO

The observations were made with a "junk" radio receiver which was obsolete 20 years ago. The discovery was confirmed later by such eminent observatories as Jodrell Bank in Britain and Bochum in West Germany.

Last Oct. 29, the boys announced that the Russian space capsule Cosmos 186 had suddenly ceased transmitting after only 34 orbits and two days in the air. Again Bochum confirmed their finding.

Sunday it was a dead heat between Bochum and the boys. They announced simultaneously the Russians had recovered Cosmos 216 after eight days in orbit.

Sunday's observations were made with a new radio receiver presented to the class last November by the manufacturer and a London newspaper. They were made with the old makeshift directional aerials, however.

The new set cost $1,884, the old one $70. The class had used the old one since 1960.

Roseboro Ruins Day-Off Plans With Hit Spree

By Associated Press

Johnny Roseboro found a perfect way to ruin a day off. With a little extra effort, he hit his way out of it.

The 34-year-old catcher broke out of an 0-for-29 slump by cracking five hits in five at bats Monday night, setting off Minnesota's 11-2 rout over the Boston Red Sox

"It was just a matter of time," said his manager, Cal Ermer. "However, we planned to give him a rest Tuesday. Now we'll wait and see how he feels."

After his first five-hit game in 12 seasons in the major leagues, Roseboro should be feeling just fine.

Norm Cash probably won't play today, but he must be feeling okay, too, after scoring the winning run in a home plate collision that brought the Detroit Tigers a 2-1 victory over the Oakland As.

Another happy hitter who became a doubtful starter today is Rick Reichardt, who limpted off the field after belting a two-run single that keyed California's 3-2 triumph over Cleveland in the only other American League game.

Roseboro, playing his first season in the American League after his acquisition from the Los Angeles Dodgers last winter, entered the Boston game with only three hits in 49 at bats for a .061 average.

Perry Had Easy Route to Third Win

By the end of the night, he had raised his average to .148 with three singles, a double and his first AL homer off four of the six Red Sox pitchers. He drove in two runs and scored three.

Roseboro's hitting and three runs batted in by Ted Uhlaender made Jim Perry's third victory in four decisions easy. Given a 9-1 lead in three innings, he breezed with a six-hitter.

WITH TWO OUT

Cash's big hit came against Oakland catcher Rene Lachemann with two out in the ninth inning. He had forced Bill Freehan, who had been hit by a pitch, and then reached second when reliever Jack Aker walked Jim Northrup.

When Don Wert, who homered in the eighth, singled to centre field, Cash raced for home, but Rick Monday's throw had him beat. However, Lachemann dropped the peg and Cash barrelled into him and his knee struck Lachemann's head, flattening the catcher.

Lachemann was not seriously hurt, but Cash suffered a severe bruise and probably will sit out today's game.

The play made a winner of Mickey Lolich, who yielded only four hits after an eight-day lay-off because of National Guard duty.

Reichardt bounced his hit up the middle in the seventh inning with the bases loaded and none out, putting the Angels ahead 2-1. The winning run scored later in the inning on a force out.

Reichardt, however, pulled a muscle running the bases and might not play today.

WARM WELCOME

In the National League, Los Angeles Dodgers gave Walter Alston a warm welcome but Cincinnati Reds turned Grady Hatton's homecoming into a holocaust.

With manager Alston in uniform for the first time in the National League season, the Dodgers snapped St. Louis' six-game winning string Monday night by edging the Cardinals 3-2 at Los Angeles.

At Houston, meanwhile, Cincinnati Reds went on a 22-hit rampage that crushed Hatton's Houston Astros 17-2 in their first home game in two weeks.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh Pirates whipped Chicago Cubs 7-4 under the lights and Atlanta downed San Francisco Giants 7-2 in an afternoon game.

Don Sutton, making his first start for the Dodgers after being recalled from the minors, stalled the Cardinals with relief help from Jim Brewer and made Alston's homecoming a happy occasion. The 56-year-old pilot had missed the Dodgers' first 16 games while recovering from surgery for the removal of kidney stones.

CHAMBER OF HORRORS

While the Cardinals' feathers were being ruffled after their six-game streak, the Astros returned to Houston to find their usually friendly Astrodome transformed into a chamber of horrors.

Houston played its first six games in the Dome, winning five and completing the home stand with a 1-0, 24-inning victory over New York Mets on April 15. Then the Astros went on the road and lost eight of nine.

The Reds wasted little time in making it nine of 10 and relegating Houston to the league cellar.

NORM CASHES IN

Painful but effective is way Norm Cash of Tigers reaches home plate in American League game Monday at Detroit. Charging from second on Don Wert's single in ninth inning, Cash collided with Oakland catcher Rene Lachemann, who dropped ball as Norm scored run that gave Tigers 2-1 victory over Athletics. Cash suffered leg bruise on play and was expected to miss today's game. (AP Wirephoto.)

Derby May Have 'Long Grey Line'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Begging the pardon of the United States Military Academy, but Saturday's 94th running of the Kentucky Derby might look like the Long Grey Line.

"I can't remember five greys as possible starters before, not at this late date," says Allan W. (Doc) Lavin, director of racing at Churchill Downs.

But five there are—Dancer's Image, Gleaming Sword, Iron Ruler, Jig Time and Proper Proof.

"I can't recall even three," says Wathen R. Knebelkamp, president of Churchill Downs.

"In fact, I know there's never been three and this will be my 48th derby."

Not only are the five greys possible starters, there's an excellent chance they'll all be in the starting gate for the big race. In fact, Peter Fuller's Dancer's Image rates as one of the favorites.

The lack of greys to run in the derby can be seen by the fact that only two have ever won—Determine in 1954 and his son, Decidedly, in 1962.

One of the greatest greys of all, Native Dancer, is the sire of Dancer's Image and Jig Time.

Native Dancer lost only one race in his brilliant career, the 1953 derby when he was bumped at the start and finished second to Dark Star.

LOSE TO VANCOUVER

Rocks Intend To Appeal Fine

Victoria Shamrocks solved their manpower problems Monday but they still went down to their third successive exhibition defeat, losing 11-10 to Vancouver Carlings at North Vancouver.

Shamrocks were fined $300 by Tom English, commissioner of the western division, for failing to dress enough players for an exhibition game in Haney last Friday. Monday they had more players than the chartered plane could carry to the mainland for the National Lacross Association tussle.

Next game for Shamrocks is the league opener against Portland Adanacs in Memorial Arena May 8.

LEAGUE WARNED

"I think we have a pretty good case," said team president Keith Dorman, when announcing plans to fight the fine.

"We had warned the league previously that we had player problems with many working Friday nights. Although the league has turned professional, it can't all be done in the first year. It's hard to hold a job as well. You have to act in a pro manner where you can.

Job commitments, the flu bug and injuries made at least 11 players unavailable on Friday said Dorman.

After trying everything to scrape up enough players for the game, including phoning those on the injured list (Jack Showers and Larry Clarkson), further delay was caused when the chartered aircraft touched down in Active Pass to offer aid to the crew of a burning fish boat.

"I refuse to blame commissioner English for levying the fines," Dorman stated. "I believe he acted in the best interests of the National Lacrosse Association. I agree he should have administered the fine on the facts of the moment but I hope when we present the whole story to him he'll take a less severe attitude on the incident."

SIX-GOAL EFFORT

Gord Fredrickson, leading scorer in the Inter-City League last season, set up Vancouver with six goals against Shamrocks while Bob Babcock tallied the winning goal.

Reg Foster, Ray Beech and Glen Vickers each scored twice for Shamrocks.

In a game Saturday, Portland Adanacs scored four goals in the final period of an exhibition match to defeat New Westminster Salmonbellies 8-6.

MOORE ON 'MIKE'

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lenny Moore, a 12-year veteran with Baltimore Colts, has announced his retirement as a player in order to broadcast National Football League games as a member of the CBS team.

Californian Setting Pace for Rookie Pros

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (CP) — Jack Ewing of Bakersfield, Calif., Monday held on to his one-stroke lead in the Professional Golfers Association school tournament to select 15 new players for the PGA tour.

Ewing shot a 69 Monday to give him a 90-hole total of 351, one stroke up on George Thorpe of Cleveland. Thorpe also shot a 69 Monday.

Lawrence Butch O'Hearn of Dartmouth, N.S., was tied for fifth at 358 with Larry Hinson of Douglas, Ga. O'Hearn shot a 70 Monday.

Keith Fulton of Trail, B.C., shot a 74 to give him a five-round total of 368 and a tie for 17th place with Clive Clark of Scarborough, England.

The 144-hole tournament ends Wednesday with the top 15 scorers qualifying to join the remainder of this year's national PGA tour.

Monday's round was played over a course slightly longer than 7,000 yards.

Nomadic Veteran New Blues' Hero

McCreary's Overtime Goal Gives St. Louis Series Lead

ST. LOUIS (CP)—A 33-year-old left winger who has played in every professional hockey league in North America has put St. Louis Blues within one game of the Stanley Cup finals.

But coach Wren Blair of Minnesota North Stars says his club isn't finished yet.

Bill McCreary, who bounced around in the minors for 12 seasons after two years with New York Rangers between 1953 and 1955, batted in a pass from Gerry Melnyk at 17:27 of sudden-death overtime Monday night to give the Blues a 3-2 verdict and a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven, National Hockey League finals.

"I had the whole side of the net to shoot at and I just popped it in," McCreary said in the dressing room after St. Louis won its second consecutive overtime victory.

"I sat on the bench for most of the first two periods, so maybe I was a little fresher."

The Blues rallied from a 3-0 deficit in the third period Saturday to win 4-3 in overtime on Gary Sabourin's goal at 1:32, but Blair doesn't believe it is the end of the season for the North Stars.

"The balance of the ice is the big thing now," Blair said. "St. Louis needs to win Wednesday in Minneapolis and we need to win here Friday. It's as simple as that."

The sixth game of the series will be played in Minneapolis Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. PDT and will be televised over Canada's CBC national network.

CESARE MANIAGO

WREN BLAIR
. . . still hoping

Bowman Gives Credit to Young Legs

The winner moves into the finals against Montreal Canadiens, who have eliminated Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks.

McCreary also had praise for Cesare Maniago, the Minnesota goalie who stopped 52 shots—16 in overtime.

"You just couldn't play against better goaltending," McCreary said.

"Anytime a man makes over 50 saves he just has to be great."

From a veteran who has played in the American, Western, Eastern and Central Professional leagues, that's a compliment.

WAITS FOR BIG ONE

"It looked as if they were playing a man-to-man game waiting for the big break," he said.

Coach Scotty Bowman of St. Louis credited the young legs of Sabourin and Terry Crisp with giving the offence a lift.

"It was our young legs that did it, people like Sabourin and Crisp.

"Now all we have to do is be careful."

Sabourin and defenceman Bob Plager scored the other St. Louis goals. Walt McKechnie and defenceman Bob McCord scored for Minnesota.

Blair's most effective line in the series—Milan Marcetta, Dave Balon, and Bob Goldsworthy—was on the ice for all three St. Louis goals.

The Blues led 2-1 at the end of the first period, but McCord tied it up in the second with a lazy flip shot from the blueline.

"They had a couple of lucky goals, and the second was the toughest" Bowman said.

"It was an innocent play, but McCord was on the net.

"The shot hit me on the hip," said Glenn Hall, the St. Louis goaltender. "It went between my hip and my arm."

FULL OF DRIVE

The Blues, who outshot Minnesota 11-5 in the scoreless third period, came out in the overtime as if they had taken pep pills in the intermission.

Maniago drew applause from the 11,391 fans for his spectacular performance. He was shaken up in a goal-mouth scramble at 5:47 of the overtime, but came back to make tremendous saves as his defence melted in the humid atmosphere.

"Cesare was just tired and a little winded," Blair explained. "Who wouldn't be."

"When Maniago's hot, there's nobody better, especially on shots from the point," Bowman added.

The 33-year-old bachelor coach said the win was particularly important to St. Louis because it gives the Blues the home ice advantage.

"And Arbour (defenceman Al Arbour) and Harvey (veteran Doug Harvey) are about ready to come back," he said.

"Then we'll have six defenceman again."

Arbour suffered a bleeding charley horse in the second game in Minneapolis last week and Harvey pulled a groin muscle Saturday.

Coach Crushes Talk of Sweep

WINNIPEG (CP)—"We'll take it four straight," said high-scoring Clement Tremblay of Victoriaville Tigers in the dressing room after his club bounced St. Boniface Mohawks 6-2 in the first game of a best-of-seven Allan Cup final Monday.

"Don't say that," warned Tiger coach Lou Polliquin, who felt that his club had played a worse game than in its 6-1 loss to Corner Brook, Nfld., on the eastern playoff trail.

The Tiger coach, unhappy with his team's performance, looked at the win cautiously:

"Maybe the Mowhawks were like us and didn't play too well tonight, I don't know. We didn't play hockey tonight. The only one who played good was the goaler."

Goalie Claude Hardy handled 47 shots and broke almost every drive Mohawks managed to get going, particularly in the second period when St. Boniface held a two-man advantage for almost a full minute.

COUNTS HIS 20th

Brian Elwell clicked on two goals and an assist for Victoriaville in the sometimes-rough game which slowed down perceptibily in the latter stages. Adding singles were Tremblay, his 20th of the long playoff trail, John Mentis, Jocelyn Hardy, and Larry Drouin.

Beating goalie Hardy for singles were Lorne Bodanski and defenceman Tom Marshall, who also assisted on Bodanski's goal.

Aime Allaire, Mohawks manager, conceded that "it was a bad game for us. But they aren't as good as I had thought they were."

Junior Sportsmen To Meet Tonight

The newly-formed Junior Division of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association is holding a general meeting at the University of Victoria student union building tonight at 7.

On the agenda will be an election of a club executive and discussion of possible activities.

A film showing will also be included in the meeting.

PRAISE FOR BRUINS

Broncs Sidelined In Four Straight

ESTEVAN, Sask. (CP) — The Abbott Cup, emblematic of junior hockey supremacy in Western Canada, went to the Estevan Bruins Monday night after a 12-1 verdict over the Penticton Broncos.

Some 1,200 fans watched the Bruins end 10 years of trying by taking the best-of-seven series in four straight games.

The Bruins were prodded by the single Penticton goal, the first of the game, scored by Adrian Blais at 2:45 of the first period. Then Estevan exploded, making it 3-1 at the end of the period, doubled their score by the end of the second and then doubled it again in the third.

Jim Harrison led the Bruins with four goals while Tommy Mitchell and Ernie Moser each scored twice. Brent Taylor, Danny Schock, Bob Piche and Dale Hoganson added singles.

The Bruins picked up four of the six minor penalties.

The win was the 20th for the Bruins in 23 playoff games this season. They have two ties—both with other Western Canada Junior Hockey League clubs—and one defeat at the hands of the Westfort Hurricanes.

Despite the one-sided scoring, the Broncos didn't relax during the game.

The Bruins won the third game 6-1, the second game 5-4 and the opener 3-0.

"They've got a great hockey team," said Penticton coach Jack Taggart. "We tried and the guys worked their hearts out. It would have been a tremendous shot in the arm for hockey in the Okanagan if we could have won just one game."

Estevan now meets the winner of the Verdun-Niagara Falls series for the Memorial Cup.

ROBERTS BANK SITE ADJOINS WATERFOWL SANCTUARY

Russians Suggest Shifting Snow Geese Because of Superport

By AL EATON

VANCOUVER (CP) — While federal and provincial officials negotiate who will own and operate a 5,000-acre port and industrial site near here, Canada's largest wintering waterfowl population and a 52-year-old treaty are in jeopardy.

The proposed port, designed to handle super-size cargo ships, adjoins the B.C. waterfowl sanctuary, wintering ground for upwards of 100,000 ducks, snow geese, trumpeter swans and other migratory birds.

For decades, the Roberts Bank area has been a migratory and wintering habitat for the waterfowl population of northern Alberta, interior British Columbia and Alaska. The B.C. Waterfowl Society opened the sanctuary in 1964.

This year, the federal and provincial governments announced plans for the superport, 20 miles south of Vancouver. It is a long-range development program that begins next year with the shipping of thousands of tons of coal to Japan from the B.C. Kootenay region.

Conservationists and wildlife officials employed by the two governments are reluctant to discuss effects of the port on the sanctuary.

But the Russians have recommended shifting the snow geese breeding population to Siberia.

Adding to the situation's complexity is the Migratory Bird Treaty of 1916 between Britain (signing for Canada) and the United States.

Under terms of the treaty, Canada must preserve breeding and migration areas to maintain an optimum number of migratory birds in North America. Roberts Bank is considered to be a key portion of the high-quality habitat which waterfowl biologists are unwilling to lose.

Directors of the sanctuary are optimistically proceeding with plans for a three-storey tower building that will cost $100,000 and give visitors a bird's-eye view of the reservation.

Robert Harris, a director of the society, which planned the building before the port project was announced, says the 900-acre sanctuary will become a public attraction to rival Vancouver's Stanley Park zoo and aquarium.

The society has provided ponds amid thick rushes for nesting grounds and built a dike and ditch system to prevent racoons from killing birds and eating eggs.

Included in future plans are a public access road, parking lot and full-time sanctuary manager. The tower building will have a coffee shop, bird observatory and laboratory equipment for visiting biologists. It will be elevated with waterways running beneath it.

R. V. Kirkby, president of the society, said the area, when completed some time next year, will be able to accommodate 500 people at a time.

"We now have 130 display birds in cages and many wild birds are beginning to fly in," said one official.

Hugh Monahan, vice-president of the society, said in a recent letter to L. R. Talbort, vice-chairman of the National Harbors Board:

"It is appreciated that at certain times compromises between biologists and industry are necessary, but for each compromise another piece of natural habitat is lost.

"The question is, where will it end?"

TEE TOPICS

By Ernie Fedoruk

The way the caddies were talking it up, one would think Bernie Ball and Jeff Pinniger are next Sunday's finalists in the Times Island Open windup at Gorge Vale.

At that, it might be a great final especially if words, and not putts, counted.

Pinniger's uncle Bill won the Manitoba Amateur championship once, and those impressive credentials earned Jeff the right to caddy for defending champion Vaughan Trapp to his victory over Laurie Carrol.

Ball's claim to fame is a hole-in-one that has never yet been credited to him. The first report of his ace was credited to an "Ernie Ball." The papers tried to remedy the mistake and, on second try, the hole-in-one went to "Bernie Bell."

Bill Wakeham has no problem getting his name into the paper and, possibly hoping that justice may be served some day, uses Ball as his caddy. Bernie was large as life Sunday when Wakeham defeated Earl Davies in Sunday's other important game at Royal Colwood.

With the semi-final chores now completed, Ball and Pinniger are concentrating on next week's final. Each is convinced his man will be the best one after it's all over.

How the caddies feel is not important. Still, their staunch, one-sided beliefs are setting a tone that will prevail throughout the week. There hasn't been such a division of opinion for a final in quite some time.

Trapp, for example, said after his semi-final victory that he "has been looking for this game (with Wakeham) for three years."

The final is billed as a match-play affair. But don't be surprised if you see every putt holed out. The way both of them feel, there may be no "gimmes" Sunday and the Island Open final may become, unintentionally, a medal event.

★ ★ ★

Dick Munn's victory over Bob Cox in the Vancouver City match-play final was a welcome bit of news.

Wakeham, especially, expressed delight that Munn, his greatest rival in their junior days, achieved the victory.

"This is one of the best things that could happed to Dick," said Bill. "I'd say it's a bit of a breakthrough . . . Now just watch and see if he doesn't pick off a few more tournaments . . ."

Munn has certainly changed his attitude on the putting green. Putting was one of Munn's weaknesses, but recently he has shown a positive attitude towards work on the greens.

Obviously, it has paid off.

SHORT PUTTS: The Pacific Northwest Golf Association's senior championship will be played at Royal Colwood June 12-14 . . . The field is limited to 112 players . . . Also submitted as a reminder, the Mid-Island junior tournament at Nanaimo (May 20) and the Northwest lefties' gathering at Tacoma June 1-2 . . . There's talk of an interesting lefty-righty tournament, to be staged in the Victoria area later this summer . . . Uplands members bowed to Nanaimo, 27½-12½, in an inter-club match at Nanaimo at the weekend . . . Jack Lewis, a 20-year-old Wake Forest University junior, bombed veteran U.S. amateur Jack Hyndman 7 and 6 in the North and South Amateur final at Pinehurst . . . But the result wasn't so surprising when one considers the youngster had 16 one-putt greens over the 30 holes played . . .

It's been about seven or eight years since anyone mentioned Ron Cush's name . . . But the one-time Victorian has turned up in Florida and is trying to win a PGA players' card . . . Newest place to play is the Parkland par-three course on West Saanich Road . . . Mayor Hugh Curtis will belt out the first ball Wednesday . . . The course is the pet of Art Willis.

Carmichael Sets Pace For Riflemen

Victoria's Gil Carmichael brought in top honors at the Vancouver Island Shooting League centre-fire high-power rifle match Sunday at the Esquimalt Lagoon range of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association.

He captured high gun of the day and first place in the master classification with a score of 279 — 7X.

John Howett, Bob Kirk, Jim Gougen and Wayne Zaccarelli of Victoria teamed up with a 1006 — 17X to take the "A" team title while another Victorian, John Hewett won the marksmen class with 250 — 3X.

Nick Mieras of Nanaimo Fish and Game Club outshot opponents for top honors in the expert class and clubmate Fred Fitzgerald nabbed the tyro title. Mieras, Fitzgerald, Hector Caillet and John Homan captured the "B" team award for Nanaimo.

FIVE TEAMS ENTER

Earl La Forge of Valley Fish and Game completed the winners list with first out of the sharpshooter competition.

Five teams entered a total of 56 individual riflemen in the three-position match at 200 yards under rules of the National Rifle Association.

Other teams competing were the Campbell River Rifle Club, Parksville Fish and Game Club, Barnet Rifle Club, Chemainus Rifle Club and the Powell River Rifle Club.

Bombers Lose Pair of Stars

WINNIPEG (CP) — Kenny Ploen and Winnipeg Blue Bombers football fans have been through thick and thin together for 11 years.

The 32-year-old quarterback, who led Bombers to six Western Football Conference titles and Four Grey Cups, announced Monday his retirement.

With him went tackle Frank Rigney, also 32, who followed Ploen from the University of Iowa 10 years ago. They are leaving the game to concentrate on business careers.

They each leave, as coach Joe Zaleski puts it, "a helluva pair of shoes to fill."

Ploen, fresh from a Rose Bowl victory, was named all-star Western quarterback in 1957. He was all-star defensive back in 1959 when he yielded the quarterback slot to Jim Van Pelt for a year. In 1965 he was a national all-star.

LOGICAL CHOICE

He said quitting now was the "logical choice." He has an elbow problem and missed some of last season with a shoulder injury.

Rigney, who admitted to a back problem, said continuing to combine two careers "would be unfair to the company I represent as well as to the football club."

He is an insurance company executive and Ploen is sales manager for the corrugated box division of a major paper firm. Both are married with three children.

Rigney, at 6-foot-4 and 248 pounds, was seven times an all-star. He was voted Canada's outstanding lineman in 1961.

Ploen holds the club passing record with 16,470 yards gained on 1,084 completions in 1,916 attempts. His 56.8 per cent completion record resulted in 119 touchdowns.

Humber, Coxworth Test Defending Golf Champs

It was a battle of clubmates at Uplands Golf Club today in the feature match of the quarter-final round of the annual Victoria and District women's two-ball tournament.

Lil Thirlwell and "Mike" Price, defending champions and medallists in this year's tourney, were facing the challenge of Uplands partners Phyl Coxworth and Marge Humber in the 18-hole match-play test.

Mrs. Thirlwell is also an Uplands member while Mrs. Price, who formerly played at Uplands, now represents Royal Colwood.

In other championship matches, A. Thomson and E. Young faced A. Holman and L. Budden, J. Fall and E. Jackson tested B. Stevenson and C. Holland, and J. Lovitt and K. Tribe went against G. Sluggett and J. Lake.

All came through with victories Monday as the first round was played at Victoria Golf Club.

Barlow Tops All-Star Poll

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Bob Barlow of Rochester, Providence's Eddie Kachur and Bill Needham of Cleveland were named on every ballot in the voting for the American Hockey League All-Star team.

Barlow, a left winger who played the previous season with Victoria Maple Leafs, topped the voting with 34 out of a possible 40 points. Kachur won the right-wing spot with 33 points and Needham, a defenceman, had 32.

The rest of the All-Star team has Jerry DesJardins of Cleveland in goal, Ron Ingram of Buffalo at defence and Mike Nykoluk of Hershey at centre.

Voted to the second team were goalie Bob Perreault of Rochester and Jim Morrison of Quebec, centre Dave Creighton of Providence and wings Simon Nolet of Quebec and Roger DeJorday of Hershey.

You don't have to compromise when Cortina offers economy and performance like this for $1995.*

Sporty performance!
Cortina's a hot one. It keeps on racking up wins in all the major world rally events! First place in the Shell 4000 two years in a row; 25 National Championships; and more than 500 first place finishes in world-wide rally and race events. Now Cortina's new bowl-in-piston engine design with cross-flow head gives you even snappier acceleration (16% snappier, in fact!), a smooth relaxing ride, and superb handling.

Real economy!
For all its performance, Cortina is still economical. Up to 35 miles to the gallon consistently! That low, low purchase price! And low insurance rates, too. But there's all the luxury you could want: body-contoured bucket seats are standard as is rich luxurious carpeting, and plenty of arm-stretching roominess!

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price, Port of entry, Vancouver for the Cortina Deluxe 2-door sedan with all standard features, including heater and defroster. Provincial and local taxes, license and shipping charges not included.

Complete choice!
When you go into the dealership, you can choose from two and four-door sedans, spacious wagons, and of course the thrilling Cortina GT. Engine choice: perky 1300 cc, powerful 1600 cc, or the rip-roaring GT 1600 cc. Choose either the sporty 4-speed floor-mounted fully synchromesh manual transmission or the optional automatic transmission.

Don't compromise!
Every Cortina comes fully equipped with all the standard Ford safety features—features you won't find on a lot of other imports! Features such as foot-operated headlight dimmer, 4-way emergency flasher, dual braking system, and 2-speed wipers. And you have the convenience of service at any Ford or Mercury dealer anywhere in Canada. So with all this going for Cortina, don't compromise with anything else. Come on in now and have a look at the most exciting family sports car in the world.

U.K. House Recordings Likened to Comedy Show

By CY FOX

LONDON (CP) — Some spoke of Shakespeare, others of the Goon Show.

But critics generally seem impressed by a new closed-circuit radio offering from the BBC—recorded debate featuring Britain's House of Commons.

One listener to the Monday presentation cited the Goon Show, a BBC comedy series full of raucously weird effects, as he strove to describe what were called "the shouts, growls, roars" accompanying debate on the controversial race relations bill.

Another stretch of discussion was likened to the same classic of radio comedy, this time imagined as superimposed on a storm scene from Shakespeare's King Lear.

MENTIONS HOGG

Among the press commentators, The Guardian's parliamentary correspondent rhapsodized over the performance of Quintin Hogg, a big man on the opposition front bench.

"The sound of Mr. Hogg laughing at one of his own jokes, emerging through the microphones like the sudden tearing of calico, was not something the listener would want to miss," he wrote.

The edited recordings were played Monday strictly for parliamentary personnel and made up the first of a series to be piped through the Commons radio circuit during the next three weeks.

On the basis of parliamentary reaction, the House services committee will decide whether to recommend public broadcasts of proceedings.

The recordings, to be played for parliamentarians the day after actual proceedings, will include committee sessions and House question periods as well as full-scale debates.

The experiment could cost more than $10,000. Up to now, broadcasters have been limited in their actuality coverage of Parliament to such ceremonial occasions as session openings.

TRY OUT TV

Experiments have been going on in the House of Lords with television.

The Guardian's verdict on the radio trial is that samples heard "were certainly not boring."

Plans call for excerpts lasting 15 or 30 minutes.

The 30-minute span seemingly is regarded by some as too short for dramatic occasions such as the race debate, which captured the national spotlight last week.

Top party spokesman in the race discussion were given up to seven minutes of radio time each, lesser lights a fraction of that.

BRIDGE RESULTS

Winners of the weekly game of the Monday Duplicate Bridge Club:

Helen Ryan and Ron Smith; Ray Langford and Mel Carlow; Anne Dye and Peter Herold; Marianne Powell and Derek Ward; Marjorie Mulcahy and Fran Champion tied with Dorothy Jennings and Margaret McAvoy.

CHANGE OF HEART BEHIND IRON CURTAIN

Czechs Blame Russia for Red Terror

PRAGUE (CP) — A former Czech secret police chief declared Sunday that Soviet dictator Joseph Stalin personally ordered the 1952 purges of Czech Communist leaders and sent his deputy, Anastas I. Mikoyan, to Prague to supervise the show trials.

Stalin's role in the trial of the former Czech party's secretary-general, Rudolf Slansky, and 10 other leaders who were hanged on charges of treason and espionage was described by Karol Bacilek, one-time minister of national security, in the latest of a series of reports describing the Soviet Union as the instigator of Czech post-war Communist terror.

Bacilek, who himself was fired a year after the Slansky trial said the then Czech leadership objected to Stalin's purge orders but finally gave in under pressure and staged the trials.

STALIN'S ORDERS

In an interview published in the newspaper Smena of Bratislava, Bacilek said Mikoyan was sent to Prague as early as 1951 to relay Stalin's orders to President Klement Gottwald.

"Mikoyan complained that while Poland and Hungary were then staging trials against 'Titoist' elements, there were no such trials in Czechoslovakia . . . although the centre of Titoism was supposed to have been here," Bacilek recalled.

He said Mikoyan, after having been turned down by Gottwald, telephoned Stalin from the Soviet Embassy in Prague and then told the Czechoslovak leaders "Stalin insisted on the trials."

In June, 1948, the Kremlin read Yugoslavia out of the Communist family because of President Tito's independent brand of communism. The rift has long since been healed. On Sunday, Tito was a cordially received guest in Moscow.

PARTY CHIEF

Bacilek's statements also strongly implicated the former Czech president and party chief, Antonin Novotny, as one of those leaders immediately responsible for carrying out Stalin's orders. Novotny was ousted from his government and party functions during the shuffle earlier this year but still holds membership in the Communist party's Central Committee as leader of a Stalinist bloc.

Bacilek said Novotny made Slansky's personal files available to the security ministry.

Bacilek said 26 Soviet "advisers" working in every department of the security ministry were involved in the Slansky case. They personally supervised interrogations of Slansky, former Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis, who was executed, and other prisoners.

BRINK OF DEATH

The Russians eventually took complete charge of the investigations and questioning and "Comrade Novotny said 'I do not care what happens at the trial because the Soviet advisers are the real judges'," Bacilek said.

Czech Interior Minister Josef Pavel revealed Saturday he was one of the victims tortured to the brink of death by a man found hanged in a Prague apartment Friday.

The hanged man was Dr. Josef Sommer, 58, who worked as a doctor in Prague's Ruzyne Jail during the purges.

PAINT HITS SPEAKER BUT HE IGNORES DRIP

EDMONTON (CP)—Dr. James Endicott, chairman of the Canadian Peace Council, was showered with red paint Saturday while speaking to Vietnam war protestors from the steps of the legislative building.

Dr. Endicott had just got warmed up to his talk about urging cessation of U.S. bombing in North Vietnam when a young man ran up the steps and heaved paper bags containing paint at him.

With paint dripping from his face and back, Dr. Endicott did not interrupt his speech except to ask his colleagues not to "harm the misguided paint thrower" who was caught and turned over the police.

The man was not charged.

Dr. Endicott's speech climaxed an orderly march by about 300 persons through downtown streets to the legislative buildings.

"The rising tide of opposition to the war makes us take heart," he told the marchers organized by the Edmonton Committee to End the War in Vietnam.

Anti-Soviet Shield Missile Defence Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. defence department's chief scientist has provided the first official acknowledgement that the $5,000,000,000 U.S. defence planned against any Chinese missiles also is a first step toward an anti-Soviet shield.

Dr. John S. Foster, director of defence research and engineering, told the Senate armed services committee the proposed anti-ballistic missile system, called Sentinel, could be the foundation for an expanded defence against the Soviets.

Foster made clear, however, that current U.S. plans and capabilities are only to try to handle the rather rudimentary missiles China is expected to have in the early 1970s.

Former defence secretary Robert S. McNamara told the same group the Sentinal system was technically capable of intercepting Soviet missiles but only in small numbers.

As he had repeatedly since last fall's announcement on the ABM decision, McNamara emphasized the anti-Chinese character of the system.

Testimony by both men came in early February but was publicly released recently.

Force Urged To Persuade South Africa

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Uganda, Somalia and Ethiopia told the 124 nation United Nations General Assembly on Monday it should call on the Security Council to force South Africa to yield control over Southwest Africa.

Endalkachew Makonne, Ethiopia's representative, asked for strong recommendation to the 15 nation security council that it take steps without delay to make South Africa comply with various assembly resolutions.

Chief of these is an October, 1966, decision to terminate South Africa's old League of Nations mandate over South-West Africa, a former German colony.

South Africa has said the decision is illegal and refused this month to let the 15-member UN Council for South-West Africa enter the territories.

The Security Council, of which Canada is a non-permanent member, is the UN organ which has responsibility for world peace and security.

Abdulrahim Abbyfarah of Somalia said South Africa is proceeding with plans to divide South-West Africa into so-called home lands to facilitate its absorption in defiance of the UN.

Otema Allimadi of Uganda proposed the assembly seek a ban on all political, military and economic dealings with South Africa.

NAMED president of the 200-member Association of Canadian Advertisers is James William Baldwin, 40, a marketing executive employed by Imperial Tobacco Co. in Toronto.

Park Transfer Plan Hits Snag

If the city of Victoria can't find a way to transfer Thetis Lake Park to the regional district it should close it to the general public Ald. Clyde Savage said Monday.

He made the statement as two aldermen hesitated to approve the transfer of the park for a $100,000 price to the regional district.

Last Wednesday Mayor Hugh Stephen, with the unanimous support of Victoria council's group B committee, offered the park to the district for the nominal sum of $100,000.

In making the offer he said that providing his full council agreed with the move the city would continue to maintain the park and would also spend some $34,000 on urgent capital works projects.

But when the item hit full council in budget-cutting sessions Aldermen Percy Frampton and Robert Baird balked at the move.

Ald. Baird said he couldn't see the point of carrying out a capital works program and then handing it to the district although he said he was strongly in favor of the area being designated a regional park.

Ald. Frampton agreed.

"I certainly think the regional district should have it, but to let it go for $100,000 and then spend $84,000 (the combined three-year maintenance and improvement cost) on it doesn't sound right to me."

Mayor Stephen said that in effect the city was giving the park away to eliminate a continuing maintenance cost to the city.

"It has always seemed a little ludicrous to me that the city should spend all this money (maintenance alone costs in excess of $15,000 a year) on a park which is really a regional park," he said.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay moved that council endorse the mayor's action but failed to get support from other council members who felt a special meeting should be convened to discuss all aspects of the transfer.

SPECIAL STUDY

Ald. Clyde Savage went along with the special study session but warned fellow council members that he intended to take a tough line if the park costs are not soon removed from the city's shoulders.

"As a city we obviously can't afford this park," he said. "And if we can't afford it we should close it down."

"Would you like to go on record as saying that?" asked Mayor Stephen.

"Yes, I'll go on record," answered Ald. Savage. "It is a regional park and should be a regional responsibility."

Earlier Ald. Savage had made a tongue-in-cheek suggestion that if the status of the park continued as it is "possibly we should start charging admittance fees to everybody who doesn't live in Victoria."

THREE YEARS

On Wednesday the regional district board agreed to pay $100,000 for the park if the city would continue its $15,000 a year maintenance program for three years and carry out the building of new changerooms and a comfort station for $21,900 and a sewage system for $7,000 plus minor items bringing the new work total to $34,250.

While optimistic that when council gets down to detailed study the transfer proposal will go through, council decided to play it safe and tabled for a final decision expenditures totalling $28,900 for the change rooms and the sewage project.

If council vetoes the mayor's suggestion the only work to be done at Thetis in the future will be limited maintenance.

Education Bill Up Three Mills

DUNCAN — Education will cost the city of Duncan and North Cowichan municipal ratepayers an extra three mills this year.

Cowichan school board Monday approved its $3,700,875 budget after receiving confirmation of it from the education department.

The $2,504,342 to be raised locally is divided $1,427,833 to North Cowichan, $316,804 to Duncan, and $759,705 to the rural area.

Total school mill rate in the city and municipality is 35.54 and in the rural area 35.37.

The percentage to be raised locally, 69.93, is the same as last year.

Total budget last year was $3,200,000.

Board chairman Joseph Frumento said the increase is what he anticipated.

However, the board will ask the department for a breakdown of its non-shareable costs which at 9.27 mills is 4.52 milles higher than the provincial average.

Mr. Frumento said he realized Cowichan has over-entitlement in teachers and teacher aides but must also be high in other aspects and he wanted to know where.

'Consultations Waste of Money'

DUNCAN — Schoolteacher-trustee Terry Taylor Monday evening criticized the use of industrial consultants to assess the qualities of teachers.

"It's a waste of time and money to send teachers to industrial consultants.

"The questions they ask are not applicable to education. I know because I've been."

Cowichan school board has sent applicants for principal and vice-principalships to Stevenson and Kellogg, Vancouver, for assessment for the past four years.

Trustee Jack Efford said this type of investigation is not necessarily anything to do with teaching ability but is a general character assessment.

BRAINWASHED

Trustee Taylor told him: "You're brainwashed by a certain concern in the district (trustee Efford is employed at Crofton pulp mill) but I know this consultation process deters good candidates from seeking promotion because they refuse to attend these consultations.

"I'm certain the teaching staff of this district is not happy with this situation and it's time we stopped it.

"If you can't assess the quality of a teacher by his work in school, you're not going to tell from sending him to industrial consultants."

Chairman Joseph Frumento said the board is looking at these men for administrative posts and not as classroom teachers.

SIDEWAYS LOOK

The board had found the independent assessment useful in measuring a man from within the district against an applicant from outside.

Trustee Efford said: "Anyone who has a fear of this consultation technique has an inferiority complex and should be looked at sideways."

Trustee Taylor: "You're really brainwashed."

The consultant interviews cost $100 each, and the board agreed a committee should examine the procedure and bring forward a policy recommendation.

Praise for SFU

BURNABY (CP) — Computer-minded Simon Fraser University and its faculty is "adventurous beyond belief," says visiting Professor I. A. Richards, formerly of Cambridge and Harvard. Prof. Richards, author of 13 books on the teaching of reading, said he is impressed with the university's efforts to implement new teaching methods.

TROPHIES are all right, but hot dogs and pop are better. And this was the treat given the boys of Chemainus Rovers soccer team. Coach Al Lemmons felt they deserved a party after going undefeated through the Duncan and District Juvenile League and winning the playoff championship. The Rovers scored 54 goals and allowed only five in reply. Coach Lemmons and team captain Donny Bodger show off the league championship and playoff trophies. (Don Dingwall photo.)

Board Hiring Lawyer For Official

DUNCAN — Cowichan school board Monday unanimously resolved to hire counsel to defend schools superintendent Arthur Jones against a charge brought against him by dismissed teacher Kenneth Hasanen.

The charge, under the Public Schools Act, alleges Mr. Jones illegally disturbed a class being instructed by Mr. Hasanen.

It dates back to a November, 1967, incident following which Mr. Hasanen was dismissed by the school board for misconduct.

Monday evening board chairman Joseph Frumento said: "I wish to indicate the board's stand in this matter. It is our intention to represent Mr. Jones at this court case on June 4."

He's Put Zip Into History Of West Coast

By JAN GOULD

Few people get excited about the history of Canada's west coast because it has been presented in a dreary way, says Peter Caley.

The 48-year-old writer, who lives at 4327 Torquay, Saanich, has proved B.C.'s maritime history can match good drama in conflict, suspense and intrigue.

CBC Radio recently purchased his hour-long documentary-drama based on west coast sea otter trading days.

"Poacher's Honeymoon," will be broadcast on the national "Between Ourselves" program on Aug. 14 at 8:03 p.m. It also has been sold to the BBC for the Spottlight Drama program.

Now Mr. Caley has learned that his Canadian producer, Norman Newton, is interested in two more historical works.

An employee of B.C. Ferries, Mr. Caley became interested in the days when Americans, Russians and the British competed for the West Coast fur trade.

FIRST WHITE WOMAN

Fascinated by the voyage of the British "Imperial Eagle," he has concentrated his drama on the factual adventures of the crew, the ship and Captain Charles Barkley whose 16-year-old wife, Francis, became the first white woman seen by coastal Indians.

A shy, modest man with a tendency to view the world around him humorously and sometimes sardonically, Mr. Caley is not new to the writing game. He frequently sold television and radio scripts, many of them satirical, to the BBC prior to emigrating to Canada four years ago.

FIGHTER PILOT

A former mariner, RAF fighter pilot, deep-sea diver and sometime member of the Shanghai Volunteer Defence Corps, he first saw Victoria in 1935 when he was a 15-year-old ship's boy.

One of the roles in "Poacher's Honeymoon" is that of a young ship's boy aboard the Imperial Eagle.

"The common man? Yes, if you like," says Mr. Caley. "He's a good backdrop for the condescension of others in the play."

Mr. Caley believes in presenting facts "dramatically but accurately."

Researching used up Mr. Cayley's spare cash.

"If it hadn't been for the faith my wife has in my work and the interest shown by the producer, I'd have given up."

He consulted ship's logs as well as ship's journals, spent hours searching records in B.C. and Washington State archives and libraries.

When he ran out of cash once, he and his wife burned a table to keep warm. He found himself asking fishermen for rides anywhere along the West Coast.

"I had to see the area I was writing about. I wanted to write my play so that others would be able to see it too."

INSIDE OR OUTSIDE DUNCAN?

Mayor Wants Talks on New Mill Site

DUNCAN — Mayor Jim Quaife said today he is going to invite the directors of Cowichan Co-operative Ltd. to discuss with council the feasibility of rebuilding its feed mill within the city.

The mill was gutted by fire Sunday and water has been pumped into the ruins ever since.

The mill site at the corner of Queens Avenue and Duncan Street is zoned commercially. The mill is classified as light industry, having predated the zoning bylaw.

This will be the basis of discussion between the council and directors.

Mayor Quaife declined to say whether he wanted the mill rebuilt inside or outside the city.

But it is understood the consensus in council is that the feed mill should be relocated away from downtown Duncan.

On the other hand aldermen are concerned about the loss of tax revenue if the mill is rebuilt outside the city.

The mill has been one of the largest single assessments in Duncan for over 50 years.

$500,000 LOSS?

Cowichan Co-op. chairman Ridley Wilson said his directors have not had time to make a decision about rebuilding, whether on the present site or elsewhere.

He said he can't put a figure on the actual loss until there is a proper inventory and insurance appraisal.

Estimates of the damage have been as high as $500,000.

Meantime, the Co-op. is making temporary arrangements to supply its customers.

Manager Walter Taylor said few if any of the 32 company employees will be laid off.

"We are putting some of them to work in the hardware department and at other jobs, and there will be a great deal of cleaning up to do."

Fire department captain Glen Mackie said it is hoped to get bulldozers into action today to level the ruins and allow the entire grain and fertilizer contents to be thoroughly soaked.

The bulldozer operation has been delayed while the district fire marshal and insurance adjusters examine the building.

WALK IT OFF

A short, brisk 15-minute walk each day will burn a pound of fat a month — 12 pounds a year.

Money, New Members Saving Chamber

CAMPBELL RIVER — A fund-raising blitz among local businessmen has breathed new life into Campbell River Chamber of Commerce.

Over the past two years, the chamber has been beset with membership and legal problems that have threatened its existence.

One spokesman blamed its difficulties on apathy and said merchants were too busy making money to heed the chamber's distress signals.

"The chamber started from rock-bottom at the beginning of 1968," said president Glen Sommers, who was elected last June. "But this week we have more than reached our objective of $2,200 and we hope for $2,600.

"Our membership drive is also moving ahead. We have just signed up nine new members and now have a total of 64."

Recently, publicity chairman Don Elmore expressed concern about the "apathetic chamber" and said it was in danger of disintegrating.

HANDICAPPED CHILDREN'S PLAY SPOT TO OPEN IN JULY

$50,000 Grant Spurs Work on Kiwanis Camp

A grant of $50,000 has been made by the provincial government to the Kiwanis Handicapped Children's Camp at Lake Cowichan.

Tom Harvey, Kiwanis lieutenant-governor, said today the grant will enable the club to open the $120,000, 13-acre camp by July 15.

The project had been hampered by lack of money and construction had been delayed.

Mr. Harvey said construction will resume next week.

The provincial grant will be paid over four years.

Participating Kiwanis Clubs have pledged $40,000. They include all the Victoria clubs, plus Duncan, Lake Cowichan, Nanaimo and Courtenay.

Donations of materials and labor has helped reduce construction costs.

The first of its kind in Canada, the camp is being built by the Kiwanis Camp Society, a registered society representing nine V.I. Kiwanis Clubs and clubs from Port Townsend, Port Angeles, and Powell River.

The main portion of the camp will consist of two dormitories to accommodate 40 handicapped children and a staff of eight and a lodge with dining for up to 150.

Above the main lodge will be an apartment which will be the year-round residence of a camp custodian.

Facilities will also include an office, first aid room, tuck shop and baths and shower with separate facilities for dining room and kitchen staff.

Expansion has been allowed for in the site chosen for the dormitories and within a few years the camp is expected to accommodate 80 handicapped youngsters.

Although the camp will be used primarily in the summer months, construction is such that the buildings can be used throughout the year.

Arthur Mayse

B.C. Jockey Club has given Sandowners their first dose of spring horse-racing, and plaints received support my own conclusion that it was mighty doubtful medicine.

When there aren't enough steeds to round out a card — and when that same card is loused up with three and a half furlong conditioning romps masquerading as races—the cheated punter might just as well find more satisfying pursuits for a spare afternoon.

I do not suggest that the fall meetings of past years offered the best in racing. Some of the entries were obviously worn down by their too-long season, and as is the case with all small tracks, top-quality horses were few.

But the races were interesting, the weather, oftener than not, was good, and the distances gave the crowd a run for its money.

Perhaps in some future year, Jockey Club attitudes will be tempered by the presence in the field of healthy competition for the track dollar. When that time comes, though not likely before, Victoria may get a fair shake in this vexed matter of racing.

Meanwhile, here on my desk is a rectangle of pale-blue paper with Jean Drapeau's name and office as mayor of Montreal printed in large, dark-blue letters across the top.

Below, first in French, then thoughtfully in English, is this statement:

"I request the director of finance to register me on the monthly voluntary tax roll of Montreal for this amount included (an arrow indicates a dollar sign) and to send me an official receipt to the following address."

The slip is a "subscription" to Mayor Drapeau's non-lottery, a bold experiment which I touched on last week. At the time, I was doubtful whether any of these tokens had reached Victoria.

How many have, I've no way of knowing, but Robert Gray, 3820 Shelbourne, plucked two from an official-looking brown envelope that arrived in his mail a few days ago.

This surprised him, since he had made no attempt to get tickets. He believes his name may have been lifted from one of those lists that shouldn't really be released but, as we learned not long ago, are sold for healthy prices.

One of the tickets had Mr. Gray's name on a sticker attached to it. The other was uninscribed, and this one he has kindly turned over to me.

A check with the authorities reveals that while the Drapeau venture may not be legal, thus far it hasn't been declared illegal. So back it goes with two bucks from this voluntary Montreal taxpayer—and may Mr. Gray be lucky if I am not!

Oak Bay High School students, no slouches in giving help where needed, last year raised over $1,000 for educational facilities in developing countries overseas. This they did through a Slave Day, and now they are all set for another on Saturday, May 4, with proceeds earmarked for Cowichan Lake Camp for handicapped children.

Slaves, I'm assured, are cheerful, brisk and eager. They style themselves "jacks-of-all-trades," and in return for a donation to their project, will undertake just about any job you can think up for them. Their list includes baby-sitting, silverware polishing, car washing, fence, house or wall painting, furniture moving, housework, gardening, closet cleaning, dog and dish washing, though not simultaneously, and etcetera ad infinitum.

If you're interested in acquiring a slave for a day, phone 385-7221 during school hours; and evenings, 385-4921, 384-7439, 385-0828, 383-6287, 386-3626, or 382-2573.

So much for this day, except to note with regret the passing of my friend and one-time neighbor, Dave Hill. Dave, who served Station CKDA for almost 20 years, will be missed in our town.

Co-Insurance Hike Answer To Squeeze?

An increase in B.C. Hospital co-insurance from $1 to $3 per day might solve local hospital problems, a St. Joseph's board member said today.

Mike Griffin, a former city alderman, said the move would have meant an additional $300,000 income to St. Joseph's Hospital last year.

This would have cancelled the operating deficit, he said.

Mr. Griffin had earlier made the suggestion during a television interview when asked if he had any ideas how hospital financial problems could be solved.

UNREALISTIC

He said he put the idea forward as a personal opinion which had not been voiced by his board. He said the present $1 per day rate, payable by hospital patients in B.C. wards, was set about 20 years ago and has become unrealistic due to infation.

"It would be impossible to live at home for $3 a day, as far as most patients are concerned," he stated.

Mr. Griffin said he supposed, however, that there would be a danger the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service would reduce its contributions if the hospitals increased their earnings.

In recent days several officials at St. Joseph's have complained that BCHIS contributions toward operating costs are insufficient and as a result of repeated deficits, hospital reserves have been emptied.

As a result the hospital has begun to trim staff to essentials and has asked staff doctors to relieve nurses of paper work and relieve the emergency department of treatments which might be done in the doctors' offices.

REMEMBER, MIDNIGHT TONIGHT!

Today is the last chance for taxpayers to avoid penalties for late filing of income tax returns.

Any return mailed asd postdated before midnight tonight will be officially "on time." Safest strategy for late mailers would be to mail the envelope at the Post Office.

Returns handed over the counter at the federal tax office here Wednesday will be considered late.

If a return is late it is subject to a 5 per cent penalty plus 6 per cent interest from April 30 to date of payment.

Generally speaking any person who had earnings last year in excess of his exemptions, must file a return. Failure may bring prosecution and a minimum $25 fine plus the other penalties shown above.

19,000 EXAMS AND FREEDOM FOR 4,000

Examinations at the University of Victoria ended today, freeing close to 4,000 undergraduates for holidays, summer jobs and in some cases, summer studies.

An estimated 19,000 exams were written over the past two weeks in 309 of the university's 614 courses.

Four Months More Given Day Parolee

A "day parolee" from Wilkinson Road jail was sentenced to an extra four months today after he pleaded guilty to being unlawfully at large.

Graham Agate, 24, has seven months still to serve of an 18-month term for theft and possession of stolen goods.

Court was told Agate held a job in a downtown restaurant and was permitted to leave the prison each day and return after work.

WENT FOR DRINK

Friday he left jail but didn't show up for work.

He was arrested Monday walking on Douglas St.

Agate told the court he met some former inmates on his way to work and decided to join them for a drink.

Magistrate Ostler told the accused his action "discourages the whole program."

"You have certainly kicked your benefactors."

Trip to Hawaii In August For 4-H Pair

A 4-H exchange program has been arranged between the B.C. department of agriculture and the state of Hawaii.

Two members to be selected at the provincial 4-H competitions in July will visit Hawaii for 10 days in August.

The Hawaiian delegates arrived in Vancouver today and will visit Victoria Thursday. They are Cynthia Uyema, Leon Matsui, Charlotte Kanda and Fred Thronas.

In charge of the group is Jim Shigeta, state 4-H leader.

The group will return to Vancouver Thursday night after visiting the Legislative Buildings and other attractions in and around the city. Dave Freed, B.C. 4-H supervisor, will be in charge.

Regional Board Okays Grants For Hospitals

Largest Slice For Rest Haven

The capital region hospital district board has approved grants totalling $89,827 to five hospitals in the south Vancouver Island region.

The grants are still subject to approval by Health Minister Ralph Loffmark.

The grants are to take care of urgent hospital needs, pending a hospital construction program expected to be recommended by the Agnew, Peckham report on Wednesday.

The report will set out the over-all hospital needs for the area.

The grants were recommended to the board by the hospital advisory committee which expressed the hope a money bylaw for construction of hospitals would be submitted to ratepayers in the next few months.

'HOPEFULLY'

The committee noted it received urgent requests for additional grants, but felt that these could be deferred for a few months—"until hopefully a money building bylaw is submitted to ratepayers."

Rest Haven Hospital at Sidney received the lion's share of the total grant.

The board allotted $35,000 to the hospital—$15,000 for a boiler unit and $20,000 for X-ray equipment.

St. Joseph's Hospital, $20,000 for miscellaneous equipment and renovations; Mount St. Mary's Priory, $18,827 for fire escape, fireproof doors; St. Mary's Priory, $10,000 to cover costs for an initial survey and site study; Royal Jubilee Hospital, $6,000 for miscellaneous equipment.

Committee chairman Major J. B. Cumming said Rest Haven had to have a new boiler unit to keep it in operation.

"The unit should take care of the needs of the hospital for five years—until a new hospital is built for that area," he said.

Salary Talks Resumed At City Hall

Negotiations re-opened today between city hall and the Canadain Union of Public employees.

Only one field, pay increases for inside workers, remains to be settled.

City manager Dennis Young said this morning that negotiations are still in the conciliation officer stage. He declined comment on what the union employees are asking in the way of a raise.

Last week negotiations broke down when CUPE officials and the city's negotiating staff reached an impasse.

HOPEFUL

Mr. Young said he is now hopeful that today or Wednesday will bring a settlement.

An announcement from Vancouver Monday stated that Vancouver city hall inside workers had settled for a 6.67 per cent wage increase.

Victoria officials have made no secret of the fact that they are hoping for a 5 per cent settlement.

With wages for inside staffers still in dispute, city treasurer James Bramley told city council in budget session Monday afternoon that he had earmarked $70,000 in a contingency fund to cover a five per cent increase.

"That has to be just a guess at this stage," Mr. Bramley said. "Every one per cent over that will cost an additional $15,000."

June Start Scheduled On Rose St. 6-Laner

WHARF STREET SURVEY DELAYED TWO WEEKS

The $80,000 Wharf Street waterfront survey scheduled for presentation today has been delayed for at least two weeks.

The survey, conducted by a team of economists and destined to forecast the potential future of the area between Johnson, the Causeway, Government and Wharf, is being paid for by the federal government and the city.

City manager Dennis Young said the delay is regretable but unavoidable.

"All the facts are in, but it will take us a little while to sort them out and put them into the best presentable form," Mr. Young said. "I's just a matter of reviewing the information and making some specific decisions."

Council Refuses To Increase Business Tax

By JIM HUME
Times City Hall Reporter

Victoria city council Monday turned a unanimous thumbs down on a Victoria Visitors' Bureau appeal for a business tax increase.

In a brief to council two weeks ago the bureau had asked council to boost the business tax from 6.25 per cent of rental value to 7.25 to raise $50,000 for the promotion of conventions.

Council's rejection came in two phases, both equally firm.

The first came during discussion Monday evening of anticipated revenues from the business tax totalling $556,000 as compared with the $473,934 raised in 1967.

The revenue will be raised at the 6.25 per cent rate.

Ald. Percy Frampton called for a full study of business and trades licenses but agreed that the rate should remain the same for this year.

City manager Dennis Young was instructed to head a technical committee to bring in a full report and recommendations to council.

The second rejection came after 10 p.m. when Mr. Young reminded council it still had to formally dispose of the VVB brief before adjourning for the night.

"We did that when we held he business tax at 6.25 per cent," Mayor Hugh Stephen said.

"That is true," answered Mr. Young. "But the brief was referred to this committee and should be disposed of formally for the record."

"Well, I think we have already turned it down," the mayor replied. "The Chamber of Commerce isn't happy about this and is conducting an investigation and I have discovered that we have no power to impose a business tax on hotels and motels who are leading this appeal."

Earlier in the evening, when council was discussing a grant to the Canadian Urban Transportation Conference scheduled for 1969, Ald. Ian Stewart had called for more detail on matters handled now by Victoria which should be regional in nature.

"It is becoming increasingly obvious that there are a number of matters in this area which are becoming particularly regional in scope," he said.

"There is this one (the city agreed to grant the conference $2,000, Saanich has turned down the request), there are sewers, parks and tourism.

"On tourism I don't think anyone will argue the fact that the Swartz Bay ferry terminal serves the entire Saanich Peninsula in fact the entire regional district.

"Victoria is actually at the end of the highway, a highway which carries traffic to the benefit of all incuding the unorganized areas. Yet on so many of these things Victoria seems to be the only municipality recognizing this.

"On Saanich's refusal to contribute to the urgan transportation conference I am really amazed.

"God forbid the day when I should ever have to worry about where I live, but this transportation problem isn't something one municipality can solve and then say to its neighbor, 'okay we've solved our problem now you solve yours.'

"If I were a taxpayer living in Saanich and had only one family car I would be extremely alarmed at the transportation problem. I wish all aldermen in other areas were aware of the importance of this conference."

Mayor Stephen said there was little to be done by Victoria but once again go it alone.

"I think Oak Bay and Esquimalt will contribute to the conference," he said. "It is the first of its kind in Canada and is of vital importance.

"I think we should contribute the $2,000 and leave it to the conference to tell Saanich they're pikers."

23% Reduction In Tenders On Classrooms

The price of portable classrooms has plunged 23 per cent in the past year.

Greater Victoria school trustees opened tenders for 13 portable classrooms Monday night to find six of the seven bids were below the winning tender for a similar contract a year ago.

Lowest price came from Atco Industries of Calgary with a tender of $153,971, a base bid of $11,844 for each portable.

The board paid $210,656 for 13 portable class rooms a year ago or $15,512 each to Tecton Structures of Vancouver. Tecton was second lowest Monday night with a bid of $168,755.

UNDER LIMIT

The current low bid is well within the provincial government's imposed cost ceiling of $16,000. It will be checked by the board's building and grounds committee and then forwarded to the department of education for approval.

The prices indicate a "strong showing on the part of an aggressive and progressive prefabricated building industry," board chairman Peter Bunn said today.

The prefabricated construction field is one which can be geared to modern concepts, he said, and one educators must take a hard look at to see if it can produce shcools economically while incorporating modern concepts.

"If it's just a means of packing kids into plywood boxes then we're not talking about the same thing."

It would not be good enough to end up with an attractive building initially, said the board chairman, only to discover maintenace costs were high.

Term Suspended For Passing Nine Bad Cheques

A 36-year-old man was given a suspended sentence today for passing nine worthless cheques in a city department store.

Frank Krop, 36, of 839 Bay, earlier pleaded guilty to cashing the cheques totaling $175 at Woodward's between Oct. 11 and Jan. 3.

Magistrate Ostler said he had reservations about suspending sentence, but "I must point out again if prompt action had been taken after the first offence all of the subsequent offences would not have happened."

He placed Krop on a one-year $500 good behavior bond.

Local Student Wins With Thesis

David Morrow, son of Dr, and Mrs. Harold Morrow of 2592 Bowker Ave. in Oak Bay, has been awarded first prize in a competition open to undergraduate geology students across Canada.

He won the $100 award for his thesis dealing with Permian Limestone in the Dease Lake area of B.C.

Doctor's Bag Theft Admitted

A youth was to be sentenced later today for stealing a doctor's medical bag from a car Monday afternoon.

Frank Buddy Nelson, 19, of 225 Quebec, pleaded guilty to taking the bag and contents valued at $130.

Court was told the accused took the bag from the car of Dr. John Robinson, parked in the lot at the Cook and View medical building.

Tender Call In Late May Says Young

Construction will star in June on the six-lane highway through the Rose-Blanshard urban renewal area.

City manager Dennis Young said this morning tenders for the road building phase of the master plan will go out late in May and be returnable to city hall by June 27.

"The construction involves Rose Street from Bay Street north to Hillside," Mr. Young said. "Construction will start on schedule."

In the meantime the acquisition of private property in the area continues.

30 HOLDOUTS

Mr. Young said the property owner holdouts had now been reduced from 42 to 30 and he hopes the next two or three weeks will see that number reduced drastically.

"Everything is going very smoothly and I am still hopeful that the first houses will be going up this fall," he said.

Ald. Ian Stewart, concerned about provincial government delays in deciding how the 180-unit housing project will be designed and built, has a standing bet that the first houses will not be constructed before next spring.

Three Years To Re-Think His Strategy

A youth who tried to outwit Oak Bay police was fined $400 and prohibited from driving for three years today.

Carl Buckner, 18, of 2091 Chaucer, was fined $300 for driving while his licence was suspended, $50 for failing to give his name to police, and $50 for using the wrong licence plates on a car.

Court was told Oak Bay police stopped a car Buckner was driving April 6. Tickets were issued for mechanical defects, and Buckner proceeded.

FLED POLICE

Subsequent investigation showed Buckner had used someone else's licence as his was suspended March 11. He was also using licence plates for a different car.

When police arrived at his home three days later, Buckner fled and was apprehended lying beside a neighbor's car.

Police said Buckner told them he "didn't see how any cops could nail him."

"You must be surprised to see the police can catch you," Magistrate Ostler said.

"At least the police are honest. That's more than one can say for you."

DEAR ABBY . . .

Illness Causes Wedding Worries

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband is suffering from a terminal disease. His doctor refuses to speculate on how long he will live. His life could end suddenly or he could linger on for many months.

Our only son is to be married in six weeks. The girl's parents plan a large church wedding to be followed by an elaborate reception. Of course my husband will be unable to attend any part of it.

What position should I take? Would it be proper for me to enter into these festivities? Should I stand in the receiving line without him? Or still worse, what should I do if I am widowed shortly before the wedding day?

If it weren't for the fact that I am the only "family" our son has, I would be inclined to skip it all, even though my son hopes very much I will attend.

We don't know the girl or her parents well, so I don't feel free to discuss this with them.

NO JOY

DEAR NO: Don't anticipate anything. When the wedding day arrives, let circumstances — and your feelings dictate your actions.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to the young wife whose husband is overseas in the army and was told by her lady friends that he was cheating on her because "all men are alike": I'm glad you told her that all men are NOT alike because they aren't.

I am a sailor (they are supposed to be the worst kind) and I have been in the service for 13 years, having been in the Mediterranean and the Far East, and I can honestly say that I have been 100 per cent true to my wife.

If that army wife wants to believe her husband is true to her she shouldn't let those jealous old hens spoil her faith.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Invasion of Bottles Blow to Male Pride

By Penny Saver

It looked as if it was going to be a Blue Monday this week when our two sons appeared for breakfast. With typical male candor they soon told me what was on their minds. Like older members of their sex they have an aversion to women taking over their private domain and it appears that their two sisters had invaded the bathroom "with a dozen or so bottles of junk."

Hoping to get them in a better mood, I pumped them about the latest "junk" to be acquired by the girls. Disparagingly, they described the current female quirk, as they call it. "Girls, who figures them? When their hair gets shiny with oil they're forever washing it, drying it and setting it. Then, when it's all fixed up they spoil it all by spraying on this goo to make it shiny again."

My curiosity rose to the fore. First a shiner for the lips and now one for the hair. What will the teen-set find next! I approached my daughters with the questions and learned that the shiner is part of a new line of hair goods put out by a well-known company. This shiner is just what my sons said it was—not a holding spray or a setting lotion, but an aerosol spray that does nothing but make the coiffure shine. A seven-ounce can sells regularly for $1.75 but there is a special offer of $1.25 as long as the introductory stock lasts.

'Early Birds' Will Get the Bargains

This line of hair preparations includes a concentrated shampoo in a break-proof plastic tube. The four-ounce size sells for $1.75 regularly, but is $1.25 during the introductory special. The creme rinse comes in a four-ounce pastic jar and is $1.75, as is the conditioner which comes in a two-ounce package. The setting foam, also at $1.75, comes with an applicator nozzle. It is applied to the top of the roller and sinks through to reach the hair.

These hair preparations are keyed to one another and can be used in any combination for any kind of hair. While my daughters share many of the preparations, one finds the conditioner excellent for her hair problem while the other finds the rinse sufficient. Both, however, are enthusiastic about the new-as-new shiner.

Since the girls must buy their grooming aids out of a special allowance, I was amazed to find a fairly expensive hair spray among their toiletries. The elder gave me the reason. "It works without being particularly crunchy, Mom. And it conditions as it holds. I feel it is worth the few cents extra to protect my hair." She has a thriving career ahead in advertising! This hair spray is $2 for a six-ounce can and it is recommended for bleached or color treated hair as it contains a conditioner. It gives a good hold to fine hair while maintaining a natural, un-crunchy look. It comes both in firm and natural hold.

Please call me at 382-3131 if you would like to know where my daughters found these items.

NOVEL PROGRAM

Speakers Kept On Their Toes

In experimental mood, program chairman Mrs. D. E. Pite planned hidden assignments as part of the program when the Arbutus Toastmistress Club recently met. Having given out speech titles "Heritage," "Roads I Have Walked," "Styles" and "From Smoke Signals to Telstar" at the previous meeting, Mrs. Pite chose her speakers at the novel meeting, the theme of which was "Be Prepared."

Mrs. E. R. Ashbridge received 10 minutes' notice of her assignment as toastmistress. She called on the following speakers: Mrs. A. M. Clarkson, Mrs. C. M. Dowling, Mrs. L. R. Hammett and Mrs. G. H. Love.

Toastmistress Mrs. P. Small received no prior notice. She asked members to tell of interesting experiences connected with trips between Vancouver and Victoria on the old Canadian Pacific Railway ferries. She also gave a lesson on the duties of elected officers.

Commenting on the office of president, Mrs. Small said the chief task was to guide and inspire members by the officer's own example. Mrs. Small spoke of the need for a keen interest in the club and a wide background of knowledge of all the subordinate offices.

General evaluator Mrs. W. A. Ludlow awarded the oscar to Mrs. Love, Mrs. Hammett winning the spur.

Guests attending the meeting were Mrs. H. B. Bennett, Mrs. R. H. Hackney, Mrs. M. H. Reynolds and Mrs. P. C. Bocking.

Evaluations were given by Mrs. H. M. Butt, Mrs. G. L. Cook, Mrs. F. R. Morris and Mrs. Harry Winstone. The closing thought was delivered by Miss Mary Horan.

Will Demonstrate Japanese Art

Mrs. Henry Warkentyne will demonstrate the art of Japanese flower arranging when the Cordova Bay United Church Women meet this Thursday at 8 p.m. in the church hall. The meeting is open to visitors.

Those wishing to practise flower arranging should bring bowls or vases, frogs with sharp-pointed holders, long branches (over one foot in length) of flowers and greenery, or bare branches.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't Let Figure Defects Ruin Summer Fun

Lowman

Just a few pounds can make the difference between a truly lovely figure and one which is pleasingly (?) plump. Is this true of your figure? If so, why not banish those few surplus pounds quickly?

Some women have a great deal of weight to lose but lots of others allow only 5 or 10 pounds to sabotage their figures. Just these few pounds can greatly influence the way your clothes look on you and the way you feel in them.

My Nine Day Diet gives you a loss of from 5 to 10 pounds in nine short days. This week I am printing menus each day for the following day, as a part of my quickie Spring Makeover. The average woman will lose 6 or 7 pounds, although many lose as much as 10.

If you missed the menus yesterday or would like to have the complete diet in a little booklet, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Here are the menus for tomorrow:

MENUS

Breakfast

Half grapefruit.
One thin dry piece of whole wheat toast.
Black coffee.

Mid-Morning

Glass of tomato juice.

Luncheon

Green salad with lemon or reducing dressing.
One slice lamb roast (don't eat the fat).
One glass skimmed milk.
One thin dry piece of whole wheat toast.

Mid-Afternoon

Glass of tomato juice.

Dinner

One piece of lean meat, steak or roast (five or six ounces).
One-half cup squash (yellow preferable).
One-half cup string beans.
One glass skimmed milk.
One apple.

MRS. MARGARET FORDE

Banquet and a Reception For Provincial President

Mrs. Margaret Forde, president of the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia, made her official visit to her home lodge, Carne Rebekah Lodge No. 45, IOOF, recently.

A banquet was held in her honor at St. Andrew's Kirk Hall. At a meeting following the banquet, guests included John Brown, grand master, and W. D. West, deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of British Columbia; Col. A. F. Smith, department commander, Department Council Patriarchs Militant of British Columbia; Mrs. M. P. Hampton, past president and secretary, and Mrs. F. Smith, treasurer, Rebekah Assembly of B.C.

Other officers of the Rebekah Assembly were Mrs. G. Bone, Mrs. F. Matthew, Mrs. P. Payne and Mrs. J. Allison. The Hon. Isabel Dawson, minister without portfolio, was a speciial guest.

During the evening Mrs. Forde was presented with gifts from her home lodge, and a cheque for her project, establishment of self-contained low-rental units for senior members of the Order. Presentations were also made to Mrs. Forde on behalf of Victoria Lodge No. 1, IOOF, and Columbia Lodge No. 2.

Mrs. Forde's emblem, the golden chain, and her flower, the dogwood, were motifs used at the banquet and throughout the meeting. Refreshments were served under the convenership of Mrs. R. Barnes. Mrs. A. McCabe and Mrs. S. Foubister arranged the flowers for the evening.

Veterans' jewels were presented to four members at the meeting, which was attended by members from all over the province and from Washington.

Mrs. Forde was also honored at a reception the following afternoon.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Will Attend Banquet

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will attend the presentation banquet of the Victoria and District Soccer League, to be held at the Red Lion Motor Inn on Wednesday evening.

Membership Concert

Saturday evening was a memorable one for the near capacity audience attending the Canadian Mental Health Association Membership Concert in the McPherson Playhouse. Highlights of the all-request performance of Smile Show favorites were "If I should Lose My Job," "Captain George Vancouver" and "London Town." Special guests, among them Hon. W. D. Black and Mrs. Black, Mr. Eric Martin, Alderman and Mrs. C. Parrott and Mr. and Mrs. A. Porteous, were welcomed by Dr. R. E. L. Watson, president of the Victoria Branch of the CMHA. Dr. Watson spoke on Mental Health Week which starts Wednesday, saying it was a time for everyone to consider what mental health means to the individual, the family and the community. The performance was opened by Hon. W. D. Black, former minister of health services, who spoke of the need for membership in the organization. He commended the association for its involvement in community service and emphasized the need for more volunteer service when the Eric Martin Institute opens in Victoria in the fall.

A reception was held by the Executive Committee following the show for the special guests, volunteers and cast of the show. The 50th anniversary of the CMHA was the theme of the centrepiece, which was flanked by golden candles.

Travel Overseas

Most British Columbians visiting Europe make a point of calling at British Columbia House in London, England, to sign the visitors' book. Recent signatures include those of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Ruttan, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Parker, Mr. and and Mrs. Joe Ward, and Mr. F. L. Cammiade, all of Victoria; Miss Betty McLeod and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Smith, all of Port Alberni; Mrs. T. Eaton, Nanoose; Mr. Bruce Thornton Sharp, Duncan; Mrs. Dorothy Whittaker, Cowichan Station; Mrs. Audrey Judd, Nanaimo, and Miss Sally Mickleborough, Ganges, Salt Spring Island.

Reception and Show

A reception and private showing of the works of Mrs. Mary-Ellen Burgess was held in the Ferndale Road home of Major George A. Wiggan and Mrs. Wiggan on Wednesday evening. Assisting the hostess in serving the 75 guests were Mrs. Claudia Lidster, Mrs. Norman Ross and Mrs. John A. Dulmage. Mrs. Burgess retired as supervisor of drama and speech for the province of Saskatchewan four years ago. She began painting on retirement, studying for two winters at Carmel, Calif. She has spent the past winter in Victoria, studying with Mr. Brian Travers-Smith and other artists. At Wednesday's reception, held in Mrs. Wiggan's studio, were displayed works in water colors, oils, pen and ink and mixed media.

Roget's Thesaurus Provides Adequate Definition of the Lyrics

HOMEMAKER BLUES HARD TO SHAKE

By MAUREEN DUFFUS

There has been another outbreak of articles recently about how wrong-minded it is to admit that housework is boring.

The latest is even more intimidating, for it asks, right on the cover of the magazine, "Are you ashamed to be a homemaker?"

Ashamed, no — bored, yes.

Or, to put it several other ways, with the help of Roget's Thesaurus; Uninterested, weary, jaded, apathetic, lethargic, detached, perfunctory, lukewarm, tepid and tired.

Right here, I must make a very clear distinction between basic housework, which takes no talent, as opposed to being kind, sweet, gentle and helpful to husbands and children, which takes a good deal.

Sometimes I find the two roles incompatible.

NO TIGHT BUDGET

In a spirit of pure carping criticism, I should like to point out that all the women who tell us how gloriously creative housework can be, are out writing articles, for magazines and making lots of money.

Now, even I agree the housewife with lots of money can be creative.

She can, as the articles urge, buy new curtains and slipcovers and pictures and have her house redecorated to reflect her charming personality and impeccable taste.

On the other hand, my tatty slipcovers and frayed curtains (the last wash did them no good) do not reflect my personality or taste at all: they merely reflect my limited budget.

Another bonus for the happy homemaker mentioned in most of the articles is the freedom to plan her day as she chooses.

WHAT PRICE FREEDOM?

Freedom to plan to wash the kitchen floor as soon as the baby goes to sleep? Who wants it?

Creative cookery is a fine idea, if you've time left over from the edifying round of washing, vacuuming, tidying, dusting, ironing and — well you know what I mean. But how many children do you know who have greeted your gourmet efforts with polite silence or rude references to the superiority of peanut butter sandwiches?

At this point my editor will probably suggest a telephone poll to see if anyone agrees, but it wouldn't prove much because, (1) the pollees might be intimidated, and (2) I'd cheat by phoning my friends who, I happen to know, feel about the same way.

It occurs to me that some people might think we slobs are not even trying to use our free time constructively and creatively.

We do try. Just the other day I tried to create a wearable garment out of a five-year-old dress. Even if the last sewing machine needle hadn't broken in midseam, I doubt if anything very satisfying would have come out of it.

We try to keep up intellectually, too, don't we? I was reading about the disovery of DNA which I hear is terribly important scientifically, so I thought I should memorize wha' DNA stands for.

Dioxyribonucleic acid.

It's a lovely word, but so far I haven't been able to drop it casually into family discussions about what's going to happen to miserable sloppy children who leave their rooms looking like a sty any self-respecting pig would be ashamed of.

Of course there are women who honestly do find satisfaction in a beautifully kept home.

I, on the other hand find myself quite incapable of keeping my house tidy from stem to stern without getting into a foul temper about it.

I refuse, therefore, to be intimidated by the articles which suggest I'm a failure just because I find housework tedious, monotonous, dull, prosaic, humdrum, insipid, lifeless, unexciting, wearisome and boring. (Thank you, Mr. Roget.)

Guides, Brownies Selling Cookies

Throughout the Greater Victoria area and all across Canada the week of April 26 to May 4 is Girl Guide Cookie Week. Local Brownies, Guides and Rangers are going to the public to ask for financial support of the Girl Guide movement through the sale of cookies.

Funds raised by this intensive door-to-door campaign are directed toward leader training, camp maintenance, and the purchase of basic necessities for training and programming. A portion of the money goes toward the provincial fund to support the 80-acre Guide camp at Chilliwack, and to assist girls selected to attend national and international camps as part of their training.

Icebreakers Club Meets Wednesday

The Icebreakers Club of Victoria will meet in the Empress Hotel's Duke of Kent Rooom, Wednesday at 8 p.m., for a social get-together which will include bridge, canasta and the serving of tea and coffee. The meeting is open to all newcomers and visitors. Those wishing supper should be in the hotel's coffee shop at 6:30 p.m. Further particulars may be had by phoning either 385-7996 or 384-8359.

TIPS FOR HOME GARDEN

Tricks of the Trade

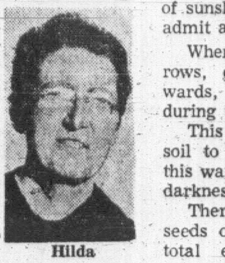
By HILDA BEASTALL

All kinds of little tricks can be practised by the home gardener to bring along vegetable seedlings.

In our slow west coast springs the garden soil is scarcely warm enough for seed sowing outdoors until the end of April, or sometimes well into May.



Hilda

However, the seed rows can be warmed by laying down a couple of inches of screened, well-rotted compost, well dampened. Sufficient of this material should be reserved for covering the seed.

The humus in the compost will hold warmth and moisture, both necessary for the germination of seed.

Until earwigs become active, the seed row may be covered with a piece of shiplap. This will conserve moisture during the day and warmth at night, but be sure to check beneath it twice a day for germination.

The glass cloches which were popular here in the late 1940s and early '50s are ideal for this coastal climate, for they trap every ray of sunshine, protect from wind and rain, yet admit air freely without draughts.

When water must be given to the seed rows, either before germination or afterwards, do the job with a fine hand spray during the morning hours.

This will allow time for the water and the soil to become warm before nightfall, and this warmth carries over for several hours of darkness.

There are no rules as to how often the seeds or seedlings will need watering. The total environment of your own garden determines this.

The more humus you are able to put into your seed rows the less time you will use in watering.

ECM Veto Linked To Pullout?

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Britain is quitting the space race in a decision that may bolster her treasury at the expense of European friendship. Questions are likely to be asked in Europe whether Britain can be considered as a serious partner in joint technological projects.

In 1961, Britain took the lead in persuading the Common Market countries to join with her in developing a European rocket-launcher program that one day might match the United States in ability to carry heavy commercial satellites into space.

Of an initial budget of some £70,000,000 ($182,000,000), Britain agreed to put up more than one-third with the aim of launching test satellites by 1966. But costs mounted and production timetables were stretched. Meanwhile Britain's efforts to gain Common Market membership failed.

PROGRESS INVISIBLE

This failure has led to British reappraisal of relations with Europe. Prime Minister Wilson pressed ahead with an offer of technological co-operation with those Common Market partners sympathetic to Britain's position. But this offer hasn't made much headway.

With Britain now almost completely preoccupied with domestic problems and, with George Brown, the man who led the Common Market campaign, having quit the foreign ministry, the British government's relations with the Continent appear to be somewhat equivocal.

Into this greyish atmosphere the British government now has dropped the bombshell that after 1971 it will no longer support the joint launcher program though it still will contribute to joint space research.

The experts immediately predicted that, without Britain's help, the program will have to shut down, giving the U.S. a virtual Western monopoly in space satellites on which future commercial broadcasting and communications are to be mainly based.

France and West Germany are building a heavy satellite known as Symphonie which was to have been carried by the joint launcher. These two countries may try to build a launcher of their own or be forced to buy one from the U.S.

DISTASTEFUL IDEA

President de Gaulle is unlikely to savor the idea of having to approach the U.S. on such a deal.

So far Britain has contributed more than £50,000,000 to the European launcher program. British newspapers said her withdrawal likely will leave the program in ruins and Britain with another international battle on her hands.

But another paper, The Financial Times, suggests that while the decision may be regrettable it may mean there no longer will be blind involvement in costly prestige projects with little or no economic justification.

Staggered Into Pit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A 59-year-old man was in serious condition today after he staggered into a lion's pit waving a wine bottle and was mauled by a 450-pound roaring lion. The beast, a five-year-old African lion, was killed with a single shot between the eyes fired by a zookeeper at the San Francisco Zoo.

The Wonderful World of Animals

By DR. FRANK MILLER

Now is the time, if you haven't started already, to begin to tone up your dog's skin to cut down or eliminate summer scratch sessions. By getting, and keeping, his skin in the best possible condition, the chances of his developing summer eczema or some other hot-weather skin problems are greatly reduced, if not eliminated. Preventative skin maintenance includes: (1 Daily removal of loose hair; (2) An effective anti-flea program, be it a flea collar, spray or powder; (3) Maximum nutrition (quality, not quantity). This includes adequate fatty acids from animal fat or special vegetable oils; (4) Keeping the skin free from accumulations of dirt, dandruff and what have you. Most dogs with a normal healthy skin handle this problem themselves and bathing is seldom required. Those that don't should be shampooed as frequently as necessary to accomplish this. (The shampoo should be mild, and the rinsing thorough.)

* * *

For the animal with a history of skin trouble, specific veterinary attention is in order. The doctor would examine the dog to check for general good health—specifically for glandular function, internal parasites and other skin-related conditions. He may recommend specific supplements, therapeutic shampoos at stated intervals, and other supportive treatment. Begun before skin conditions become severe, such a program helps to ensure a relatively scratchless summer. The time and expense invested now will pay dividends during the problem season which normally stretches from June or July through October.

* * *

DEAR DR. MILLER: Our cat, Electra, now six, has never been out of an apartment before but we are moving to a friendly suburb soon. A house and yard—the works! We want to be sure no harm comes to her so how long should we keep her in the house after we move?—G.R.

DEAR G.R.: Depending on Electra's life span, from five to 15 years.

* * *

DEAR DR. MILLER: When we visited my mother in-law, something tragic happened which I want to relate to you for your column. In this way, perhaps, some other puppy may be spared the same fate. What happened was our young dog knocked a bottle of aspirin tablets off the coffee table and ate some of them. We didn't know how many he ate but he seemed all right so we didn't think too much of it. Then he got awfully weak and we took him into the hospital. He died the next day and we were all sick about it. So I would like to suggest to people who don't have children and think about these things, that dogs can be poisoned by medicines, too. Medications should always be kept where no dog or other animal can possibly reach them.—G.A.

COMMENT: Anytime a pet does swallow human medicine of any amount the doctor should be contacted immediately. Don't wait until the animal has collapsed before taking him in for treatment. Let the doctor make the decision as to whether or not emergency treatment is indicated.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a World Book Atlas.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Mark Heller, age 10, of Monroe, Michigan, for his question:

Who started the Boy Scouts?

Every sensible man and boy knows that there is no better training in this world than the Boy Scouts. Every boy can and should join the fascinating organization. If you have a friend who is not a Boy Scout, refuse to listen to his excuses for not joining a scout group.

Sometimes a young fellow feels clumsy about talking to a grown man that he happens to respect and admire. Well, there is no need to feel small or way behind. Here is a trick that works every time. Just walk right up and ask the man whether he was a Queen's Scout. That question is guaranteed to break the ice between man and boy. Most probably he was indeed once a Boy Scout who tried hard, and maybe succeeded, in becoming a Queen's Scout. In any case, the ice is broken and man and boy have a whole world of experiences to gab about on an equal footing.

This, of course, is not the best of reasons for belonging to the Boy Scouts. Any halfway good and true Scout can list pages of better reasons. There are a few moments now and then between all those fascinating activities when a Scout can pause and wonder. And sooner or later he is bound to wonder who had the original idea and who set up the marvellous organization and got it rolling along.

He was born more than a century ago in the English city of London. Some of the English have two family names joined together with a hyphen. This man was named Robert Stephenson Smyth Baden-Powell—and he was a soldier. He served his country in India and Afghanistan for years. In South Africa he triumphed over impossible hardships and earned worldwide renown. Everyone respected the name of Robert Baden-Powell. Later he became Lord Baden-Powell.

Organized Camp

Like any good soldier, he was much more than a military man. He was concerned about the men who fought beside him. He felt that their schooling had not prepared them for the rigorous outdoor life they must face on the battlefield. And he did something about that. At the age of 50, he organized the first camp of Boy Scouts and planned a fascinating program for its 20 members. That was in 1907. The great plan began in a very small way, but it worked and what was much more important, everybody had a wonderful time making it work.

The Boy Scout movement soon spread through all of England—but the whole country was too small to hold it and it spread to other countries. One story tells how a Boy Scout directed a visiting American through one of those peasoup London fogs. The American was a Chicago publisher named William D. Boyce. On his return home, he worked with a group of sensible men to found the Boy Scouts of America.

The Boy Scout organization is now 60 years old, a world-wide organization, bigger and better than ever. Any boy aged eight, nine or ten can apply to the nearest troop and join the Cub Scouts. On or after his 11th birthday he can join a Boy Scout troop. A boy must join up to learn all the wonders of scouthood and he will never be sorry all the days of his life. So don't hesitate or make excuses. Join the five million other boys and men who belong to the Boy Scouts of Canada.

Andy sends a 14" World Book Globe to Barbara Henry, age 12, of Williamsport, Pennsylvania, for her question:

What causes rings to form around a tree trunk?

Tree rings are alternating ridges of hard and softer wood. They are brought to light when we chop down a tree and slice its wood into strips of lumber. Strips of lumber usually are up-and-down slices of the trunk. Here we see the ridges in parallel lines, often wavy and sometimes gracefully curved around knotty wads of extra hard wood. They add the artistic grain to wood surfaces. When a trunk is sliced straight across, the ridges present a very different pattern. They are the tree rings, arranged one inside another, from the small ones inside to the biggest one just under the outer bark.

The wood is made from the stiff walls of boxy little plant cells, packed very closely together. The tree builds its woody walls from cellulose, using sugary ingredients manufactured with the help of summery sunlight. As it grows, it widens its trunk by adding rings of new cells around the outer rim. A wide ring of big boxy cells is added during a warm, moist growing season. A ring of small, tightly packed cells is added when growing conditions are less friendly. Counting from the centre, you can figure the yearly seasons and the age of the tree.

RELIGIOUS WORK

Hippies Not Army-Dodgers

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Hippies are training as Salvation Army officers.

This may startle many, but it doesn't surprise Commissioner Clarence D. Wiseman, newly-appointed national commander of the Salvation Army in Canada, who is visiting Victoria.

The Hippies, he says, are not outcasts from society.

Many are young people who have rebelled against the artificial status symbols of the age — the fashionable home, the fashionable club, the fashionable university degree which will help them make the kind of money their fashionable society demands.

"These hippies — as distinct from those who come from poor broken homes — are the products of an affluent society and they are discontented with it.

"I've met many of them at our Salvation Army meetings — in Canada and overseas. They may scoff at our conventional religion, but really they're rebelling, as Christ rebelled, against the drab symbols of materialism."

Before taking over command of the Salvation Army in Canada, Commissioner Wiseman was principal of the army's international training college at London, England.

ARMY WORK

A native-born Newfoundlander, he has since supervised army work in East Africa.

"Many of the hippies who come to our meetings say they cannot believe in Jesus Christ as the Son of God, but they believe in love as distinct from war, hate and avarice.

"We tell them the terms are interchangeable. But we believe we can enlarge their definition of love through Christ."

As a result, the commissioner says, many young hippies are training for service in the Salvation Army.

In London, when the hippie craze began, young people were wild over the swinging Beatles. The ever-adaptive Salvation Army created its own version of The Beatles — The Joy Strings.

The Joy Strings swung out religious choruses in much the same rhythm, with drums and guitars, and attracted great crowds to Trafalgar Square and other public meeting places.

"The hippies came along and lay around looking tired," said Commissioner Wiseman, "but a great many got caught up in the spirit of the thing and soon they began asking questions which showed they were interested.

"If only we could realize the deep-felt idealism of youth. They're not outcasts or delinquents — they just want something better than their parents have given them, and they've adopted a revolutionary style of dress and haircut to express their dissatisfaction."

BATTING BALLS

A fluent speaker, Commissioner Wiseman answers questions with the agility of a tennis player batting balls back over the net.

His grey-blue eyes light up with enthusiasm as he talks of Salvation Army projects in Canada and elsewhere.

"We're enlarging our Harbor Light Corps because we know it is redeeming thousands of alcoholics from a life of frustration and misery.

"We're sending young university students to our missionary countries overseas, not only to help those missions, but to give our students a wider vision of the physical distress in other parts of the world.

"Man is a total person — not just a body or a spirit but both — and we must serve both the body and the spirit.

FIGHTING FRONTS

Commissioner and Mrs. Wiseman graduated together from the Salvation Army College at Toronto in 1927. Since then the commissioner has commanded some of the largest corps in Canada.

During the Second World War, he was a chaplain with the Canadian forces and directed Sally Ann welfare activities across the fighting fronts of Europe.

Society Names New Secretary

The Royal Commission Society has appointed Mrs. W. D. Tang, 939 Pemberton, its new secretary.

She will be presiding in her new capacity at the next meeting of the society Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Empress Hotel.

Prof. E. S. Efrat of the political science department of the University of Victoria will speak on South Africa and member W. A. Forbes will speak on a recent trip to Australia and New Zealand.

Both speakers will show slides with their talks.

Summer-Long Debate Eyed by King Successor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The demands were strong, and they were voiced in blunt and angry words to top government officials. But the poor people who brought them to Washington made it clear they still expect a summer-long confrontation with their government.

"We will be back in 10 days," promised Rev. Ralph Abernathy, leader of the Poor People's Campaign, at every stop. "We will be back for their answer, not 130 strong but 3,000 to 5,000 strong."

"We are going to back up our words with the most militant non-violent direct action in this country's history," he added.

Emphasis was on the poor of varied ethnic groups from all parts of the U.S.—Negro, Indian, Mexican-American and white—coming together to say, in the words of one participant:

"We're going to find a way to make these people do what they should do. . . . We're tired of living the way we been living. . . ."

While campaign leaders promised over and over they would start no violence in Washington, many of the participants indicated they might not abide by the same rules back in their home towns.

"We are not coming to Washington again," New York's Manuel Ortiz, a Puerto Rican, told Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman. "This is the last time. If our demands aren't met, we will stay in those ghettoes and tear them down brick by brick."

Specific demands, ranging from better justice department enforcement of existing laws to an overhaul of the agriculture department's food stamp and land retirement programs were given to government officials.

HIGH, WILD AND FREE
Gordon Eastman
Odeon Theatre

If you're tired of some of the bilious, bizarre stuff we get in the way of fiction these days, try a real-life adventure for a change.

Gordon Eastman, noted hunter and fisherman, roamed far and wide across northern British Columbia to make this splendid color film of outdoor life and his thrilling shots of the high mountain country are truly magnificent.

From the opening shot of 200,000 snow geese beginning their long flight north to one of the final sequences depicting a combat between two bull caribou, there's almost two hours of adventure for everyone — and it's clean right through.

In the first place, Gordon Eastman had to persuade a Hollywood movie company that a full-length 35-millimetre film without sex, violence or even a love story would justify the expense of production.

And, while no high-salaried stars were required, the cost of transporting a full camera crew over British Columbia's rugged terrain was considerable.

★ ★ ★

On and off, the film took two years to make. After shooting was complete, Eastman recorded a breezy informative commentary in the style of an outdoorsman and a pleasing symphonic score was added.

Production, editing and narration are fully professional and the sequences flow smoothly. Besides hunting and fishing, the film depicts various Indian crafts and skills, such as the making of canoes from caribou skins.

The hunting is restrained. In many cases Eastman is content with a fine camera shot of a grizzly bear or a mountain sheep without even raising his rifle.

Either, as he says, he is reluctant to kill unnecessarily or he is anxious not to offend the legions of animal lovers who support humane outdoor films of the kind made by the Walt Disney organization.

One one of his fishing expeditions, Eastman took a honeymoon couple along and he makes pleasant sport of the beginner's luck which gives bigger and better catches to the bride than to himself.

From the sound track he says:

"There is nothing that offers so much for so little as the Great Outdoors."

'OWNERS SET SOME FIRES'

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Newark Fire Director John P. Caufield said Sunday he believes at least some of the fires that erupted in the U.S. following the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King were set by businessmen for insurance purposes. He said in a few cases the fire department was "convinced that people were taking advantage of the situation."

BAND MUST BLEND LIKE CHOIR, SAYS ADJUDICATOR

Harmony Stressed as Schools Win Top Awards

By BERYL PROUDMAN

The second week of the Greater Victoria Music Festival started with a swing Monday.

Large numbers of students were marshalled into orchestral, band, dance and choral classes and outstanding solo instrumentalists performed.

The brass and woodwind players spent the morning playing in duet and quartet numbers.

Donna Kapf and Don Mayer were accorded appreciative praise and a superior rating for their playing of a demanding clarinet duet by Poulenc. A lively trombone duet won equally high praise for Richard Carswell and Ian Fetterley.

Mount View's excellent woodwind quartet rounded off the session with another Superior 1, and no performance was judged less than Excellent.

Band Awards

Lake Hill and Doncaster Schools topped the afternoon brass and woodwind classes, and in the school band and orchestra classes which moved for the evening to the more commodious auditorium of Central Junior High School, the Greater Victoria Schools' string orchestra was awarded superior rating.

Adjudicator Dr. Paul Stoner in explaining the difficulties of playing in stringed ensemble, said, "The second violins don't just play second fiddle. The true orchestral effect requires that all sections be equally important as in a choir."

Of the five bands which played a concert overture and a piece of their own selection, two, Gordon Head and Oak Bay, were rewarded by the cheer-rousing Superior mark, but all benefited from the analytical appraisal and helpful hints of adjudicator Robert Miller.

Clearly he described the perverse nature of the clarinet and sympathetically suggested that other players should remember its perversity and limited modification when intonation problems arose.

The dance classes held throughout the day in Central Junior High were well-organized.

The dancers went in disciplined stages from their buses to the hall, to the before seats, on to the floor, off the floor into the after chairs where they were allowed to wait and watch until buses returning them to school required their departure.

Seemingly without a hitch and with constant good humor, this system piloted almost 40 classes on the first day.

Miss Shirley Nalevykin found much to praise in the dancing she saw and offered many practical hints to help future improvement of the dance classes.

Excellent-Plus

Among the smallest dancers, St. Paul's Grade 1 and 2 creative rhythm class and Tolmie's Grade 2 were adjudged Excellent and Cloverdale's Grade 3 group merited an Excellent-Plus.

In the afternoon, a manly group from St. Andrew's School was considered Superior, Margaret Jenkins' Grade 6 folk dance was given an Excellent-Plus and St. Patrick's, George Jay and Glanford Elementary groups all carried off excellent ratings.

All the participants obviously enjoyed their dancing, some looked gay, some serious in concentrated effort, but all bounced with youthful vitality. Attractive costumes and good music added much to the spectacle of the dances.

Meanwhile, at Sir James Douglas School, Dr. Stoner was delighted with the high standard of playing in the string classes.

The first year string group from Lampson Street School walked off with a Superior 1 as did Oak Bay Junior Secondary School String Ensemble and Lansdowne Junior Secondary School Orchestra.

High Praise

Among the senior students, George Kiraly not only achieved a 91 but elicited high praise for the beautiful cello sound and controlled bowing in his musicianly playing of Brahms' Sonata in E Minor, Op. 38.

The senior violin concerto class contained five contestants who roused Dr. Stoner to say that he had never heard five young people in such a class play so well. He congratulated the players and their excellent teachers.

Diane Hayward and John Rigby (who had already been commended for his leadership) both won 90 marks. Rod Booth in the Junior Concerto Class also gained a 90, closely followed by Stephen Calder who, after an award-winning week of piano-playing, gained 88.

Michael Langley, a musician with a fine potential and a high level of achievement, was awarded a well-deserved 86 for his cello solo.

8 CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank Dr. J. R. Flanagan, Sister Superior, nurses and staff of St. Joseph's Hospital, 2-A, for their kind attention to Mr. Francis C. Friend during his recent illness.—Miss Elsie Friend.

The many expressions of sympathy that came to us during the time of our recent great sorrow in the loss of John Stewart Petersen and William (Bill) Stewart Petersen have done much to help us over this most difficult period.

Our heartfelt thanks go out, to all who, through kind words or other expressions of sympathy, helped to ease our aching hearts.

Special thanks to all those who gave so willingly of their time in the search conducted by the R.C.M.P. and Cowichan Fish and Game Assoc.—Mrs. J. S. Petersen and family.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for acts of kindness and messages of sympathy received in the passing on of Mother, Grandmother and sister, Mrs. Vernice M. Moore. We especially thank Rev. Dr. Parsons, Drs. Leith, Homer and Lockyer and Royal Jubilee staff, Dorothy Philps and family, Ray and Frank Bray.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is another old-time hand from Fred Karpin's book "Winning Play in Tournament and Duplicate Bridge." The bidding was optimistic but strangely enough it went just about the way it would go with modern methods. North was Oswald Jacoby and South the late David Bruce, the locale the 1933 Vanderbilt which was the second winning Vanderbilt for this pair.

Opening lead—♦ Q

The play of the hand is worthy of considerable study because it illustrates two important points of play.

Dave won the opening lead with dummy's ace of diamonds and promptly led and finessed the jack of spades. When the jack of spades held, he led a trump and played his 10 spot. West showed out. Dave conceded a trump trick and chalked up his slam.

The play of the 10 of clubs was a safety play designed to avoid losing two trump tricks. Dave risked nothing when he played his club 10. He might lose to a singleton king in the West hand but Dave didn't care about that. He knew that he was in a slam contract that probably would not have been bid at the other table, and he was delighted to sacrifice a possible overtrick to increase his chance of making the contract.

If the spade finesse had lost, there would have been no safety play in trump. Dave would have played the ace of clubs and hoped for a singlton king.

Incidentally the slam was what is known as a good one. It was certain after the spade finesse worked. If it failed, Dave would still have had the 26 per cent chance to drop a singleton club, so his actual chance for success was 63 per cent.

It was even more successful than we expected at the time. The other pair reached six clubs also, but the declarer played his ace of clubs at trick two and if he is still alive the chances are he is still complaining about his bad luck.

65 MOTORCYCLES

"CYCLE" Magazine road-tested the 350 Honda. . . THIS is what they had to say:

- Probably the most technically advanced motorcycle built to date.
- The 350 engine (racing mills excepted,) is the most sophisticated power plant that has been produced to date.
- A lower end that a Chrysler Hemi would be proud of.
- The 350s are among the smoothest four stroke motorcycles we have tested.
- Cornered with razor sharp precision regardless of the angle at which they were heeled over.
- They've got plenty of punch and are easily capable of cruising speeds in the 80-85 m.p.h. range.
- Everywhere you look, mechanical perfection. The 350s are without flaw.

TOYOTA COROLLA

"THE CLEANEST ECONOMY CAR EVER TO COME FROM THE OTHER SIDE OF ANY OCEAN!" Who wants an economy car that won't get out of its own way and is left behind on hills? The TOYOTA COROLLA has more power, a higher top speed and better acceleration than any other car in the 1100 cc class. And it still gets better than 40 miles on a gallon of regular gas.

New Zealand Ombudsman Big Success

WELLINGTON (CP) — New Zealand's ombudsman—the official who investigates complaints about government actions—has been so successful that his scope is to be extended.

Prime Minister Holyoake says the powers of the ombudsman will be extended, probably this year, to cover decisions of certain government-assisted local authorities. The change will probably apply at first instance to hospital and education boards, not at present within the purview of the ombudsman.

Many New Zealanders are urging the extension of powers to the still wider field of territorial local bodies, such as city, borough and county councils. But it may be some time before the government considers giving the ombudsman power in these spheres.

Soft-Line Communism Luring Canada Tourists

Czechoslovakia and Hungary offer a variety of attractions to the tourist. Canadian Press reporter Jack Brayley describes some of them in this story.

By JACK BRAYLEY

PRAGUE (CP) — If the awakening stir of freedom that's obvious in Czechoslovakia and neighboring Hungary can be taken seriously, then it looks like a good time for Canadians to adventure over the Iron Curtain, sure of a warm welcome and few if any restrictions.

In this ancient capital there is open condemnation of the days of the Stalinist straitjacket with big brother's unfriendly eye on every move and a bug on every conversation.

The Czechs are trying to give the opposite impression and they'll tell you of the Communist party's action program including measures to make the government answerable to the national assembly, to limit the power of the party itself, to make general and local elections more democratic and to carry through far-reaching economic reforms.

In neighboring Hungary, the old hard line is softening, too, and Hungarians in official positions go out of their way to assure Canadians and other travellers—that they are unrestricted as to what they may do and where they may go.

Warm Greeting

There is no doubt of the warmth of their welcome to Westerners. In fact, the only unfriendly facet of life under socialism is the harsh toilet paper.

To prove their good intentions, both the Czechs and Hungarians recently took half-a-dozen Canadian editors on exhausting tours aimed at showing how open were their treasures of history, their places of interest and their beautiful countrysides.

Their only concern—and this was expressed throughout Europe—was how the proposed currency restrictions on American visitors abroad will affect the dollar-earning tourist industry. They have heard that President Johnson's legislation that may include a tax on spending of more than $7 a day abroad and extension of the five-per-cent excise tax to overseas fares will cut American travel by 75 per cent. The Johnson program is aimed at cutting a balance-of-payment deficit of nearly $3,500,000,000.

The Johnson proposals are far from winning approval of the U.S. Congress. Johnson has proposed a 30-per-cent tax on the spending of Americans touring outside the Western Hemisphere, but there is no agreement on this point — among many others — in the House of Representatives.

Lower Costs

Both countries are studying programs being considered by their neighbors in Western Europe to provide various concessions and inducements in the general transportation, accommodation and service tariffs aimed at getting costs close to the $7 American limit.

Czechoslovakia, on a big scale, and Hungary as well, are improving travel facilities in hotels and transport on a standard that asks $6 a day for hotel accommodation, Continental breakfast and services. And both these representatives of the classless society of the people's republics use comfortable Russian aircraft providing two classes. First class caters to every whim of the fussy traveller with money to pay the premium.

Both countries promise quick action on visas—something they'd like to see reciprocated by Canada—and this includes "old home" visits by former residents who might previously have been called defectors or even traitors. They entertain some reservations about former citizens and the party line is that many of them are unsavory characters; but they concede that any good Canadian, no matter what background, is welcome along with his dollars.

Both countries have much to offer the visitor.

If he's a gourmet: some of the best restaurants with some of the most exciting food, wine and lager in the world and served in the most colorful surroundings.

If he's musically inclined: some of the best opera, ballet and light fare. Night entertainment includes classical folk music and wild gypsy programs. (And Hungarians are sensitive about the place of each.) The cimbalon is used with the same effect as the marimba in Mexico.

Neither the Czechs nor the Hungarians seem to take themselves too seriously and their night club comedians—especially in Prague—poke fun at the regime and big brother Russia—and seemingly without let or hindrance.

Murky Danube

The rich old buildings of Budapest are separated by the murky Danube. That world curse of smog and air pollution has made the facade shabby but the ornate interiors and friendly people add the shine of warmth that's readily available outside the big city, too.

A pleasant apple-cheeked girl in a newsstand of the small town knew exactly the air mail postage tariff to Canada, sorted out a handful of proferred change and kept nodding and repeating "Canada" to make sure her customer knew that she understood.

An intelligent guide from the Ibusz government tourist agency in a Russian car can take a visiting Canadian across the great plains of Hungary to the wine caves of Tokaj and Eger. Here someone, with an imaginative departure from what's normally expected in a monolithic state, has dressed up the caves for visitors. The long galleries into the chalk hills are lined with pipes and casks and lead to a testing room.

Plank Tables

Hefty candles light the interior, furnished with plank tables studded with wrought iron. Visitors sit on chairs that would hold the armor-plated knights who first crushed the grapes and fermented the wine in the 12th century.

A husky wine steward draws the wine from a cask into a glass "lopo" that looks like a research chemist's test tube. After sucking the wine into the lopo he places a gnarled thumb over each end. Then he starts a round of the visiting amateur tests. He can hit a wine glass at 10 feet, not spill a drop or splatter a customer.

After a dozen "tests," finishing up with eight-year-old best quality Aszu Tokaj, even the most suspicious Westerner is bound to have a charitable understanding of Hungary and its problems.

Famous Wine

Incidentally, a natural penicillin type mould in the caves aids in the sterilization process of the famous wine. The Tokaj region alone produces 1,000,000 gallons annually.

The Czechoslovakians have a deeper humor and a softer sell. For instance, tourists are taken to the famous Moser-Bohemian glass display—some of it featured at Expo 67. Here a straight-face Czech—Frank (for short) Chocholaty enlists them into the International Giant Snifters Club.

They gather at a round table and are issued with brandy snifters, looking like their descriptive names—Big Bertha, Stout Gentleman, Moon Face, Longfellow, Long Face and Slim Lady. To confirm membership the novice must pour a jigger of brandy into a spinning snifter without spilling a drop. Then the toast is given, preceded by a "deep, warm, meaningful look" for your partner.

The snifter must be held at the base so that when glasses are clinked they ring like a bell. And if you want to buy a set and enlist your own snifters, Mr. Chocholaty points to a sign which warns; "Don't buy Moser giant snifters, they're impractical, they take up a lot of space in the home, they break easily, ladies hate washing them and—in any case—they're always sold out."

Superb Art

Visitors won't find much manufactured goods for sale in Czechoslovakia and little in Hungary. But they will find superb art, handicraft and needlework not only in the cities but in the small towns.

In the wine country of Hungary, next to Carpathian Russia, recent visitors were taken to the great Eger Cathedral for a Bach organ recital. Roman Catholic churches attracted fairly large congregations on Sundays despite the well-known disagreement between church and state involving Cardinal Mindzenty's asylum in the American Embassy at Budapest. Party members said he could leave the country anytime unmolested and they charge his stand in the Embassy is merely a demonstration to embarrass the government.

The guides in both Budapest and Prague seem objective and without prejudice as they take visitors through the great churches and relics of imperial days. A Czech guide showed open and emotional pride as she tried to impart her enthusiasm for the city's surviving history which she described as "a short-cut through 10 centuries."

In Hungary, hardier tourists are invited to follow a switchback trail into the mountain fastness beyond Miskolc to see the state stud farm where famous Lippizzaners are raised. Trainers with 30-foot bull whips, bulging pantaloons, tartar hats and black moustachios control the fine animals by the crack of the whip and they never touch a hair of the lively young greys.

Czechoslovakia has air taxis running out of Prague to take visitors circling over its almost embarrassing wealth of castles that are right from fairy story land, located on steep promontories and almost surrounded by water. The taxis also sweep low over Lidice where Czechs were wiped out in reprisal for the daring daylight assassination of an oppressive Nazi wartime gauleiter. And there's no restriction on cameras.

Bombing Curb 'Embarrasses' Aussie Gov't

By VINCENT MATTHEWS

MELBOURNE (CP) — Australian Prime Minister John Gorton, disturbed by the restriction in United States bombing of North Vietnam, is planning a flying trip to Washington to put his case to President Johnson personally.

For Gorton, after his hectic first 100 days in office, the unexpected Washington bombing announcement came as an embarrassment since his government had based its entire foreign policy on the cause of the American alliance and claimed a special relationship with Washington.

Gorton had to concede in a television statement that Johnson did not consult the Australian government but simply "informed" it 24 hours in advance of announcement of the partial bombing pause.

It came as Gorton wrestled with some of the most acute problems Australia has had to deal with in 20 years.

DEFENDED THE BOMBING

Only the day before Johnson's statement, External Affairs Minister Paul Hasluck had urged that sustained bombing of the North was both necessary and effective and Gorton had rejected a Labor opposition appeal to ask Washington to stop the air attacks.

When U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk visited Canberra early in April, this Australian feeling of disenchantment was conveyed to him forcibly. Presumably Rusk passed this message on to the White House because Johnosn immediately repeated his invitation and Gorton plans to visit Washington late in May or early June.

As a measure of the strain he has been under, Gorton underwent a 24-hour check, on the advice of his doctors, before announcing acceptance of the U.S. invitation.

Coming so soon after Britain's decision to leave its Southeast Asian bases, the Johnson move is disturbing government officials who feel, in the words of former prime minister Sir Robert Menzies, that Australia must have "powerful friends" to guarantee its security.

FEAR ASIA'S MILLIONS

Now, it is feared in Canberra, the U.S. may be taking the first steps towards a "retreat" from Southeast Asia.

What Australia has to fear is difficult to define. But even the most distinguished political and academic leaders assume that the under-fed millions of Asia have their hungry eyes on this affluent continent.

As an example, Sir Philip Baxter, chairman of Australia's Atomic Energy Commission, said recently Australia should protect itself from an over-populated world with the most sophisticated weapons man could devise—"with no type excluded."

This was an attempt to persuade the Australian government to refuse to sign the non-proliferation treaty.

The cabinet is believed divided on the treaty with powerful influences insisting Australia retain the right to make her own nuclear weapons some day.

The Labor opposition has urged the government to sign the treaty and a group of scientists is organizing a strong case for signing to present to the government.

FENCE-SITTERS WORRY CANDIDATE HUMPHREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey's toughest assignment as an active candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination apparently will be to entice party leaders off the political fence.

Humphrey picked up some fresh endorsements with his formal entry Saturday into the contest against Senator Robert F. Kennedy of New York and Senator Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

But party leaders in swing states whose support he needs for the nomination didn't budge from the neutral position they have taken since President Johnson announced March 31 he would not accept renomination.

In Michigan, for example, Senator Philip A. Hart said he hasn't been able to make up his mind as between Kennedy, McCarthy and Humphrey.

Hart said he thinks sentiment is split in Michigan.

In Humphrey's native state of South Dakota, Senator George McGovern has welcomed the vice-president into the race but has declared his own neutrality."

Humphrey's official announcement Saturday, before a crowd of about 200 supporters who cheered him, was counted by all concerned as a social, political and television success.

But the expressed judgment of his campaign managers that the vice-president could win the nomination on the first ballot was attributed to the usual optimism.

Humphrey has challenged Kennedy's pledge of "no more Vietnams" as an open invitation for Communist expansion."

"We ought to pursue as effectively as we can an honorable peace, to try to find a way to negotiate our way out of this tragic war," said Humphrey.

"But I think it would be a greater tragedy," he continued, to "have any citizen that seeks high office in this country to announce that American power would not be used in case there was Communist aggression.

"This would breed no peace but chaos."

The vice-president appeared on NBC's Meet the Press.

Port Work Planned At Nanaimo

NANAIMO — The Nanaimo Harbor Commission has presented a plan for development of the port to senior department officials in Ottawa.

The commission chairman said the plan has three distinct phases:

Dredging of the existing berths to the maximum possible depth, consistent with the strength of the wharf and penetration of the piling;

Further dredging along the east side of the storage area to a depth suitable for future bulk carriers, and

Construction of a terminal berth along the east side of the storage area in the new deep water and construction of warehouses for pulp and wood cargo storage.

No time has been set for completion of the plan, but the first phase would be carried out this summer or early fall.

ALL OUTDOOR BURNING NEEDS PERMIT

City fire officials warned today permits must be obtained for all outdoor fires, including incinerators.

And all fires must be out by sunset.

Deputy Chief Carl Coats said the department has had to check several fires burning after dark in recent weeks.

The permits, issued on an annual basis, can be obtained at the Yates St. fire hall.

Saanich regulations also forbid fires after dark. Saanich permits are required from April 1 to Oct. 31 and are available at municipal fire halls.

Old Bylaw Recalled

VANCOUVER (CP) — Park commissioners Monday agreed to experiment for at least one Sunday by bringing into use a 1908 bylaw that bans cars from Stanley Park from noon until dusk. They also decided to bar organized group activities in the park Sundays. The measures followed a traffic tie-up at a hippie love-in Easter Sunday.

'ANYWHERE, ANYTIME' REMARK CLARIFIED

WASHINGTON (WP) — Vice-president Hubert H. Humphrey argued Monday that "what everybody understood" by President Johnson's remarks about going "anywhere, anytime" to a meeting with the Communists on Vietnam was that the United States would go to a "place that would be conductive to an honorable discussion, a reasonable place.

"Now there are many places in the world where we can go. But whatever the overstatement might have been . . . we must find a suitable place to begin the talks and the private negotiations are now under way."

Humphrey conceded that "we may have overspoken ourselves when we said we would go any place, anytime, anywhere" to meet with North Vietnam.

Students Ejected By Police in N.Y.

PLAINCLOTHES policemen drag partially undressed demonstrator from one of barricaded campus buildings at Columbia University in New York early today. Police moved in force onto the campus at the university administration's request to end week-long sit-in by student demonstrators.

100 Hurt As Sit-In Broken Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Police moved in force on the Columbia University's campus at the administration's request today and routed student demonstrators from five barricaded campus buildings to end a week-long sit-in.

Starting around 2:45 a.m., police systematically removed the students—sometimes violently —in about 75 minutes. More than a hundred of the youths were injured, most suffering cuts and bruises about the head and face.

An emergency infirmary set up on campus reported treating about 40 students. A reporter who was injured said 62 youths were treated while he was at St. Luke's Hospital.

Police reported 638 persons arrested, approximately 100 of them women.

During the police sweep, a crowd of nearly 2,000 persons gathered on the campus overlooking Harlem. The bystanders clashed with police after the last of the demonstrators had been taken away.

CLUB CROWD

Police used nightsticks freely in breaking up the large crowd and moving it off campus as mounted police rode into the surging mass.

Dan Pellegrin, president of the student council, announced to a crowd near the library that he was calling a student strike starting today.

In a statement, the university announced cancellation of classes this morning but added: "It is hoped that a number of the afternoon classes can be held."

University President Grayson Kirk told a 6 a.m. news conference that he called police because the university "has been paralysed by the illegal acts of a minority of its students, aided and abetted by an unknown number of outsiders."

Kirk declared that granting the protesters' key demand of amnesty from punishment "would have dealt a near-fatal blow not only to this institution but to the whole of American higher education."

Police Commissioner Howard P. Leary told reporters the university had asked police to mobilize about midnight. He said he had witnessed the eviction operation and added the police had done "an excellent job."

By 5:30 a.m., the large crowd had broken up and students stood around in small clusters discussing the night's activities.

'KIRK MUST GO'

At one point, many on the campus chanted: "Kirk must go, Kirk must go."

Earlier Kirk had offered a four-point proposal to resolve the deadlock, saying he would accept a student-faculty-administration committee to act as a court of appeals for any punishment meted out to the protesters.

The sit-in by 500 to 600 demonstrators began in protest over construction of a controversial gymnasium which they said would take up park space in a nearby Harlem park and over the university's ties with the government-related Institute for Defence Analysis.

At each building Monday, a school or police official served notice on the demonstrators that they would be subject to arrest for trespassing if they remained inside.

BREAK BARRICADES

Special units used crowbars and hacksaws to break the barricades the demonstrators had erected at several buildings.

Once they went inside, police pushed, shoved, carried or simply escorted the students outside where they were handcuffed to await transportation to one of several booking centres.

Not all were arrested. Demonstrators leaving Fayerweather Hall were offered the alternative of going free.

ROCKEFELLER . . . 'to give delegates a choice'

NIXON CHALLENGED

Rockefeller In Race Again

Times News Services

ALBANY, N.Y. — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller challenged former vice-president Richard Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination today "to give the voters the choice they deserve."

Flanked by five former Republican national chairmen, Rockefeller told a nation-wide television and radio audience he would "fight to the last vote on the convention floor" for the nomination.

The announcement of the 59-year-old governor's third bid for the nomination was made in his ornate red room office, the same place he announced in 1964 he would enter the New Hampshire primary as an active candidate.

Today's announcement came five weeks after his statement that he "could not see any foreseeable circumstances" under which he would become a candidate, shortly after he announced he was available.

In Harrisburg, Pa., Nixon said Rockefeller's entry into the race would make for a more exciting national convention and "provide a good discussion of the issues."

VIETNAM SPEECH

Rockefeller kicks off his campaign with a speech in New York Tuesday night and will go to Philadelphia Wednesday for his first foreign policy speech on Vietnam in four years. He will make three speeches in Iowa Thursday.

Nearly 100 friends, campaign workers and aides jammed the office as Rockefeller made the announcement. Most were wearing bright blue and white "Rockefeller" buttons. Looking down on the hubbub were the governors, many of whom made bids for the presidential nomination.

Rockefeller gave four reasons in his announcement of candidacy:

- "The dramatic and unprecedented events of the past weeks have revealed in most serious terms the gravity of the crises that face us as a people."

He did not elaborate on the point, but Rockefeller associates said he had been deeply disturbed by the assassination of Negro civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Rockefeller also believed that President Johnson's decision not to seek the Democratic renomination had so changed the political picture that he was compelled to enter the race.

- He found, he said, that he could not offer alternatives effectively from the sidelines "in the new circumstances that confront the nation."
- Numerous people, within and outside the Republican party, "have urged me to take this step—to foster as an active candidate the discussions and debate that sustains our democracy."
- He is "deeply disturbed by the course of events—growing unrest and anxiety at home, and the signs of disintegration abroad." He underscored the word "disintegration" in the text of his official announcement.

N. Viets Contacted In Laos

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials voice confidence that agreement will be reached with North Vietnam on where to talk peace but Hanoi says Washington dreamed up a story about preliminary contacts in Laos.

The state department press officer, Robert J. McCloskey, said Monday there were two diplomatic exchanges in three days last weekend between U.S. and North Vietnamese representatives in Vientiane, Laos. He added no agreement was reached on a peace-talk site.

But the North Vietnamese foreign ministry said the United States "cooked up the story about 'private discussions' being continued in Vientiane" and renewed its charge the Johnson administration is delaying preliminary contacts with "artful manoeuvres."

A BIT ENCOURAGED

But despite that reaction from Hanoi, diplomatic sources here said they are encouraged by what they called the quickening pace of exchanges in Vientiane between U.S. Ambassador William Sullivan and North Vietnam's charge d'affaires, Nguyen Chan.

These sources said the Sullivan-Chan meetings would continue, adding that Vientiane now is the main contact point for Washington and Hanoi.

The two sides have rejected numerous suggestions for where to hold the peace talks with diplomatic speculation centred on Paris as the eventual site.

Patience Needed Says U.S. Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—George W. Ball, newly named to be U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, cautioned today against one-sided concessions or a show of weakness as a way of trying to negotiate an end to the Vietnam war.

"All we need at the moment is patience and a sense of perspective," he told the annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

It was his first public speech since President Johnson picked him last week to succeed Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg in the UN post.

NEVER CONSCIOUS

Heart Patient Dies in France

PARIS (AP) — Europe's first heart transplant patient, a 66-year-old retired French truck driver, died today 51½ hours after he was given the heart of a young man. The new organ functioned well, doctors said, but the patient could not overcome an insufficiency of blood to the brain.

Clovis Roblain, died at 10:30 a.m., never having regained consciousness after the transplant. He had undergone a nine-hour operation Saturday night.

Dr. Maurice Mercadier, the head of the surgical team at La Pine Hospital, hinted that Roblain may have been too old to weather the transplant.

"We have learned from this first attempt that technically a transplant is perfectly possible, but that we must have a patient sufficiently resistant to have a chance of success," the physician said.

He said his team—which had conducted experiments in a hospital basement for lack of space —will go ahead with another heart transplant "if the conditions of a patient who would undergo a transplant are more favorable."

ONE STILL ALIVE

Roblan's death leaves only one survivor from the seven human heart transplants which have been reported. He is Dr. Philip Blaiberg, a 58-year-old retired South African dentist, who was given a new heart on Jan. 2.

At a news conference, Mercadier told reporters:

"What we feared has come about. . . .

"We are sorry to have lost a patient. We are not sorry that we went ahead with the transplant."

In his first health bulletin Monday, Mercadier said that the transplant was done without difficulty, but that "neurological complications . . . made a prognosis very reserved."

He said Roblain had suffered a circulatory failure during the surgery. This temporarily reduced the blood flow to the brain, resulting in death.

Roblain also encountered urinary problems, Mercadier said.

Earlier the doctors reported that Roblain, who received the

Ear Thrives On His Abdomen

PERTH (Reuters) — Australian doctors here have sewn a man's ear on to his abdomen — and the body has accepted and is "nourishing" it, a hospital spokesman said today.

Sulky driver Bon Sangalli, 31, lost the ear in an accident at Gloucester Park horse race course Easter Monday.

The ear was found on the track by a steward and rushed to Royal Perth Hospital where it was stitched onto Sangalli's abdomen.

The spokesman said doctors hope to preserve the ear in its new location and later graft it back to its original place. It could not be sewn straight back to Sangalli's head because of the risk of infection.

More Support Seen for UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said today he expects a general review being made of Canadian foreign policy will reinforce the country's support for the United Nations and international aid.

SHARP
. . . changes expected

"I don't expect there will be a new orientation of Canadian foreign policy but I expect changes to accomplish our objectives more effectively." Sharp's remarks were made at a press conference for Canadian correspondents.

The minister also addressed the General Assembly's political committee this morning, urging speedy and strong endorsement of the draft treaty on nuclear non-proliferation.

He said he believes the treaty has "a fair chance of success at the UN.

Sharp referred several times to the review of Canadian policy promised by Prime Minister Trudeau, who took office this month.

CONSIDERING CHINA

Canada's attitude on China's representation at the UN "is bound to be considered," Sharp said. Canada for two years has supported the proposition that Peking should be represented in the UN Security Council but has abstained on resolutions to that affect because they would also have expelled Nationalist China from the UN, contrary to Canada's wishes.

Asked for his views on the co-operation agreement between Quebec province and Gabon Sharp said: "I am approaching the subject with a great deal of care" He also said:

"We have been giving serious study to the matter for several days . . . How to conduct Canada's relations with other countries in fields that come under provincial jurisdiction is a complex matter."

BLAIBERG SURVIVES CAPE TOWN TRAFFIC

CAPE TOWN (AP) — Retired dentist Philip Blaiberg, 58, the only survivor of the world's first six human heart transplants, now drives his car in city traffic.

His condition has been excellent since his discharge from hospital more than six weeks ago. He was operated on Jan. 2.

He goes for daily walks and looks healthy and suntanned, although he cannot yet walk up or down steps unaided.

In Johannesburg, Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard, who performed the transplant, said Monday that although no heart transplant can at this stage be termed a complete cure, Blaiberg's recovery proves that it can improve a patient's condition considerably.

"He was short of breath before and was living in misery and today he is enjoying the normal things in life," Barnard said.

ELECTION ROUNDUP

Thompson Studies Switch to Tories

RED DEER (CP)—Robert Thompson, former national Social Credit leader, said today he has considered running as a Progressive Conservative in the June 25 federal election but no decision will be made until he confers with Social Credit riding officers here Wednesday night.

Mr. Thompson said his consideration of the Conservative banner was prompted by a realignment he said is taking place in the Liberal and New Democratic Party ranks.

"Whether we like to admit it or not, we can expect to see the NDP support Liberal policies. It's high time something positive is done."

Mr. Thompson said the NDP support would come because of Prime Minister Trudeau's former NDP affiliation and a likelihood his policies would have left-wing influence.

Mr. Thompson said he would announce his decision before meeting his Social Credit constituency association Friday.

Mr. Thompson met privately Monday with Premier E. C. Manning and Orvis Kennedy of Edmonton, president of the Alberta Social Credit League.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Duff Roblin, former Manitoba premier and recent contender for the national Progressive Conservative leadership, is in the running for the June 25 federal election.

He announced at a press conference Monday he will seek the nomination May 8 in Winnipeg South Centre, left open with the retirement from politics of veteran MP Gordon Churchill.

Mr. Roblin, 50, said he expects an "intensively-fought" election campaign and will make appearances on the national scene—probably in Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia.

His announcement ends speculation about his political future which has continued since his resignation last fall as premier, two months after running second to Robert Stanfield at the leadership convention.

Mr. Gorst said he had not decided whether he would seek the association's nomination again. His nomination at a stormy meeting last week was voided after a constitutional protest.

KAMLOOPS (CP)—E. Davie Fulton, former justice minister, is to seek re-election in the federal Conservative nomination in the Kamloops-Cariboo seat at a convention May 9.

Returning offices on Vancouver Island are busy preparing a whirlwind enumeration of federal voters next week.

Both David Wilson, deputy returning officer for Victoria riding, and Mrs. E. T. Lea, DRO for Esquimalt-Saanich, today were completing lists of the hundreds of enumerators nominated by the parties for the job.

The enumeration begins Monday, May 6, and ends the following Saturday night.

Both its preparation and execution are complicated this time because the June 25 federal election also involves redistribution of boundaries.

One of the complications eliminated the NDP from the right to nominate enumerators in Esquimalt-Saanich riding, Mrs. Lea indicated.

The NDP was runner-up in the old riding and as such normally would have the right reserved to the winning and second party in a constituency to nominate the enumerators for a succeeding election.

But a poll-by-poll scrutiny of the voting results in the last election on the basis of the new boundaries for Esquimalt-Saanich showed the Liberals had the second-highest vote, so federal party leaders in Ottawa agreed the Conservatives and Liberals would select the enumerators this time, she said.

Sooke Loses As Province Shuffles Tax

Under the old education financing formula the Sooke school district would have had a tax increase of not more than 1½ mills, school board chairman John Bartanus said Monday night.

"They changed the rules of the game and we lost," he said, commenting on the 4.26-mill increase this year following a hike of over four mills last year.

Trustees have been receiving numerous calls over the tax increase and the school board was very concerned over spiralling education costs, too, he said.

He predicted the rising costs would lead to curtailed education service next year, possibly through reducing the number of teachers handling special classes, librarians and relieving teachers.

Some transportation services where the government is not sharing costs would likely have to be chopped as well.

The Sooke school district's budget this ysar was $2,664,744, up 24 per cent over last year.

But the board chairman said non-sharable items were trimmed close to 50 per cent, from $417,420 in 1567 to $237,023 this year.

The district was getting the maximum benefit under the old education grant formulas and trustees got no warning of the effect the new formula would have.

One of the district's problems, he said, is that assessment has failed to increase at a rate to meet increasing education costs.

Assessment is up only $600,000 over the past two years, said Mr. Bartanus.

Mercadier said the reaction of Roblain's family "was very simple."

"They considered him as lost. They considered that we were giving him a little hope. They accepted this very well."

Asked if the operation was difficult, Mercadier said:

"It was not an easy operation, but neither was it a particularly difficult operation. The heart is a muscle which lends itself better than other organs to surgery."

PROTEST TURNOVER TO ARGENTINA

Falklanders Fear U.K. Giveaway

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — The 2,200 inhabitants of the Falkland Islands, some 375 miles northeast of Cape Horn, are petitioning a few individual Canadians as well as British MPs in their campaign to stay British.

The petition says the British government at any moment may hand over the Falklands to Argentina without so much as asking the islanders their opinion.

Some residents here have recevied copies of the petition and one was made available to The Canadian Press.

The islanders do not want to become Argentines, says the petition, and it demands:

"What can you do to prevent it? What are you doing? We need your help!"

Foreign Minister Ortiz of Argentina has declared that the Falklands are "an integral part of our national soil" and that this country must have them back.

The Falklands were Spanish when Argentina won its independence in 1816 and became Argentine territory at that time. The British expelled an Argentine garrison in 1833 and the islands were settled by the British in 1842.

BECAME SILENT

In 1966, the British government stated that the island's sovereignty was British and not negotiable. Lately, however, it has kept silence on their future.

The only town in the Falklands, where the main industry is sheep farming, is Port Stanley. There is no airfield and an international air service uses two Canadian Beaver seaplanes.

The main supply ship runs about once a month between Port Stanley and Montevideo, Uruguay. Smaller boats ply among the islands, delivering passengers, mail and goods. The seaplanes provide a flying doctor and teacher service and also air-drop mail.

The rural areas are known as "camps." In the camps, lamb for meat is free, in Port Stanley seven cents a pound. Penguin eggs are a popular feature of the islanders' diet.

The islands are mainly treeless and the inhabitants rely on peat for fuel. The wind blows almost constantly. Islanders use tin cans, with tops and bottoms cut out, to prevent young vegetable plants from being blown out of the ground.

"The people of these islands do not wish to submit to a foreign language, law, customs and culture," the petition says.

"They have happily pursued their own peaceful way of life, a very British way of life."

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Broad advances in flax highlighted trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Some of the buying represented covering orders associated with large shipments leaving the lakehead. Reports liste 735,000 bushels were cleared for Hamburg and 220,000 to Rotterdam.

Rapeseed also showed firmness at times and was aided by reports that 4,200 tons were sold to Japan in a deal which was not previously reported.

Oats and barley received most trade associated with domestic feed supply.

Rye was higher for most of the session despite irregularities in the Chicago market.

Gold Price Takes Jump

The price of gold on the London market hit its highest peak today since free sales April 1. The price also rose sharply in both Frankfurt and Zurich.

The price at the morning fixing in London was $39.10 U.S. an ounce against Monday night's closing of $38.75. This represented a steady increase during the last week amounting to $1.45 an ounce.

In Frankfurt the price rose 47.5 cents from Monday's close of $39.10 and in Zurich the rise was 30 cents to $39.12.

New York was up and Toronto off.

AT TORONTO in industrials, Falconbridge advanced 2⅛ to 107, Inco 2 to 123¾ and Canada Cement 1½ to 30½.

Fargo Oils jumped 65 cents to 7.25 and French Pete 30 cents to 5.20.

Among base metals Rio Algom dropped ⅞ to 32⅜ and Denison ½ to 71¼.

Final volume was 3,065,000 shares compared with 3,281,000 Monday.

AT NEW YORK Commercial Credit, which traded on a block of 25,000 shares in early dealings, scored an advance of more than 2 points.

Polaroid, which lost 3¼ on a block of 31,000 shares, shaved its loss to a little more than a point.

Gains of 2 points or more were posted by International Paper, Boeing and High Voltage Engineering.

AT MONTREAL prices were mainly fractional but generally higher in trading today.

Moore Corp, retreated ½ to 37½ on sales of 800 shares and CPR ¼ to 51½ on 1,415 shares.

AT LONDON—Monday's dullness among leading industrials appeared more widespread today on the stock market although selective buying was still in evidence.

Gilt-edged stocks, however, attracted increased interest and small gains were spread throughout the list.

In a generally improved Canadian section, Hudson's Bay and Dome stood out firmly. Canadian banks were steady, with modest gains in places.

AT VANCOUVER prices were fractionally lower today in active forenoon trading.

Prices were strongest in the industrial section, but Neon Products was off $1.25 from Monday's close at $21 while Captain International was down .37 at $5.25.

However, C. P. Investments put on a dollar to $21.87 and Canadian Allied moved up a dollar to $12. White Pass and Yukon added .87 to $35.37.

There were no big fluctuations among mining issues, but prices were generally lower. Utica, Alwin, Dynasty and Highmont were all off a nickel and Coast Silver lost a penny.

UAW Rejects Latest Proposal

TORONTO (CP) — Massey-Ferguson Industries Ltd. has told the United Auto Workers Union the company will move its Canadian production to the United States within 18 months if the union continues its demand for wage parity with U.S. workers.

In a statement released Monday, the farm-equipment company said it had offered the UAW a commitment that it would not move away from Canada during the life of an agreement in an effort to settle a strike by about 6,000 workers in Toronto and Brantford that began April 19.

However, the union rejected the company's settlement proposal, which included the formula of wage increases recently granted Massey-Ferguson workers in the U.S. and also additional fringe benefits.

But the union has refused to discuss the wage-and-fringe benefit proposal until the company agrees to negotiate on the matter of wage parity.

The company also offered to establish a union-management council on job security in Canada. This offer represents "an innovation in the company's basic relationship with the union," the statement said.

It said the offer provides a "guarantee of continued operations in Canada, enables the union to serve both the immediate and long-term interests of its members, and benefits the communities in which the company operates."

Union officials were not available for comment.

The average hourly rate for Canadian workers is $3.12. They are asking that this be raised to about $4.11 by 1970 to match rates received by the company's Detroit workers.

The last company offer included a 17-cent-an-hour increase for one year from the signing date, with an additional 30 cents for skilled workers retroactive to Jan. 1. No new wage proposals were mentioned in Monday's settlement.

Negroes Win Balm For Work Denial

TORONTO (CP) — Six Negro welders Monday received $28,600 from an American company and a Toronto union local because they were denied work at a Clinton, Iowa, construction project.

The company, M. W. Kellogg Co. of New York, and the union will send letters of apology to the six Toronto men.

The settlement was made shortly before opening of an inquiry by the Ontario Human Rights Commission into the welders' complaints of racial discrimination.

Prof. Harry Arthurs of Osgoode Hall law school adjourned the inquiry after the settlement was read.

The welders said earlier they tried to sign for a construction project through locals here in response to a recruitment effort by the company.

ARRANGED RECRUITING

The company had arranged with representatives of Local 46, United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Industry, to recruit members of Local 46.

The men said they were told by union officials Negroes would not be accepted for the Iowa project.

The $28,600 is the difference between what the men earned between Nov. 1, 1967, and April 30 this year and the amount they would have earned if they had worked on the construction job.

Similar charges of discrimination on basis of race and color against company representatives John P. Connelly, Robert Murray and James Kelly and union men Stanley Newmarch, Dave Clarke and Thomas Berry, were withdrawn.

A company statement said the three recruiters were acting as employees so the company accepted the consequences for charges against them.

Prof. Arthurs said the settlement reflected an honest desire by the union and the company to prevent a recurrence of such discrimination.

NOTIFIED OF JOBS

The company will notify the Negroes and the commission the next time a job they are qualified for becomes available.

The union agreed to inform the six welders of available jobs on a fair basis without regard to race, creed, color, nationality, ancestry, place of origin or age, as laid out in the Ontario Human Rights Code.

The company and union will send an account of the complaints and settlement to the New York and Iowa state commissions for human rights, the international office of the union, the Clinton local and the Jamaica-Canadian Association.

Prof. Arthurs praised Mel Thompson, president of the association for appearing with the welders.

Owen Bares received $6,156, Arnold Blair $4,022, Joseph Neblett $4,122, Herbert Telphia $6,156, Gifford Walker $4,122 and Stanley Williams $4,022.

Domtar Sets New Paper, Pulp Complex

MONTREAL (CP) — T. N. Beaupre, chairman and president of Domtar Ltd., today announced formation of a new company bringing together the operations of six Domtar companies into one of the largest integrated pulp and paper companies in Canada.

The new company will be known as Domtar Pulp and Paper Products Ltd., and will be one of three separate products groups operating under Domtar. The others are Domtar Construction Materials Ltd. and Domtar Chemicals Ltd., both of Montreal.

Mr. Beaupre said president of the new company will be A. D. Hamilton, a native of suburban Westmount, who will leave his position as president and chief executive officer of B.C. Forest Products Ltd.

The six companies making up the new integrated company are: Domtar Fine Papers Ltd., Montreal; Domtar Newsprint Ltd., Montreal; Domtar Packaging Ltd., Toronto; Domtar Pulp and Kraft Paper Ltd., Montreal; Domtar Woodlands Ltd., Montreal; and Domtar Pulp and Paper Incorp., New York.

Mr. Beaupre also announced first-quarter net income for Domtar at $900,000 or 6 cents a share compared with $700,000 or 4 cents in the first quarter of 1967.

HANDICAPPED CHILDREN'S PLAY SPOT TO OPEN IN JULY

$50,000 Grant Spurs Work on Kiwanis Camp

A grant of $50,000 has been made by the provincial government to the Kiwanis Handicapped Children's Camp at Lake Cowichan.

Tom Harvey, Kiwanis lieutenant-governor, said today the grant will enable the club to open the $120,000, 13-acre camp by July 15.

The project had been hampered by lack of money and construction had been delayed.

Mr. Harvey said construction will resume next week.

The provincial grant will be paid over four years.

Participating Kiwanis Clubs have pledged $40,000. They include all the Victoria clubs, plus Duncan, Lake Cowichan, Nanaimo and Courtenay.

Donations of materials and labor has helped reduce construction costs.

The first of its kind in Canada, the camp is being built by the Kiwanis Camp Society, a registered society representing nine V.I. Kiwanis Clubs and clubs from Port Townsend, Port Angeles, and Powell River.

The main portion of the camp will consist of two dormitories to accommodate 40 handicapped children and a staff of eight and a lodge with dining for up to 150.

Above the main lodge will be an apartment which will be the year-round residence of a camp custodian.

Facilities will also include an office, first aid room, tuck shop and baths and shower with separate facilities for dining room and kitchen staff.

Expansion has been allowed for in the site chosen for the dormitories and within a few years the camp is expected to accommodate 80 handicapped youngsters.

Although the camp will be used primarily in the summer months, construction is such that the buildings can be used throughout the year.

Arthur Mayse

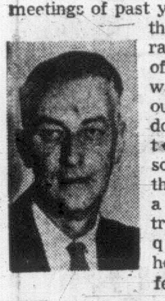
B.C. Jockey Club has given Sandowners their first dose of spring horse-racing, and plaints received support my own conclusion that it was mighty doubtful medicine.

When there aren't enough steeds to round out a card — and when that same card is loused up with three and a half furlong conditioning romps masquerading as races—the cheated punter might just as well find more satisfying pursuits for a spare afternoon.



I do not suggest that the fall meetings of past years offered the best in racing. Some of the entries were obviously worn down by their too-long season, and as is the case with all small tracks, top-quality horses were few.

But the races were interesting, the weather, oftener than not, was good, and the distances gave the crowd a run for its money.

Perhaps in some future year, Jockey Club attitudes will be tempered by the presence in the field of healthy competition for the track dollar. When that time comes, though not likely before, Victoria may get a fair shake in this vexed matter of racing.

Meanwhile, here on my desk is a rectangle of pale-blue paper with Jean Drapeau's name and office as mayor of Montreal printed in large, dark-blue letters across the top.

Below, first in French, then thoughtfully in English, is this statement:

"I request the director of finance to register me on the monthly voluntary tax roll of Montreal for this amount included (an arrow indicates a dollar sign) and to send me an official receipt to the following address."

The slip is a "subscription" to Mayor Drapeau's non-lottery, a bold experiment which I touched on last week. At the time, I was doubtful whether any of these tokens had reached Victoria.

How many have, I've no way of knowing, but Robert Gray, 3820 Shelbourne, plucked two from an official-looking brown envelope that arrived in his mail a few days ago.

This surprised him, since he had made no attempt to get tickets. He believes his name may have been lifted from one of those lists that shouldn't really be released but, as we learned not long ago, are sold for healthy prices.

One of the tickets had Mr. Gray's name on a sticker attached to it. The other was uninscribed, and this one he has kindly turned over to me.

A check with the authorities reveals that while the Drapeau venture may not be legal, thus far it hasn't been declared illegal. So back it goes with two bucks from this voluntary Montreal taxpayer—and may Mr. Gray be lucky if I am not!

Oak Bay High School students, no slouches in giving help where needed, last year raised over $1,000 for educational facilities in developing countries overseas. This they did through a Slave Day, and now they are all set for another on Saturday, May 4, with proceeds earmarked for Cowichan Lake Camp for Handicapped Children.

Slaves, I'm assured, are cheerful, brisk and eager. They style themselves "jacks-of-all-trades," and in return for a donation to their project, will undertake just about any job you can think up for them. Their list includes baby-sitting, silverware polishing, car washing, fence, house or wall painting, furniture moving, housework, gardening, closet cleaning, dog and dish washing, though not simultaneously, and etcetera ad infinitum.

If you're interested in acquiring a slave for a day, phone 385-7221 during school hours; and evenings, 385-4921, 384-7439, 385-0828, 383-6287, 386-3626, or 382-2573.

So much for this day, except to note with regret the passing of my friend and one-time neighbor, Dave Hill. Dave, who served Station CKDA for almost 20 years, will be missed in our town.

DAISY PICKER Tanna Allan, three, looks on manufacture of daisy chains as serious business. April produces endless raw materials for her near her home at 6858 Veyaness in Central Saanich. Kid are smarter than adults. They get pleasure from daisies. Adults hate them, chop them, poison them, curse them. If they'd only learn to love them the way Tanna does, think how much less pressure there would be on adults. Maybe Tanna is a junior sized hippie. (Photo by Lyn Hancock.)

Co-Insurance Hike Answer To Squeeze?

An increase in B.C. Hospital co-insurance from $1 to $3 per day might solve local hospital problems, a St. Joseph's board member said today.

Mike Griffin, a former city alderman, said the move would have meant an additional $300,000 income to St. Joseph's Hospital last year.

This would have cancelled the operating deficit, he said.

Mr. Griffin had earlier made the suggestion during a television interview when asked if he had any ideas how hospital financial problems could be solved.

UNREALISTIC

He said he put the idea forward as a personal opinion which had not been voiced by his board. He said the present $1 per day rate, payable by hospital patients in B.C. wards, was set about 20 years ago and has become unrealistic due to inflation.

"It would be impossible to live at home for $3 a day, as far as most patients are concerned," he stated.

Mr. Griffin said he supposed, however, that there would be a danger the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service would reduce its contributions if the hospitals increased their earnings.

In recent days several officials at St. Joseph's have complained that BCHIS contributions toward operating costs are insufficient and as a result of repeated deficits, hospital reserves have been emptied.

As a result the hospital has begun to trim staff to essentials and has asked staff doctors to relieve nurses of paper work and relieve the emergency department of treatments which might be done in the doctors' offices.

REMEMBER, MIDNIGHT TONIGHT!

Today is the last chance for taxpayers to avoid penalties for late filing of income tax returns.

Any return mailed and postdated before midnight tonight will be officially "on time." Safest strategy for late mailers would be to mail the envelope at the Post Office.

Returns handed over the counter at the federal tax office here Wednesday will be considered late.

If a return is late it is subject to a 5 per cent penalty plus 6 per cent interest from April 30 to date of payment.

Generally speaking any person who had earnings last year in excess of his exemptions, must file a return. Failure may bring prosecution and a minimum $25 fine plus the other penalties shown above.

19,000 EXAMS AND FREEDOM FOR 4,000

Examinations at the University of Victoria ended today, freeing close to 4,000 undergraduates for holidays, summer jobs and in some cases, summer studies.

An estimated 19,000 exams were written over the past two weeks in 309 of the university's 614 courses.

Four Months More Given Day Parolee

A "day parolee" from Wilkinson Road jail was sentenced to an extra four months today after he pleaded guilty to being unlawfully at large.

Graham Agate, 24, has seven months still to serve of an 18-month term for theft and possession of stolen goods.

Court was told Agate held a job in a downtown restaurant and was permitted to leave the prison each day and return after work.

WENT FOR DRINK

Friday he left jail but didn't show up for work.

He was arrested Monday walking on Douglas St.

Agate told the court he met some former inmates on his way to work and decided to join them for a drink.

Magistrate Ostler told the accused his action "discourages the whole program."

"You have certainly kicked your benefactors."

Trip to Hawaii In August For 4-H Pair

A 4-H exchange program has been arranged between the B.C. department of agriculture and the state of Hawaii.

Two members to be selected at the provincial 4-H competitions in July will visit Hawaii for 10 days in August.

The Hawaiian delegates arrived in Vancouver today and will visit Victoria Thursday. They are Cynthia Uyema, Leon Matsui, Charlotte Kanda and Fred Thronas.

In charge of the group is Jim Shigeta, state 4-H leader.

The group will return to Vancouver Thursday night after visiting the Legislative Buildings and other attractions in and around the city. Dave Freed, B.C. 4-H supervisor, will be in charge.

Regional Board Okays Grants For Hospitals

Largest Slice For Rest Haven

The capital region hospital district board has approved grants totalling $89,827 to five hospitals in the south Vancouver Island region.

The grants are still subject to approval by Health Minister Ralph Loffmark.

The grants are to take care of urgent hospital needs, pending a hospital construction program expected to be recommended by the Agnew, Peckham report on Wednesday.

The report will set out the over-all hospital needs for the area.

The grants were recommended to the board by the hospital advisory committee which expressed the hope a money bylaw for construction of hospitals would be submitted to ratepayers in the next few months.

'HOPEFULLY'

The committee noted it received urgent requests for additional grants, but felt that these could be deferred for a few months—"until hopefully a money building bylaw is submitted to ratepayers."

Rest Haven Hospital at Sidney received the lion's share of the total grant.

The board allotted $35,000 to the hospital—$15,000 for a boiler unit and $20,000 for X-ray equipment.

St. Joseph's Hospital, $20,000 for miscellaneous equipment and renovations; Mount St. Mary's Priory, $18,827 for fire escape, fireproof doors; St. Mary's Priory, $10,000 to cover costs for an initial survey and site study; Royal Jubilee Hospital, $6.000 for miscellaneous equipment.

Committee chairman Major J. B. Cumming said Rest Haven had to have a new boiler unit to keep it in operation.

"The unit should take care of the needs of the hospital for five years—until a new hospital is built for that area," he said.

Salary Talks Resumed At City Hall

Negotiations re-opened today between city hall and the Canadian Union of Public employees.

Only one field, pay increases for inside workers, remains to be settled.

City manager Dennis Young said this morning that negotiations are still in the conciliation officer stage. He declined comment on what the union employees are asking in the way of a raise.

Last week negotiations broke down when CUPE officials and the city's negotiating staff reached an impasse.

HOPEFUL

Mr. Young said he is now hopeful that today or Wednesday will bring a settlement.

An announcement from Vancouver Monday stated that Vancouver city hall inside workers had settled for a 6.67 per cent wage increase.

Victoria officials have made no secret of the fact that they are hoping for a 5 per cent settlement.

With wages for inside staffers still in dispute, city treasurer James Bramley told city council in budget session Monday afternoon that he had earmarked $70,000 in a contingency fund to cover a five per cent increase.

"That has to be just a guess at this stage," Mr. Bramley said. "Every one per cent over that will cost an additional $15,000."

June Start Scheduled On Rose St. 6-Laner

WHARF STREET SURVEY DELAYED TWO WEEKS

The $80,000 Wharf Street waterfront survey scheduled for presentation today has been delayed for at least two weeks.

The survey, conducted by a team of economists and destined to forecast the potential future of the area between Johnson, the Causeway, Government and Wharf, is being paid for by the federal government and the city.

City manager Dennis Young said the delay is regrettable but unavoidable.

"All the facts are in, but it will take us a little while to sort them out and put them into the best presentable form," Mr. Young said. "I's just a matter of reviewing the information and making some specific decisions."

Council Refuses To Increase Business Tax

By JIM HUME
Times City Hall Reporter

Victoria city council Monday turned a unanimous thumbs down on a Victoria Visitors' Bureau appeal for a business tax increase.

In a brief to council two weeks ago the bureau had asked council to boost the business tax from 6.25 per cent of rental value to 7.25 to raise $50,000 for the promotion of conventions.

Council's rejection came in two phases, both equally firm.

The first came during discussion Monday evening of anticipated revenues from the business tax totalling $556,000 as compared with the $473,934 raised in 1967.

The revenue will be raised at the 6.25 per cent rate.

Ald. Percy Frampton called for a full study of business and trades licenses but agreed that the rate should remain the same for this year.

City manager Dennis Young was instructed to head a technical committee to bring in a full report and recommendations to council.

The second rejection came after 10 p.m. when Mr. Young reminded council it still had to formally dispose of the VVB brief before adjourning for the night.

"We did that when we held he business tax at 6.25 per cent," Mayor Hugh Stephen said.

"That is true," answered Mr. Young. "But the brief was referred to this committee and should be disposed of formally for the record."

"Well, I think we have already turned it down," the mayor replied. "The Chamber of Commerce isn't happy about this and is conducting an investigation and I have discovered that we have no power to impose a business tax on hotels and motels who are leading this appeal."

Earlier in the evening, when council was discussing a grant to the Canadian Urban Transportation Conference scheduled for 1969, Ald. Ian Stewart had called for more detail on matters handled now by Victoria which should be regional in nature.

"It is becoming increasingly obvious that there are a number of matters in this area which are becoming particularly regional in scope," he said.

"There is this one (the city agreed to grant the conference $2,000, Saanich has turned down the request), there are sewers, parks and tourism.

"On tourism I don't think anyone will argue the fact that the Swartz Bay ferry terminal serves the entire Saanich Peninsula in fact the entire regional district.

"Victoria is actually at the end of the highway, a highway which carries traffic to the benefit of all incuding the unorganized areas. Yet on so many of these things Victoria seems to be the only municipality recognizing this.

"On Saanich's refusal to contribute to the urban transportation conference I am really amazed.

"God forbid the day when I should ever have to worry about where I live, but this transportation problem isn't something one municipality can solve and then say to its neighbor, 'okay we've solved our problem now you solve yours.'

"If I were a taxpayer living in Saanich and had only one family car I would be extremely alarmed at the transportation problem. I wish all aldermen in other areas were aware of the importance of this conference."

Mayor Stephen said there was little to be done by Victoria but once again go it alone.

"I think Oak Bay and Esquimalt will contribute to the conference," he said. "It is the first of its kind in Canada and is of vital importance.

"I think we should contribute the $2,000 and leave it to the conference to tell Saanich they're pikers."

23% Reduction In Tenders On Classrooms

The price of portable classrooms has plunged 23 per cent in the past year.

Greater Victoria school trustees opened tenders for 13 portable classrooms Monday night to find six of the seven bids were below the winning tender for a similar contract a year ago.

Lowest price came from Atco Industries of Calgary with a tender of $153,971, a base bid of $11,844 for each portable.

The board paid $210,656 for 13 portable class rooms a year ago or $15,512 each to Tecton Structures of Vancouver. Tecton was second lowest Monday night with a bid of $168,755.

UNDER LIMIT

The current low bid is well within the provincial government's imposed cost ceiling of $16,000. It will be checked by the board's building and grounds committee and then forwarded to the department of education for approval.

The prices indicate a "strong showing on the part of an aggressive and progressive prefabricated building industry," board chairman Peter Bunn said today.

The prefabricated construction field is one which can be geared to modern concepts, he said, and one educators must take a hard look at to see if it can produce shcools economically while incorporating modern concepts.

"If it's just a means of packing kids into plywood boxes then we're not talking about the same thing."

It would not be good enough to end up with an attractive building initially, said the board chairman, only to discover maintenace costs were high.

Term Suspended For Passing Nine Bad Cheques

A 36-year-old man was given a suspended sentence today for passing nine worthless cheques in a city department store.

Frank Krop, 36, of 839 Bay, earlier pleaded guilty to cashing the cheques totaling $175 at Woodward's between Oct. 11 and Jan. 3.

Magistrate Ostler said he had reservations about suspending sentence, but "I must point out again if prompt action had been taken after the first offence all of the subsequent offences would not have happened."

He placed Krop on a one-year $500 good behavior bond.

Local Student Wins With Thesis

David Morrow, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Morrow of 2592 Bowker Ave. in Oak Bay, has been awarded first prize in a competition open to undergraduate geology students across Canada.

He won the $100 award for his thesis dealing with Permian Limestone in the Dease Lake area of B.C.

Doctor's Bag Theft Admitted

A youth was to be sentenced later today for stealing a doctor's medical bag from a car Monday afternoon.

Frank Buddy Nelson, 19, of 225 Quebec, pleaded guilty to taking the bag and contents valued at $130.

Court was told the accused took the bag from the car of Dr. John Robinson, parked in the lot at the Cook and View medical building.

Tender Call In Late May Says Young

Construction will start in June on the six-lane highway through the Rose-Blanshard urban renewal area.

City manager Dennis Young said this morning tenders for the road building phase of the master plan will go out late in May and be returnable to city hall by June 27.

"The construction involves Rose Street from Bay Street north to Hillside," Mr. Young said. "Construction will start on schedule."

In the meantime the acquisition of private property in the area continues.

30 HOLDOUTS

Mr. Young said the property owner holdouts had now been reduced from 42 to 30 and he hopes the next two or three weeks will see that number reduced drastically.

"Everything is going very smoothly and I am still hopeful that the first houses will be going up this fall," he said.

Ald. Ian Stewart, concerned about provincial government delays in deciding how the 180-unit housing project will be designed and built, has a standing bet that the first houses will not be constructed before next spring.

Three Years To Re-Think His Strategy

A youth who tried to outwit Oak Bay police was fined $400 and prohibited from driving for three years today.

Carl Buckner, 18, of 2091 Chaucer, was fined $300 for driving while his licence was suspended, $50 for failing to give his name to police, and $50 for using the wrong licence plates on a car.

Court was told Oak Bay police stopped a car Buckner was driving April 6. Tickets were issued for mechanical defects, and Buckner proceeded.

FLED POLICE

Subsequent investigation showed Buckner had used someone else's licence as his was suspended March 11. He was also using licence plates for a different car.

When police arrived at his home three days later, Buckner fled and was apprehended lying beside a neighbor's car.

Police said Buckner told them he "didn't see how any cops could nail him."

"You must be surprised to see the police can catch you," Magistrate Ostler said.

"At least the police are honest. That's more than one can say for you."

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Broad advances in flax highlighted trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Some of the buying represented covering orders associated with large shipments leaving the lakehead. Reports liste 735,000 bushels were cleared for Hamburg and 220,000 to Rotterdam.

Rapeseed also showed firmness at times and was aided by reports that 4,200 tons were sold to Japan in a deal which was not previously reported.

Oats and barley received most trade associated with domestic feed supply.

Rye was higher for most of the session despite irregularities in the Chicago market.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat all were unchanged.

Gold Price Takes Jump

The price of gold on the London market hit its highest peak today since free sales April 1. The price also rose sharply in both Frankfurt and Zurich.

The price at the morning fixing in London was $39.10 U.S. an ounce against Monday night's closing of $38.75. This represented a steady increase during the last week amounting to $1.45 an ounce.

In Frankfurt the price rose 47.5 cents from Monday's close of $39.10 and in Zurich the rise was 30 cents to $39.12.

New York was up and Toronto off.

AT TORONTO in industrials, Falconbridge advanced 2⅛ to 107, Inco 2 to 123¾ and Canada Cement 1½ to 30½.

Fargo Oils jumped 65 cents to 7.25 and French Pete 30 cents to 5.20.

Among base metals Rio Algom dropped ⅞ to 32⅝ and Denison ½ to 71¼.

Final volume was 3,065,000 shares compared with 3,281,000 Monday.

AT NEW YORK Commercial Credit, which traded on a block of 25,000 shares in early dealings, scored an advance of more than 2 points.

Polaroid, which lost 3¼ on a block of 31,000 shares, shaved its loss to a little more than a point.

Gains of 2 points or more were posted by International Paper, Boeing and High Voltage Engineering.

AT MONTREAL prices were mainly fractional but generally higher in trading today.

Among industrials, Canada Cement climbed 2 points to 30½ and Canada-Dominion Sugar 1 point to 26. Imperial Tobacco edged up ⅝ to 13¾.

Moore Corp. retreated ½ to 37½ on sales of 800 shares and CPR ¼ to 51½ on 1,415 shares.

AT LONDON—Monday's dullness among leading industrials appeared more widespread today on the stock market although selective buying was still in evidence.

Gilt-edged stocks, however, attracted increased interest and small gains were spread throughout the list.

In a generally improved Canadian section, Hudson's Bay and Dome stood out firmly. Canadian banks were steady, with modest gains in places.

AT VANCOUVER prices were fractionally lower today in active forenoon trading.

Prices were strongest in the industrial section, but Neon Products was off $1.25 from Monday's close at $21 while Captain International was down .37 at $5.25.

However, C. P. Investments put on a dollar to $21.87 and Canadian Allied moved up a dollar to $12. White Pass and Yukon added .87 to $35.37.

There were no big fluctuations among mining issues, but prices were generally lower. Utica, Alwin, Dynasty and Highmont were all off a nickel and Coast Silver lost a penny.

Shell Escapes Income Tax Bite in 1968

Shell Canada gets off tax-free in 1968 although cash income rose by 18 per cent in the first quarter, president Paul Kartzke reports.

He told shareholders that in determining net income of $12.3 million (down from $12.8 million) the company had followed normal practice in accounting for income taxes.

"As a result of the accumulation of prior drilling and exploration expenditures, which are tax deductible, augmented by claims for maximum capital cost allowance, no income tax will be payable by Shell Canada in 1968," Mr. Kartzke said.

The net is equal to 37 cents per "A" share, compared with 39 cents a year ago.

Production and sales figures showed increases ranging from 11 to 18 per cent.

The president warned of impending price increases unless there is "some tempering of increases in labor and material costs in the petroleum industry."

He also said he will soon return to the U.S. after 15 years with Shell Canada. Effective Aug. 1, H. Bridges will become president and chief executive officer of the company with which he has been associated via the Royal Dutch-Shell group since 1937, most recently with Shell International Petroleum Co., London.

UAW Rejects Latest Proposal

TORONTO (CP) — Massey-Ferguson Industries Ltd. has told the United Auto Workers Union the company will move its Canadian production to the United States within 18 months if the union continues its demand for wage parity with U.S. workers.

In a statement released Monday, the farm-equipment company said it had offered the UAW a commitment that it would not move away from Canada during the life of an agreement in an effort to settle a strike by about 6,000 workers in Toronto and Brantford that began April 19.

However, the union rejected the company's settlement proposal, which included the formula of wage increases recently granted Massey-Ferguson workers in the U.S. and also additional fringe benefits.

But the union has refused to discuss the wage-and-fringe benefit proposal until the company agrees to negotiate on the matter of wage parity.

The company also offered to establish a union-management council on job security in Canada. This offer represents "an innovation in the company's basic relationship with the union," the statement said.

It said the offer provides a "guarantee of continued operations in Canada, enables the union to serve both the immediate and long-term interests of its members, and benefits the communities in which the company operates."

Union officials were not available for comment.

The average hourly rate for Canadian workers is $3.12. They are asking that this be raised to about $4.11 by 1970 to match rates received by the company's Detroit workers.

The last company offer included a 17-cent-an-hour increase for one year from the signing date, with an additional 30 cents for skilled workers retroactive to Jan. 1. No new wage proposals were mentioned in Monday's settlement.

Negroes Win Balm For Work Denial

TORONTO (CP) — Six Negro welders Monday received $28,600 from an American company and a Toronto union local because they were denied work at a Clinton, Iowa, construction project.

The company, M. W. Kellogg Co. of New York, and the union will send letters of apology to the six Toronto men.

The settlement was made shortly before opening of an inquiry by the Ontario Human Rights Commission into the welders' complaints of racial discrimination.

Prof. Harry Arthurs of Osgoode Hall law school adjourned the inquiry after the settlement was read.

The welders said earlier they tried to sign for a construction project through locals here in response to a recruitment effort by the company.

ARRANGED RECRUITING

The company had arranged with representatives of Local 46, United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Industry, to recruit members of Local 46.

The men said they were told by union officials Negroes would not be accepted for the Iowa project.

The $28,600 is the difference between what the men earned between Nov. 1, 1967, and April 30 this year and the amount they would have earned if they had worked on the construction job.

Similar charges of discrimination on basis of race and color against company representatives John P. Connelly, Robert Murray and James Kelly and union men Stanley Newmarch, Dave Clarke and Thomas Berry, were withdrawn.

A company statement said the three recruiters were acting as employees so the company accepted the consequences for charges against them.

Prof. Arthurs said the settlement reflected an honest desire by the union and the company to prevent a recurrence of such discrimination.

NOTIFIED OF JOBS

The company will notify the Negroes and the commission the next time a job they are qualified for becomes available.

The union agreed to inform the six welders of available jobs on a fair basis without regard to race, creed, color, nationality, ancestry, place of origin or age, as laid out in the Ontario Human Rights Code.

The company and union will send an account of the complaints and settlement to the New York and Iowa state commissions for human rights, the international office of the union, the Clinton local and the Jamaica-Canadian Association.

Prof. Arthurs praised Mel Thompson, president of the association for appearing with the welders.

Owen Bares received $6,156, Arnold Blair $4,022, Joseph Neblett $4,122, Herbert Telphia $6,156, Gifford Walker $4,122 and Stanley Williams $4,022.

Domtar Sets New Paper, Pulp Complex

MONTREAL (CP) — T. N. Beaupre, chairman and president of Domtar Ltd., today announced formation of a new company bringing together the operations of six Domtar companies into one of the largest integrated pulp and paper companies in Canada.

The new company will be known as Domtar Pulp and Paper Products Ltd., and will be one of three separate products groups operating under Domtar. The others are Domtar Construction Materials Ltd. and Domtar Chemicals Ltd., both of Montreal.

Mr. Beaupre said president of the new company will be A. D. Hamilton, a native of suburban Westmount, who will leave his position as president and chief executive officer of B.C. Forest Products Ltd.

The six companies making up the new integrated company are: Domtar Fine Papers Ltd., Montreal; Domtar Newsprint Ltd., Montreal; Domtar Packaging Ltd., Toronto; Domtar Pulp and Kraft Paper Ltd., Montreal; Domtar Woodlands Ltd., Montreal; and Domtar Pulp and Paper Incorp., New York.

Mr. Beaupre also announced first-quarter net income for Domtar at $900,000 or 6 cents a share compared with $700,000 or 4 cents in the first quarter of 1967.
